NOW THAT'S WHAT YOU CALL "CORN-FED" — The two unidentified gentlemen above took advantage of (and, obviously, great pleasure in) the free corn roast held Wednesday at the Mountain Fresh tailgate market. Area producers have been selling their produce and other wares at the Oakland town parking lot every Wednesday at 3 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m., and will continue to do so through mid-October or until the produce is gone. A photo-feature on the Mountain Fresh Producers tailgate market will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

Recycling Comm. Issues Update On County Plan

The Garrett County Recycling Committee reported this week to the Garrett County Commissioners that efforts are now underway to meet the demands created by public interest as well as fulfill the requirements set forth by state law.

According to Gary Yoder, chairman of the committee, "By 1994, Garrett County is required to reduce its incoming solid waste by 15 percent." Toward that end, he said, the commissioners appointed a committee to address the recycling needs of the county. He noted that the commissioners have reacted "favorably" to the committee's efforts so far and are now awaiting the committee's recommendations for an implementation timetable.

Yoder further stated, "We have been pleasantly surprised at the amount of interest by the public. Families are doing this now — they're doing it on their own. They're ahead of us in this, and it is now our job to catch up and, hopefully, service what

Garrett Optical To Open Expanded Lens-Making Facility In County

It was announced this week by the Garrett County Commissioners that Garrett Optical will move its primary facility to Garrett County from New Jersey, having operated in the county for several years as a small business. The expanded facility will be located in the Southern Garrett Industrial Park, and will result in 90-100 new jobs for the county, according to Frank Brink, president of the corporation.

Garrett County Economic Development Director Tom Jones introduced officials from the business, stating, "We want to announce that we have had a bid opening this week on the 30,000 square foot expansion of their present facility. This represents a major expansion from the current 6,000 square feet of production space up to over 30,000 square feet."

Brink then stated that the total work force will be somewhere around 120 to 125 people, of which 15 will be management. We will start out with a two-shift operation and later expand to three shifts.

He continued, "While we have invited the New Jersey employees to come down here, we don't expect too many of them to take us up on that offer, so we expect the bulk of our work force to come from this area. This means that approximately 90 to 100 people will be needed for the new operation."

Brink also stated that, with Bausch & Lomb in operation here, the area will become an "optical valley." He explained that the two companies make

Meeting Addresses Possibility Of Ski Train From D.C. To Oakland

The possibility of a ski train from Washington D.C. to Oakland was discussed in a meeting Monday, organized by Allegheny Front Inc., a group dedicated to developing tourism and infrastructure along the U.S. Route 219 corridor. Oakland Mayor Asa McCain presided over the meeting which was attended by representatives from area ski resorts, tourism agencies, and transportation services.

Mayor McCain said that the purpose of the meeting was to determine if there was enough interest in the ski train project to proceed with plans.

"And with this impressive turnout of representatives," McCain said following the meeting, "I think strong interest is obvious."

The plan for the ski train is tentative, but the basic idea is to offer a package deal to Eastern Maryland winter enthusiasts which would begin on a Sunday afternoon with a train trip from the Union Station in Washington, D.C. to the Oakland Railroad Station. At that point, the participants would be separated into groups, and each group would be bused to one of several area ski resorts, including Canaan Valley, W.Va., Hidden Valley, Pa., Timberline, W.Va., and Wisp Ski Area.

The groups would ski for two days at their first resort, and then would be bused to another. During the week, the participants would visit all four resorts for at least one day. The groups would reunite on Friday and board the train around noon for the return trip.

The train ticket, lodging, lift tickets, and possibly meals would be included in the package deal, according to the tentative plan. The number of participants per trip is hoped to be approximately 500.

Developing regional interest is one of the many goals of the project, McCain said. Other aims include heightened business for the ski areas

Countdown Is Underway For Third Annual Best Of The West Triathlon

The stage is set for the third annual Best of the West Triathlon, as over 300 participants will report to Broadford Lake Park this Saturday, Aug. 25, for the 9 a.m. start. Coordinated by the Garrett Sports League and World Championships, Inc., the event will include a .4-mile swim in Broadford Lake, a 15.5-mile bike ride which will pass through downtown Oakland, and a four-mile run. Some of the top triathletes on the East Coast, from as far away as Tennessee, will be among the participants.

The Best of the West Youth Triathlon will be held Sunday morning at Wisp Resort, an event that will involve over 50 youth from ages 7 through 14.

After the participants exit the water at the boat launching ramp at Broadford Lake, they will ride their bikes out of the park, take N Street to Baltimore Avenue, then follow Oakland Drive to Oak Street into Oakland and take Rt. 219 North (Third Street). They will follow Rt. 219 to Spring Glade Road to Sand Flat Road to the Pysell Crosscut to Broadford Road, and back Pittsburgh Avenue into the park. Their run will be an out-and-back course on Pittsburgh Avenue, Dennett Road, and Eighth Street.

"We are really excited about the new bike course through downtown Oakland," said Nancy Railey, one of the coordinators for the Garrett Sports League. "It will mean that far more spectators will be watching, which will introduce the racers to the town of Oakland and make it a more exciting event."

Among the favorites in the event will be Dan Besson, Catonsville, who won the first Best of the West and placed second last year. Besson is one of the strongest bikers in the East.

Garrett County triathletes registered are Jimmy Railey, Jeff Gosnell, Michelle Hesen, Mary Sutcliffe, Dave Eiswert,

Local "Senior" Fire Fighter Returns Home After Battling Oregon Blaze

HOME FROM OREGON — Owen Handwerk, Grantsville, forest ranger with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, recently returned from fighting forest fires in Oregon. Handwerk was part of the first crew assigned to the "Snowshoe" fire on the Malheur National Forest. At age 54, Handwerk is one of the oldest fire fighters to battle the major blazes in the west. This was his 10th fire detail there in the past 13 years.

A Garrett County forest ranger who was a member of a Maryland crew to battle forest fires in Oregon has returned to Western Maryland. Owen Handwerk, a veteran forest fire fighter with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, returned to his home in Grantsville late Sunday night after being assigned to the "Snowshoe" Fire on the Malheur National Forest in eastern Oregon.

Handwerk stated that his crew was released from the fire when they had completed mop-up on the three miles of line they were responsible for. The fire was contained Sunday after having burned out of control since August 6. Over 12,500 acres were burned. The Maryland crew was one of 49 twenty-man crews assigned to the fire.

Handwerk said that weather conditons contributed greatly to the behavior of the fire. At one point during suppression efforts, the fire, aided by 40 m.p.h. winds, relative humidity as low as 15 percent, and high temperatures, jumped control lines and burned 800 additional acres in a short period of time. During that period the fire raced 1½ miles in less than 20 minutes.

Compared to other years when he has gone west with fire fighting crews, Handwerk said this trip was relatively easy. He explained that the base camp, which provided food and shelter for 2,100 fire fighters, was only five miles from the "Snowshoe" fire. They would leave each morning at 6 a.m. by bus, be dropped off at the fire control line, and be picked up each day and returned to camp around 7:30 p.m. In past years, he has been on fires where the fire fighters would need to walk 2-3 hours to get to the fire, then walk the same back at day's end.

Vandalized Cars Among Cases At Sheriff's Office

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office reported several items this week, including a case involving eight privately-owned vehicles that were apparently vandalized on the night of August 18. Either the windshield or the rear window of each vehicle was shattered, and found inside each vehicle was a grey rock, the type commonly used by the railroad for ballast, according to police documents.

Four of the incidents occurred in the Loch Lynn area, two on the Oakland-Deer Park Road, one on Rock Lodge Road, and one near Oakland. The combined loss of the windows totalled over $1500.

Owners of the damaged vehicles are Roxanne Nuzum, Terra Alta, W.Va., Delores C. Beckman, Mtn. Lake Park, Robert D. Simms, Oakland, Myra A. McClellan, Rockville, Glenn D. Collins, Robert E. Skipper, and David J. Sweitzer, all of Deer Park.

An investigation is continuing.

David A. Lohr, 35, Deer Park, was served a criminal summons on charges of third degree sex offense, child abuse, and battery.

According to police, the charges stem from a July 27 incident involving a 12-year-old female, who was occassionally in the care and custody of Lohr.

An Oakland man was charged for driving while intoxicated and carrying a loaded firearm on Aug. 18. Dep. J.D. Murphy arrested Willard J. Stemple on Rt. 219 South after observing the vehicle Stemple was driving cross the center line several times.

After stopping Stemple and testing him for sobriety, Dep. Murphy charged him with DWI. The deputy then discovered a loaded rifle in Stemple's vehicle. Murphy contacted Officer Cease of the Department of Natural Resources, who arrived on the scene and charged Stemple with the gun offense.

Two men were arrested for assault recently. Ralph Parks, 31, was arrested on a warrant for assault against Woodrow Tasker. The incident occurred on July 31.

Milton C. DeWitt, 48, Oakland, allegedly assaulted James E. Knox on July 29. Dep. J.B. Sowers was the arresting officer.

John J. Hovatter, 30, Cumberland, was arrested on the strength of a body attachment issued by the Garrett County Circuit Court. Hovatter was charged for failure to appear in court.

A bench warrent was issued for Mark L. Paugh, 19, Elk Garden, for failure to appear in district court on Aug. 9. Paugh was originally charged with the consumption of alcohol under the age of 21.

A plaque recognizing Mettiki's "continued support of quality health care for its employees, their families and the community," has been hung in the hospital's emergency room waiting area. Pictured left to right are Dave Thomas, manager of environmental and government affairs, Mettiki; William B. All Republican candidates have been invited to participate in the forum, to which the general public is also invited and encouraged to present questions to the candidates.

The forum will be held in Room 305. More information can be obtained from Ann Groves, vice president of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club, at 334-1332.

LaVale Woman Listed "Stable" After Accident

A 36-year-old LaVale woman and her seven-year-old daughter were flown to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Medevac helicopter Friday after a two-car accident in Westernport, say state police records.

Elizabeth Kalbaugh remains in stable condition in the intensive care unit, according to a nursing spokesperson, and her daughter has been released.

Kalbaugh was traveling westbound on Route 135 when her mini-van, containing the girl and also two other children, was struck head-on by a pickup truck driven by Foster Tasker, 77, Swanton. Tasker had been attempting to turn into the entrance to Tri-Towns Plaza.

Tasker was treated and released at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W.Va. His wife, Virginia Tasker, 74, was also taken to Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

Also treated and released at Memorial were the other two children in the Kalbaugh vehicle, whose names were not available.

A two-car accident on Vindex Road near Route 38 Sunday morning resulted in both drivers being charged, say police.

George Wright, 30, Loch Haven, Pa., was struck by Thomas L. Beeman, Sr., 44, Kitzmiller, when Beeman attempted to turn onto Vindex Rd. and failed to yield right-of way to Wright, according to police records.

A witness stated that Wright, driving a 1976 Cadillac Sedan Deville, was traveling at an excessive rate of speed. Police reported 54 feet of skid marks made by Wright's car before it struck Beeman's 1974 Ford Club Wagon.

Wright was cited with failure to control vehicle speed and driving without a license, and Beeman with failure to yeild right-of-way.

Linda Evans, 38, Kitzmiller, a passenger in Beeman's car, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for minor injuries by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Also traveling in Beeman's car, all from Kitzmiller, were Carol Beeman, 41; Amanda Beeman, 2; William Evans, 5; and Mary Evans, 7.

A Fairmont man faces several charges after a one-car accident on U.S. Rt. 48 near Friendsville, say police.

Scott M. Hagedorn, 26, was eastbound two miles from the Rt. 42 exit when his 1976 Chevrolet veered off the road to the right, struck the guard rail, crossed the road and struck the opposite guard rail.

He was taken to GCMH by Northern Rescue Squad.

Hagedorn was cited with failure to stay in a single lane, driving without a license, driving on a suspended license, and failure to have required rear seat belts.

The accident, which occurred at 2:05 a.m. on Monday, was reported by Trooper Jeff Bentlejewski.

State police charged an Oakland man Sunday with driving while intoxicated and other offenses after he left the scene of a two-car accident with injuries at Route 135 and Weber Road.

Kenyon L. Shaffer, 37, was traveling west on Rt. 135 at approximately 12:45 p.m. when he attempted to turn left at Weber Rd., pulling in front of the vehicle driven by Roxeann S. McCloud, 34, Mountain Lake Park. McCloud's car collided with Shaffer's passenger side, and McCloud and her 10-year-old daughter were taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released.

Shaffer fled the scene and was located later by police, who cited him with reckless driving, negligent driving, failure to remain at the scene of an accident involving bodily injury, and failure to yield right-of-way, as well as DWI.

Kimberly D. Trickett, 29, Oakland, was charged with DWI after crashing her car and causing property damage on Route 495 near Orendorf Road, say police.

Trickett, who was traveling south on Rt. 495, reportedly ran off the right side of the road and into the front yard of Harvey C. Bender's residence, destroying a wooden wagon wheel, a sign, two mailboxes and Bender's garden.

The car overturned as it skidded in front of the house and came to rest in the garden on the driver's side.

Trickett was taken to GCMH by MSP Corporal Berkebile. She was treated and released.

A Deer Park man was charged with DWI and failure to drive right of center after his 1978 Ford pickup truck crossed the centerline and struck several trees on Route 560 one-quarter mile from Loch Lynn.

Trooper J. K. Moore cited Michael Eugene Evans, 32, in the 7:29 p.m. Tuesday accident.

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad appeared on the scene, but Evans was uninjured.

William D. Ford, 34, Mountain Lake Park, faces three charges after the 1979 Dodge Power Wagon he was driving veered off the Steyer Mine Road and struck an embankment, police say.

Ford was traveling east approximately 1.6 miles east of Rt. 560 when he failed to negotiate a turn. Neither Ford nor his passenger, Charity J. Ford, 5, also of Mountain Lake Park, was injured.

Ford was cited with failure to drive right of center, negligent driving, and driving while intoxicated.

A Tennessee man, John S. Aycock, 22, Chattannooga, was cited Wednesday by State Trooper J. E. Foley for driving while intoxicated after his vehicle ran off Route 560 near Gorman and struck an embankment.

Aycock was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, where he was treated and released.

The Gorman Volunteer Fire Dept. also responded to the accident, which occurred at 2:20 a.m.

Also arrested on DWI charges this week were Roy R. Miller, 45, Cumberland; Arthur R. Vernon, 36, Republic, Pa.; Kevin W. Bowman, 28, Waynesburg, Pa.; and Roman K. Dilgard, 19, Oakland.

Campaign Signs Reported Stolen

The political campaign of one candidate for Garrett County commissioner was the target of an as yet unidentified person or persons who removed the candidates campaign signs from numerous locations in the county.

Jim Stewart, who is spearheading the campaign of George Brodak, District 3 Republican candidate, reported yesterday that 151 "vote for Brodak" signs had been stolen. At a cost of $3.50 each, the loss exceeds $500.

Stewert said that in areas where there were signs posted for several candidates, only Brodak's were removed.

"We have notified the police and we have ordered more signs that will go right back in the same places they were before," Stewart said, adding that several of those areas will be watched closely until the primary election September 11.

"SHALL WE RIDE OR FLY?" This was the question on the minds of these Garrett County Memorial Hospital employees who stopped by the Wisp Resort this week to help promote the Hospital Foundation's Barbecue on Top of Marsh Mountain, slated for September 15. Those who attend the western-style barbecue, featuring Chef Merle Metheny's traveling cooker, will have the option of riding to the top of the mountain via a van or "flying" there via a chairlift. Tickets are now available for the event, which will benefit the Hospital Foundation. Pictured in the chairlift above are Teresa Harvey, R.N., head nurse of the medical surgical unit, left, and Doris Baker, switchboard operator. Standing left front is Jerry Geisler, manager of Wisp. In the back, left to right, are Jeff Hinebaugh, R.N., acting charge nurse, emergency room; Randy Crabtree, C.R.T.T., C.P.F.T., cardio-pulmonary supervisor; and Kathy Greaser, assistant director of the GCMH Foundation. AMONG THE SOLOISTS performing this week in the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's "Philharmonia of the Swallow" are Marc Ramirez, violinist,(above) and Shauna Rolston, cellist (right). Both young musicians have established impressive careers in the world of music, receiving high praise from critics. Miss Rolston has toured throughout the world, and has regularly appeared as soloist with Canada's major orchestras. The New York Times said her perfomance was "expertly played and elegantly polished." The young cellist will be performing Couperin's "Five Pieces for Cello & String Orchestra" on Friday. Mr. Ramirez is entering his first year of the Master of Music program at the Yale this fall, studying with Erick Friedman. Ramirez made his Arlington Symphony debut in November 1989, playing Brahms' Violin Concerto. The Washington Post wrote that "his intonation was close to perfect,...his vibrato and tone..were sweet and intensely beautiful." The violinist will be performing "The Virtuoso Violin" on Friday night, and will pair up with violinist Gennady Filimonov on Saturday night for Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins."

Md. Gubernatorial Candidates Visit Garrett County

Two Maryland Republican gubernatorial candidates, William Seth Shepard and Ross Z. Pierpont, were in Garrett County last week meeting with local residents, each expressing his concern that Garrett County be given more consideration by state officials in the future.

While in the area, Shepard visited the reporting staff at The Republican newspaper office as well as the facilities at the local radio stations WKHJ and WMSG, and briefed the media on his political stance. Shepard also visited the Garrett County Agricultural Fair, stating, "Both the exhibits and planned events at the fair show a county in which all Maryland can take real pride."

Shepard also said, "I know something of Garrett County's problems through my talks with concerned citizens here, particularly in the areas of education, non-tidal wetlands, and state neglect of Western Maryland. Now it is a pleasure to get a rounded picture by seeing at the fair the many things that Garrett County has accomplished and the skills in which her people excel. I look forward to further visits and developing close links with the people of Garrett County."

During his visit, Shepard also criticized Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer for his eight trips overseas since becoming governor. Shepard stated that these visits, costing a total of $600,000, were "top-heavy with cronies traveling first class at state expense, and meager in terms of results for Maryland."

Shepard's running mate, Lois Shepard (his wife), accompanied him during his visit.

Also making himself available to Garrett County residents last week was Republican gubernatorial candidiate Ross Z. Pierpont, who stressed that he wants to see an end to taxes on primary residences, taxing residents instead with a $500 school and subdivision. He stated that it was not impossible to change this structure. "It really would work," he said.

Pierpont would also like to cut state expenditures by publicizing top-heavy administrative costs and "trimming bureaucracy through attrition." He also believes that drug users should be "hit hard — not with prison but "with fines, work and embarrassment through publicity." He also supports the death penalty as punishment for drug crimes using guns, and would like to see expanded treatment facilities and more prevention education.

Pierpont's candidacy has been endorsed by District Two Congresswoman Helen D. Bentley, who declared her full support for Pierpont by stating, "Pierpont deserves the support of the Republican party for a continuous untiring effort covering many years. Pierpont knows the Republicans, the Democrats, the State of Maryland and its people."

Rabies Cases Now Total 31

Information was received this morning that another rabies case was confirmed by the Garrett County Health Department, bringing the total this year to 31.

According to Tina Buckel, sanitarian, a raccoon was discovered at the residence of Beth Gaster, who resides on Dry Run Road, off Rt. 495, after a dog dragged the raccoon onto her property.

Although no human exposure was reported, two unvaccinated dogs were euthanized as a result.

Reowned Alzheimer's Disease Group President To Give Program Locally

The Annual "9-90" Short Course Day, sponsored by the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service and slated at Garrett Community College for Wednesday, September 5, will have Glenn I. Kirkland, retired Johns Hopkins physicist, and Dr. Billie Frazier, human development specialist from the University of Maryland Extension Service, offer a special program on "Alzheimer's Disease And Related Disorders."

Kirkland and Dr. Frazier will cooperate to present this program on the dilemma of Alzheimer's. The lecture, with visuals, will also provide for interaction with the audience. Scientific information and a practical approach to handling this illness in families will be combined to provide optimal help and guidance.

For Kirkland a 13-year ordeal with Alzheimer's disease ended just this May with the death of his wife, Grace, 79. Mrs. Kirkland became a national symbol for the trauma of Alzheimer's disease, and Kirkland has become a symbol for the challenge of caregiving, when their life together was chronicled in the award-winning television program "Living With Grace" in 1983. This half-hour documentary has been shown around the nation and was produced by Susan Cohen and Bill Whiteford of the School of Medicine at the University of Maryland in Baltimore. It has become a respected teaching tool for nursing home staffs as well as for family caregivers.

The relentless challenge of caregiving for his wife spurred Kirkland, a scientist by profession, to become heavily involved in the Alzheimer's movement. He was the founding president of the Baltimore/Central Maryland Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association in 1979 and currently serves on the National and Greater Washington Chapter's Public Policy committees. He lectures on the dilemma of Alzheimer's to a variety of audiences and observes that during his decade-plus involvement with the movement, Alzheimer's has become a household word throughout the country.

In 1987, a sequel program, "Caregiving with Grace" was produced by Cohen and Whiteford which describes the later stages of the disease. It demonstrates some of the most serious challenges involved in caregiving as the patient loses the ability to remember to do even the most basic functions, such as swallowing.

"Attending this program is a must for anyone concerned with caregiving to an older family member or other adult," stated an Extension Office spokesman. The session will be held at 2:00 to 2:50 p.m. and repeated again from 7-9 p.m. that evening.

The Short Course Day consists of a day of classes on a variety of subjects for adults. For a complete program, persons may contact Irmgard R. Koscielniak, home economist, Garrett County Extension Service, 202 S. Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone 301-334-1990.

Vandalism, Theft Reported By State Police This Week

Theft and vandalism were among the reports noted by the Maryland State Police department, McHenry barrack, this week.

An unknown suspect reportedly stole a tool box full of tools from the bed of a pickup truck owned by Glenn D. Rosson, 30, McHenry, while the truck was parked in his driveway. So far, police have found no clues in the case.

Also stolen was a twelve horsepower lawn tractor from the yard of Robert W. Bender. Trooper S. W. Vincent is continuing the investigation.

A 16-year-old is suspect in a destruction of property charge involving Wisp Resort Hotel, say police.

The youth reportedly beat a pool cue on the floor of the game room at the resort, destroying the cue.

Trooper J. K. Moore also reports that the young man was under the influence of alcohol at the time.

Another destruction of property charge is the result of several car windows being smashed with a rock, according to police.

Alan W. Shook, Millers, Pauline P. Ganong, Pittsburgh, and David M. Weiss, Biloxi, Miss., were all victims in the crime for which no suspect has yet been found.

Several such vandalism crimes were also reported this week by the Garrett County Sheriff's office. See sheriff's report for details.

A New Dimension . . .

The announcement this week that Garrett Optical is moving its primary facility from New Jersey to the Southern Industrial Park in Garrett County was truly good news with respect to the local economic picture. Frankly, we were beginning to wonder if there would ever be an announcement of this kind, as considerable space at the park has remained empty for a long time.

The most obvious reason that this is good news for us is that the facility will offer over 100 new jobs in our county, where unemployment rates continue to exceed those of the state and nation. However, more importantly, we hope this is just the first of several relatively small operations that will locate in Garrett County.

While companies such as Bausch & Lomb have provided a tremendous boost to our economy, both in terms of jobs, tax revenue, and outstanding support for the community through donations, sponsorships, and other avenues, there is an inherent danger in "placing all of one's eggs in one basket." If for whatever reason such a large employer suddenly decides to leave a community, it spells disaster for so many families and the economy in general. Our neighbor Cumberland has experienced this on many occasions (Kelly-Springfield, PPG, the Celanese, etc.) and has suffered tremendously because of it.

We want to emphasize here that we are in no way implying that Bausch & Lomb will do this and we have no information whatsoever to suggest such a thing. We are just using this as an example.

When a community can acquire several employers that provide, for example, 50 to 300 jobs, it adds a new dimension of strength to the local economy; for if one fails, the hardship is not as great on the community as a whole.

We applaud local government officials who were involved with this acquisition, but we would like to see a more aggressive effort to secure more businesses like Garrett Optical. We believe the county should go ahead and make the investment to constuct versatile shell buildings, for example, that could house a variety of manufacturing businesses. Companies looking for a location would be far more apt to move to an area where a new building is already available for almost immediate occupancy.

We realize that competition is extremely tough, but we believe more can be done to make our county attractive to potential employers.

GASOLINE AND GUARDSMEN: RESPONDING TO EVENTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST
By Governor William Donald Schaefer

Like citizens all over the United States, I have been closely following events in the Middle East. These are critical times both for our nation and for all the world's leaders who seek peace in the Middle East.

The events in the Persian Gulf are a poignant reminder of just how much we depend on each other in today's world. Although they are many thousand of miles away, the events in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia affect us right here in Maryland.

I know that many Marylanders have been dismayed by the immediate and dramatic increases in oil and gasoline prices in the state. I share their concern, and I have asked the Maryland General Assembly to help us find out why prices for petroleum already in this country have jumped so dramatically although gas supplies remain plentiful. Speaker of the House Clayton Mitchell and Senate President Mike Miller have appointed a joint legislative committee to help us sort out the causes of the increases and to recommend any actions that we should take in Maryland to counter this situation.

I testified before the committee several days ago and reassured them, as I have all Marylanders, that there is no gasoline or oil shortage in the state. Our current reserves are more than adequate to meet our present needs. I have, however, asked all state agencies to reevaluate their travel practices and to make every effort to reduce expenditures on costly gasoline.

When Maryland instituted the 55-mile per hour speed limit in 1977, it was part of the state's effort to conserve energy. The reduced speeds also contributed to safer travel. Common sense should play a big part in how we deal with increased gas prices, and I have again asked Marylanders to be very mindful of their highway speeds and to obey our posted speed limits, both for conservation and safety reasons.

But I know that Marylanders are concerned about more than the price of gasoline as the conflict intensifies in the Middle East. Each of us knows some young man or woman who might be called to service. As governor, I serve as commander-in-chief of the Maryland National Guard. It is one of my greatest privileges and I am enormously proud of the men and women who give their time and talents to the National Guard.

President Bush has asked that all state units stand ready for service should events change in the Middle East. As of the middle of August, there have been no requests for Guardsmen and women but Marylander's Adjutant General James C. Fretterd assures me that all units are ready for service should they be called. Ten individual Guard members have volunteered to participate in activities supporting movement of the U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf, and I am very proud of them. If other individuals or units move into service, I will be asking all Marylanders to give them their greatest support.

As always, I am interested in your ideas and your concerns. Please write to me: Governor William Donald Schaefer, The State House, Annapolis, Md 21401.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

How many times have you looked at your paycheck at the end of the week and asked yourself, "Where does all my money go?" or "What does the government do with all of the money that I pay in taxes?" Well, as far as state and local taxes go, a lot of the money is spent on the justice system. Not only do we pay for the police force that protects us, but we also pay for the public defender, judges, and guards. On top of all of this, we have to pay to feed and house people after they have been placed in jail.

And what do the inmates in the jail do all day? They eat, sleep, or watch television and that's all. Most of them live better in jail than they do on the outside. Many of the people in this County's jail are really dangerous criminals. They have been incarcerated for drunken driving or possession of a controlled dangerous substance. These are serious crimes, but under controlled conditions these people have many valuable skills that could be used to help the people of this community have a more beautiful and prosperous county. The programs that the State and the City of Oakland are running now are good examples of this. I am sure that the citizens of Oakland will agree that Broadford Lake and the town cemetery have benefitted from inmate labor. And all of us have seen the work of inmates along Rt. 48 where they have been picking up trash along the highway.

These are good programs, but because of outdated rules and regulations stating that only prisoners who have been sentenced can work, there are only three, out of 34 inmates who are allowed to work at this time. All of the inmates who are waiting to be sentenced do nothing but eat up tax dollars.

There is a program developed that allow these inmates to be put to good use if the people of this county will stand behind it. I have sent a copy of it, along with this letter to the Editor. If you would like to see this program implemented, please write to me at 203 S. Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

To the Editor:

What a shock it was to return to this area from D.C., where the gasoline to get home was $1.08 a gallon, only to find that the local profiteers had raised, as usual, to $1.29 a gallon!

The act of raising the prices is what I want to address.

I submit to the readers at the moment that the gasoline distributor manager or owner made the decision to raise to $1.29, he was thinking criminally. He/she was knowingly committing public robbery.

They can't say that they raised to cover increases passed on to them. World crude prices as of this morning are up 8 cents a barrel, or about .00145545¢ a gallon! it is clear that we have among us several marauders whose greed is often unrestrained. I am also of the opinion that we consumers must counter this greed with good, old-fashioned thrift.

This paper can be of immense help during our local greed crisis.

You could publish a list of gasoline prices across the county so that we could patronize the same dealers out there. I'm sure that most of us would be more than willing to endure a few days or weeks of driving extra miles to the American pumps and even endure longer waits for service as opposed to dealing with those Iraqi pumps.

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

I'm addicted to magazines (one of my more virtuous addictions) and, as such, am destined to purchase more of them than I have time to read or can afford. During those times when my will is at a higher than usual level of weakness, I end up attempting to stave off the anguish of guilt after a weekend of wanton, obsessive magazine satiation.

Even worse is having to face the heap of glossy-paged, advertisement-laden periodicals after my glut, and wondering how to justify all those wonderfully intriguing publications that have now been transformed into a pile of trash.

In my younger days, I saved every last one of them. In my less busy days, I marked articles to return to, and sometimes mimeographed pieces to save. At present, I understand that, once I've been through a magazine, there is very little chance I'll ever get back to it.

And, of course, I can't really throw them away — not with my heightened environmental awareness looking over my shoulder.

Actually, I consider most of them much too nice and pretty to toss out because I tend toward the "classier" rags, and hold great appreciation for the hours involved in their compilation, the incredible amount of information put forth and the art.

However, I also admit to a lesser weakness of occasionally purchasing "one of those mags" that promises everything and delivers nothing. You know, the ones with endless articles about the ultimate diet plan in which one can eat all of everything one desires, never once pushing up, sitting up, or jumping over jack, and end up losing 50 to 75 pounds in one day as a result.

And the mags with articles written for the Marabel Morgan in all of us by either woefully complacent or desperate women (I haven't figured out which yet) for all those woefully gullible women who are still searching for the perfect way to catch, keep or catelog the perfect man.

And those enticing articles about how to decorate 5,000 square feet of space on $25 or less. Or 101 ways to prepare tuna fish. Or how to dress for success, dress for less, dress to please, dress to minimize ("figure faults," that is), or dress up a tired old wardrobe.

Oh, and hair-dos. Now, really, how many possible ways can one person wear one head of hair?

These mags are not a problem. They are promptly relegated to the trash pile or given away — lest someone discover them in my keep.

Thankfully, I'm learning to control this magazine addiction, and have streamlined my consumption mostly to the keepables, the savers; that is, the mags with contributors who take beautiful photographs or write perceptive, intelligent articles. This, in hopes of someday writing a perceptive, intelligent article myself.

After a review of this week's column, I have obviously not wholly assimilated the techniques of those contributors to whom I aspire.

Not to worry. Pam will be back. John will be back. And we might just keep adding more names to our list of "Mind" writers, so readers will not have to ask quite as often, "What's your point, Sherry?"

Free speech ok— but buy your own soapbox

ANNAPOLIS — As in the case of many they represent, some politicians don't know a thing about art but know what they like.

Now, with the growing furor over federal grants, it seems that some artists know what they like but don't know a thing about politicians.

The furor results from the denial of federal support to four artists. The National Endowment for the Arts, rejecting the recommendation of its own advisory committee, turned thumbs down on grant applications by the four.

So now the voice of the artist is heard in the land, and it is crying, "Foul!" and "Censorship!"

Among those describing this as "really an issue of censorship" is Philip Arnoult, who is chairman of the advisory panel and who has been a guiding force in the performing arts for many years as founder and artistic director of the Theatre Project in downtown Baltimore.

But the censorship note doesn't ring quite true. In the last decade, the NEA has approved 33,700 grants and has rejected only 35 of the panel's recommendations. Also, the panel itself might be said to play some role in whatever censorship is involved here, for it rejected 72 of 90 applications placed before it. There are only so many slots at the public trough, and somebody decides who stays and who goes, whether for artistic or political reasons. In art this is called censorship. In politics it is called hardball.

A major ingredient in the brew being stirred over federal funding of art is the special kind of art which the folks at the national endowment have cut off. All four of the rejected applicants are solo-performance artists whose work is said to deal with controversial political and sexual themes.

For example, in one performance the artist uses a commode as an onstage prop and urinates or appears to urinate in it. In another, we are told, the artist disrobes, festoons a strategic part of her anatomy with alfalfa sprouts, smears chocolate on her skin, and denounces such politico-art critics as Jesse Helms. Senator Helms has little use for such behavior and leads the Capitol Hill chorus calling for the demolition of NEA.

So these performers are trying to tell us something about how they see society. And how you interpret their message might well depend on whether you see their work as a performing art or as a lamentable lapse in toilet training and curious use of the food chain.

Citizen Arnoult views this as one who, with other panelists, has spent days reviewing the entire body of work of each applicant. He recognizes the controversial segments of some performances as relatively brief passages in overall programs which, taken as a whole, may demonstrate artistic merit worthy of NEA support.

Arnoult is also concerned about the effect of all this on the time-proven process of peer review in NEA screening of grant applications. He is properly worried, too, over damage to the integrity of the selection process by a premature press leak about discussions by those involved in the process.

But on the larger question, some artists see the rejection of these grants as an encroachment by the government into the area of free artistic expression. They say this is part of a growing trend by obsolescent politicians to restrict or abolish NEA funding as a means of stifling artistic expression by feminists, homosexuals and dissidents on national policy.

Such protestors are riding the right horse, but they are whipping it at the wrong time. The cause of free expression — whether by speech or press or any of the art forms — should be defended against any real threat, whether from the left or from the right. But that cause is not strengthened by this example.

Fighting for the right to mount a soapbox or a stage and to express your disapproval of society is one thing. But insisting that society buy you the soapbox is something else.

Understanding the difference is not merely art or politics. It is the art of politics.

"Operation Red Fox" Results In Large Fines

"Operation Red Fox," an undercover law enforcement investigation of the Maryland Natural Resources Police has resulted in $35,410 in fines being paid in three states, according to police spokesman, Cpl. Ralph Parker.

The twelve month covert operation by the Natural Resources Police focused on the illegal trapping, buying and selling of live foxes. One target of the investigation, Charles Garlitz, 48, Grantsville, has paid $11,350 in fines in Garrett County, $4500 in fines in Pennsylvania, and $2500 and a six month jail sentence in West Virginia. Additionally, Garlitz has forfeited 8 firearms, a meat grinder and a snowmobile to the State of Maryland.

Other Grantsville defendants charged in the investigation, and their fines, were as follows: Ron Lavin, 23, $5,340; Robert Garlitz, 26, $1990; Christopher Garlitz, 23, $4340; Wilmer Warnick, 36, $1500; and Clarence Richardson, 60, $270.

Also, three Pennsylvania men were charged and fined.

Parker said this sends a clear message that the blatant disregard for wildlife hunting laws will not be tolerated.

More fines are expected in Operaton Red Fox.

Man Found Guilty On Sex Charges In Circuit Court

After pleading not guilty to several sex offense charges, Rocky L. Hardesty, 25, Deer Park, was found guilty on all charges by Judge Fred A. Thayer in the Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday.

Hardesty allegedly committed a second degree sex offense, child abuse, unnatural and perverted sex practice, and assault and battery against a 5-year-old female in Feburary of this year. He reportedly had temporary responsibility of the child at the time.

Judge Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation and revoked Hardesty's bail. He was then remanded to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Ronald D. Harrison, 28, Oakland, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections for a charge of second degree sex offense.

Harrison pleaded guilty to the charge, which stemmed from an incident involving an 11-year-old female.

Judge Thayer suspended one year of the sentence, and ordered three years of supervised probation upon Harrison's release.

Judge Thayer heard several controlled dangerous substance abuse cases on Thursday.

Timothy A. Welch, 25, Mountain Lake Park, was sentenced to the Maryland D.O.C. for three years on a charge of distribution of marijuana. Judge Thayer suspended one year of the sentence.

Welch had pleaded guilty on July 5, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered at that time. Welch had been charged with the distribution offense following an Aug. 1989 Maryland State Police sting operation at Erve's Place, Crellin.

Welch was represented by James P. Donahue, Jr.

A sentence of two years and 60 days was given to Pamela G. Ford, 29, Oakland, on charges of distribution of cocaine and assault.

Judge Thayer accepted Ford's guilty plea to the distribution charge. The court found Ford guilty of assualt after she pleaded not guilty.

According to the case document, Ford was being served an arrest warrent in January for distribution of cocaine when she made an aggressive move toward the arresting officer, resulting in the assault charge.

Defense for Ford was Robert C. Hesson.

William F. Boylen, 35, Oakland, was sentenced to a total of four years in the Maryland D.O.C. for a merged count of distribution and possession of cocaine, and a count of conspiracy.

Boylen was arrested following a November 1989 sting operation carried out at the Oak Grove Tavern near Crellin.

Boylen's defense was Robert C. Hesson.

Three pre-sentence investigations (P.S.I.) were ordered by Judge Thayer in separate drug and alcohol abuse cases.

Douglass R. Tasker, 30, Deer Park, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

Tasker was arrested on March 16 by Dep. J.D. Murphy on the DWI charge. Reportedly, Tasker resisted Murphy's attempts to handcuff him, and the deputy had to wrestle the defendant to the ground to effect the arrest.

Defense for Tasker was Robert C. Hesson.

Judge Thayer ordered the pre-sentence investigation and an alcohol evaluation through the Garrett County Health Department.

Another P.S.I. was ordered for Nancy L. Sharpless. Sharpless pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and cocaine, charges stemming from the results of a search warrent carried out at the defendant's home in February.

Lawrence Kelly represented Sharpless.

Ray F. Fulk, 29, Bayard, W.Va., pleaded guilty to distribution of cocaine. Judge Thayer revoked Fulk's bail, and ordered a P.S.I.

Small-Business Hopes Take Nose Dive; Optimism Lowest Since '82

Even before events in the Middle East jarred the world's economy, America's small-business owners were putting on the brakes, according to the National Federation of Independent Business, which today released its July quarterly economic survey.

NFIB's small-business optimism index, a reliable indicator of national economic conditions, took a sharp nose dive to 98.2 (1978-100), the lowest level recorded since 1982.

Sloan said the July survey of more than 2100 small firms found the outlook for future business conditions had dipped a net 13 points from the second quarter. Now only 17 percent expect the economy to improve, compared to 22 percent in May, and more than one-fifth (22 percent) see worse times ahead, up eight percentage points.

"But no one should expect small-business owners to be happy," Sloan said. "Congress is piling on more laws, more paperwork and is looking around for ways to create new taxes. Add all that to the Mid-East crisis and it could be a long winter for small business everywhere."

A couple of bright spots were noted in the survey. No national "credit crunch" could be found. Only 11 percent reported that financing was harder to arrange than in the previous quarter, up only two points. And the outlook for inflation continued to improve: now only 23 percent plan to hike prices, down nearly 10 points from January.

Fourth-quarter unemployment may edge up a bit to reflect weak job openings among small firms. One fifth (20 percent) reported at least one job opening, down a point from the previous quarter. Hiring plans also weakened on a seasonally-adjusted basis: only 16 percent of all firms are planning to add workers, while 10 percent expect reductions in the next six months.

The NFIB survey, which constantly monitors the economic pulse of its 500,000-plus members nationwide, was first conducted in 1974. It checks credit conditions, employment, inventory levels, spending and inflation statistics among the U.S. small-business sector, which employs about half of the private, non-farm workforce and produces 50 pecent of the nation's gross private product.

CREDIT AVAILABLE, BUT OUTLOOK UNCERTAIN

The July survey, as with the April study, uncovered no nationwide "credit crunch" among small firms. NFIB Chief Economist William C. Dunkelberg said the concern over credit availability seems without basis.

The average interest rate paid by small firms slipped slightly to 11.9 percent during the second quarter, down from 12 percent in the previous period. Nearly half (45 percent) of the loans made were tied to the prime rate. There was no change (eight percent) in the number expecting higher rates, but this figure remains far below the 35 percent recorded in early 1989.

"Overall, the credit picture has been stagnant with little change in rates or availability," Dunkelberg said. "And, there is only a slight hint that credit standards might be tightening."

Regular borrowing was reported by more than one-third (36 percent) of all firms, just one point above the record-low level (second quarters, 1988 and 1990). The percent of those firms borrowing regularly has not exceeded 44 percent since 1981.

But Dunkelberg said the credit outlook for the coming quarter is not favorable. Those expecting more difficulty getting funds rose three points to 12 percent of all firms, while those expecting an easier time, getting financing remained at one percent. (Table II: Borrowing Statistics)

"The real concern is that higher interest rates will result from administered inflation by Congress," the economist said.

INFLATION OUTLOOK IMPROVES

The pressure of inflation continued to subside, the July survey noted, with the percent of those small firms planning to hike prices dropping two points to 23 percent, but far below the 32 percent expansion high of January. This moves the small business sector away from a possible eclipse of the previous high recorded in late 1981 when inflation was still the major economic concern. (Table III: Planned Price Changes by Industry)

The manufacturing sector is clearly on a downward trend in plans to raise prices. Now, less than one-fifth (19 percent) have such plans, compared to 28 percent last July and 34 percent in July 1988. Just the opposite appears among non-professional and professional services firms, however, which have gradually increased about two percentage points per year, now standing at 27 percent.

Lower actual selling prices were reported by 11 percent during the second quarter, while nearly one-quarter (24 percent) reported raising prices, a drop of six points from April.

Dunkelberg said that while monetary expansion has not created inflation, Congress has substantially contributed to an upward spiral with new cost-raising regulations and additional paperwork which consume valuable entrepreneurial time.

EMPLOYMENT OUTLOOK WEAKENS

Job generation, which is the real force behind consumption these days, continues to fade. While there is no sharp increase in unemployment on the horizon and little prospect that total employment may shrink substantially, mild increases in the unemployment rate and weak hiring statistics are expected.

Plans to increase employment in the next three to six months fell, seasonally adjusted. Now only 16 percent responded that they plan to add workers, down from 23 percent in April. One-tenth plan layoffs, up four points.

The percent of small firms which had job openings that were difficult to fill fell one point to 20 percent. Seasonally adjusted, this represents an improvement in the labor market.

On average, small businesses increased employment by more than one-third of an employee per firm during the second quarter, a slight increase over the previous period. Now, more than one-fifth of all companies surveyed (21 percent) reported adding workers to the payrolls, while 13 percent had cutbacks.

Construction and manufacturing firms (27 percent each) reported most frequent openings of all industries. (Table IV: Industry Employment Statistics)

SPENDING PLANS DROP AGAIN

Following a trend set in the previous quarter, small-business capital spending plans for the next six months slipped another three points to 29 percent of firms which plan outlays. This is seven points below the expansion high level of 36 percent set early last year.

Again, 55 percent reported actual spending in the past six months and 40 percent reported spending more than $5,000, no change in either category.

"Although the numbers seem small, they characterize the expenditures of more than four million small businesses," Dunkelberg said. "A change of one percentage point with

TO THE VOTERS OF GARRETT COUNTY

The Office of Clerk of the Circuit Court is a public institution recognized by the Constitution of Maryland and has existed in the State since 1658.

Only six Clerks of Court have served Garrett County since its founding in 1872. I am the sixth, having been appointed by the Hon. Fred A. Thayer, Chief Judge, on July 2, 1990, after thirteen years experience as Deputy Clerk of Court, first with Richard L. Davis, then with Clifford C. DeWitt. All six Clerks have been working deputy clerks and have risen through the ranks to bring their experience to the elected office.

The duties of the Clerk's Office are many; they are varied and technical, governed by the Maryland Constitution, Maryland statutory and common law and by the MARYLAND Rules of Court. A working knowledge of these resources is essential.

For Circuit Court, the Clerk's duties include:

1. Processing the filing of all lawsuits and all major criminal charges —Claims for damages of $5,000.00 or more.
   —Appeals from District Court and administrative agencies
   —Domestic Relations: Divorce, Custody, Support, Alimony, Adoption & Paternity.
   —Mortgage foreclosure, mechanics liens, injunctions.
   —Criminal charges filed by the State's Attorney, criminal indictments and criminal appeals filed from District Court.
   —All juvenile cases.
2. Providing staff assistance to Grand Juries and all Circuit Court trials, both jury and non-jury.
3. Recording all judgments of the Court, all liens and all Court documents, both local and out-of-state
4. Prepare annual office operating budgets sent to Comptroller of The Treasury.

In addition the Clerk's duties to the public include:

1. Recording and maintaining land records; deeds, mortgages, deeds of trust, leases, plats, land contracts, etc.
2. Maintaining corporation records, partnership records, agency records and commissions
3. Taking applications for passports
4. Issuing marriage licenses and business licenses.
5. Performing civil marriage ceremonies.

There is no substitute for the experience I have gained in the past thirteen years overseeing and performing the duties and responsibilities required of the Clerk. I have a complete knowledge and understanding of the office duties and responsibilities. I solicit your support in the coming primary on September 11, 1990.

gave my family and me words of encouragement, lots of support, and showed us all the love of Jesus Christ. LaDonna was my mother's nurse and she went above and beyond the call of duty in caring for her. She was more than a nurse; she was a friend.

The Bible teaches a lot about how the world can tell the difference between a Christian and an unbeliever. One true test is how an individual treats his neighbor. Galatians 5:14 says, "For all law is fulfilled in one word, even this; thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Mere words on paper are inadequate to express my gratitude to these neighbors, but I wanted to publicly say "thank you" to Carolyn, Jennie, Jim, and LaDonna. While some people may only have Jesus on their license plates, you have Jesus in your hearts.

To the Editor:

In our midst, we have a mother of a 17-year-old who has cerebral palsy who needs our help. She has been able to get a 1978 Van, but what good is it? It needs a lift.

The price of the lift will be around $2,700. That's a lot for a mother who is divorced and unemployed except for the 24 hours a day job she has with a handicapped child. For 2,000 people, that's only $1 pocket change for most. This would give this mother months of freedom. Let's give her a physical lift by supporting her with a spiritual lift.

When your child runs to the car today, count your blessings and extend them to "Let's Get Ricky A Lift" campaign. Bill and Hazel Meyers of the Disabled American Veterans have consented to work with me by receiving any donations at the old CD's Restaurant any Tuesday or Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., or they may be mailed to Rt. 2, Box 30, Friendsville.

If you would like to help but need more information, please call 334-9623.

To the Editor:

Thank you for publishing Sherry Frantz's journalism in The Republican. She writes openly, intelligently, and frankly. It is refreshing to read her articles, especially as she has the talent to come directly to the heart of the matter and tell it like it is.

I, for one, look forward to seeing more of this type of journalism. It makes a paper worth reading instead of skimming.

Again, thank you,
R. McManis

To the Editor:

I would suggest to District One voters that we must ALL beware of politicians who profess to save us money while our actual tax bills continue to escalate; they are bereft of ideas that do not offend or insult our intelligence.

In my opinion, Elwood L. Groves is just such a politician. By way of proof, I would refer to Mr. Groves' re-election ad, currently running in The Republican, and former State Senator Clifford Friend's letter to the editor in the August 9 edition of that same publication. Compare Mr. Groves' graphic illustration on taxes, and Senator Friend's actual experience (and probably your own), and make your own judgment.

"Qualified, experienced" . . . Mr. Groves' modest claims in his ad: Qualified by whose standards? . . . Mr. Ernie Gregg's, who, in effect, gets two votes automatically on any issue before the Board of Commissioners? We know from sad experience, nationally and locally, it is the "Experienced" politician of whom we need be most wary! "Whenever a man has cast a longing eye on offices, a rottenness begins in his conduct." . . . Thomas Jefferson, 1799. I would add, "The longer he remains in office, the greater its tendency to affect the total man."

My personal knowledge of Mr. Groves supports the proposition that he has the least concern for the people in his own district who need him most. and seems most concerned for those who represent "Special Interests," his own included.

To the Editor:

It was a surprise to see the editorial "Truly Free" in the August 16, 1990, issue of The Republican. Madalyn Murray O'Hair does not have, never has had, a petition before the FCC to remove religious broadcasting from the airways. The so-called "counter attack" by some churches is a misplaced effort on an issue that does not exist. Apparently you picked up on it without checking proper sources. In doing this you have added false authenticity to a false petition. Please check with the FCC and inform your readers that there is no such petition from O'Hair or anyone else. By keeping this petition going, the churches are doing a great disservice to the truth witness of the Christian faith.

I am enclosing some information on the efforts of the FCC to respond to this false petition. Over the past 14 years the government has spent millions of tax dollars trying to inform the public that there is not such a petition.

The address for the FCC is: Federal Communication Commission, 1919 M. Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20002.

The FCC Public Information phone number is: 202-632-7000.

Sincerely,
Dr. Sylvus D. Flora
District Executive

Dear Dr. Flora,

I am so glad that you are right and we were wrong about this issue. We assumed, incorrectly, that our source had supplied us with accurate information.

Thanks for setting us straight.

Editor

To the Editor and Garrett County
Residents

We need your help! We started a spay/neuter program about six years ago for all persons adopting a dog or cat from our organization.

With the generous donations from many animal lovers in our county and even some out of the county, we have been able to provide this service to save some animals from being sent to the county shelter. At the shelter they are put to sleep after possibly three days, then their bodies are sent to a rendering plant in Virginia at the taxpayers expense. There the large animals are skinned and cooked, the bones used for fertilizer, the meat for dog food, and the liquid for soap. I have been told the little ones are ground up skin and all.

The rendering companies are getting very rich from the slaughter of our warm, trusting animals. Now the caring people who already have animals of their own are calling for help for spay/neuter.

March 10, 1987, we asked the County Commissioners for help. We never received the yes or no decision they promised. August 14, 1990, we again approached them. Their answer, "Let's find out what other counties and states are doing."

Most other counties and states pay for animals being adopted from the shelter. By doing this we would be defeating our purpose — the need to spay the mother — the cause of the over population, the unwanted animals at the shelter.

Most people want to keep the mother, then the mixed breed puppies go to the shelter. Some female can have as many as 24 puppies a year (two litters).

Most of the people who call for help are low-income families. Most of these people are caring or they would not be concerned for their animals, but when it comes to spaying the animal or putting food on the table, you know where priority lies. And if Garrett County could speak, I'm sure she would say "I am one of the best and most beautiful counties in the world with my many natural resources, beautiful man-made lake, prosperous farms, country living, and friendly and caring natives. Why should I be a follower? Why can't our county leaders be innovative. Why can't I set up a precedent instead of having to follow other county and state ideas, making the same mistakes, i.e., open space classrooms? Why can't I be among the first to have a spay/neuter program to save God's creatures with surplus money we have and save taxpayers money?

I'm sure, if Garrett County could speak, she would ask a lot more questions and maybe she will — somehow!

To the Editor:

Delegate Edwards has enacted a law that increases the salaries of our county commissioners up to $28,000 from the present $18,000 per year, plus several thousand dollars for travel and other purely unnecessary expenses.

Edwards thinks he has the power to be liberal with the taxpayers' money.

The salary of our county commissioners is already too liberal. Too bad that Edwards cannot be made to pay some of the increased salaries he had legislated for our property owners to pay.

Here are some of the other increases he has loaded upon our taxpayers:

The treasurer's salary is increased, from $22,000 to $28,000 plus an assistant treasurer at $25,000, if the county commissioners agree.

State's attorney salary is increased from $12,000 up to $38,000 for year 1991 and then up to $50,000, plus travel expenses, and this law provides for an assistant attorney at $25,000 per year.

But Edwards' liberty with the taxpayers' money doesn't stop here. It goes on and provides increases for nearly every person in the counthouse down to the CRASH, BANG AND THROUGH THE MUD — The Demo Derby and the Mud Bogg drew huge crowds last week at the Garrett County Fair. Saturday night's Demo Derby, above, saw Brent Fratz of Accident winning the $500 feature. The Mud Bogg (below) on Monday night (after the only rain that fell during fair week) was won by Jeremy Finley, who had the fastest time in Class "X." A complete listing of winners can be found in today's issue of The Republican.

A & A, which is coming off the best season in the eight-year history of the club when they finished third, play their home games at Southern Middle School. Anyone from the area interested in joining the team may contact Dave Insley (387-5832) during the day or Ned Holloway (387-5844) in the evenings.

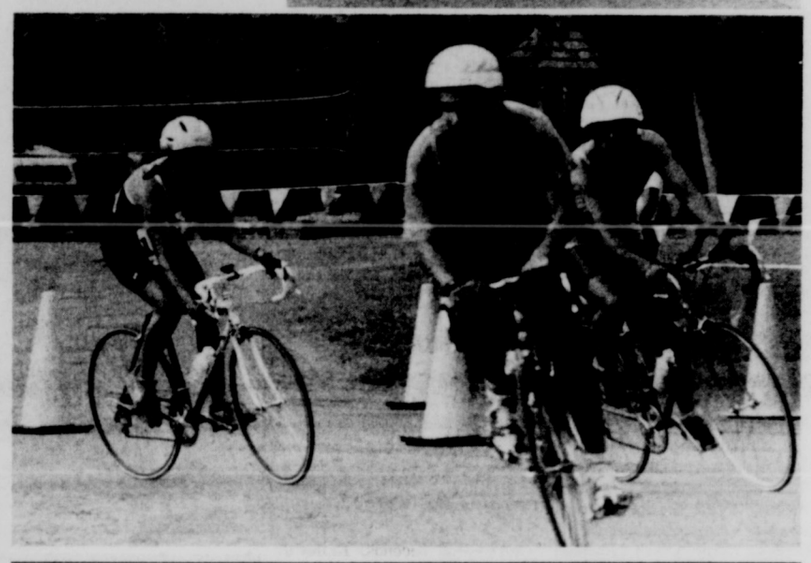
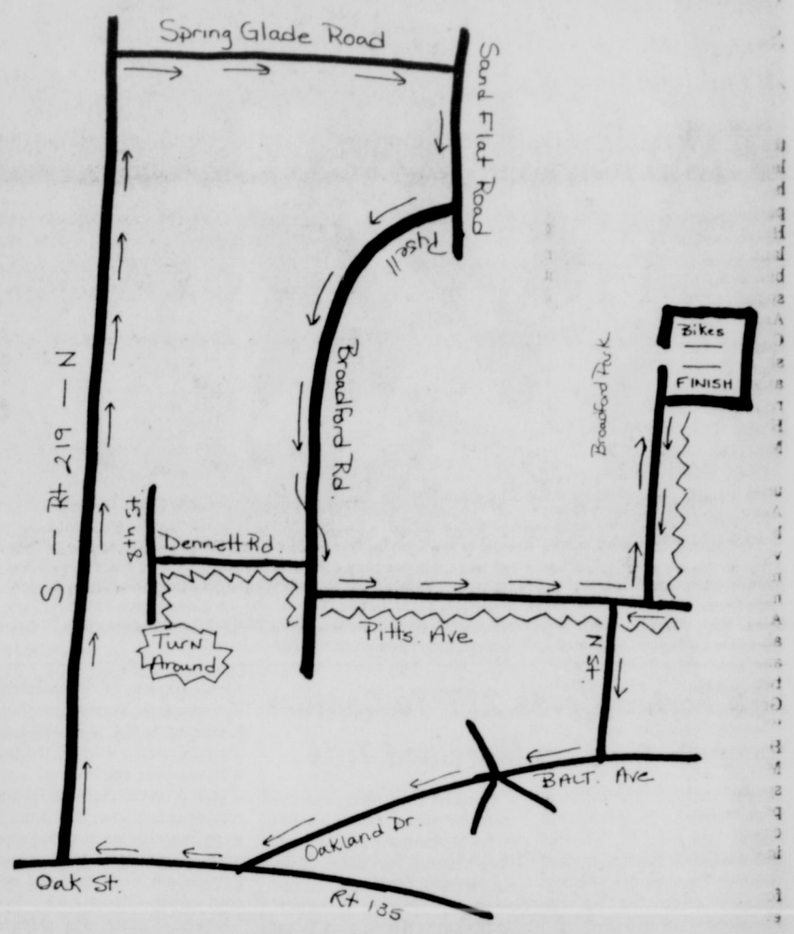
THE COUNTDOWN for the third annual Best of the West Triathlon is underway, as some 300 participants are now tapering their training schedules for the event, slated for this Saturday, Aug. 25, at Broadford Lake. The race will include a .4-mile swim, a 15.5-mile bike ride through downtown Oakland and through the countryside, and a four-mile run. It will begin and end at Broadford Park. Among the favorites will be the 1988 champion, Dan Besson, of Catonsville, pictured right. Besson, one of the strongest bikers in the East, was the runner-up in last year's Best of the West. The Youth Triathlon, a segment of which is pictured below left, will be held Sunday, Aug. 26, at the Wisp Resort in McHenry. Over 50 youth, from ages 7-14, have registered for that event. See story for details.





TRIATHLON COURSES — The courses for the Best of the West Triathlon and the Youth Triathlon, both slated for this weekend, are depicted here. The Best of the West for the adult athletes will follow the above course in the Oakland area and the younger triathletes will follow the course below at Wisp Resort, McHenry. Several segments of roadways, especially for Saturday's event, will be closed during the morning and motorists are urged to read the story on the front page of today's Republican for details on those closings.

Railey, who has recorded the best overall times of Garrett County triathletes, finished third in his age group last year. Hesen placed second in her age group last year, while Bulhack, Bell, and Bob Ridder all placed third in their respective age groups in the 1988 event. Sutcliffe has placed first in her age group the past two years.

Spectators who wish to watch the event inside the park should arrive at the park no later than 8:45 a.m. "It will be difficult to get in or out of the park while the bikers are on the course," Railey said.

She added that downtown Oakland will be the best place to watch the biking segment. The racers will most likely be on the course from about 9:15 a.m. to 10:30. The run can be viewed along Dennett Road from about 9:50 to 11:30.

Railey noted that several areas of the course will be closed to traffic during the race and motorists should take note of the following schedule.

Third Street in Oakland will be closed from 9 to 10:30 a.m., when through traffic will be detoured onto Second and Fourth streets; Broadford Road will be closed to traffic from 9 a.m. to noon, when traffic will be detoured onto Oakland Drive and Harvey Winters Road; Broadford Road and Dennett Road intersection will be closed from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; Dennett Road will be closed from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; Spring Glade Road, from Nestlick Acres Road to Rt. 219, will be closed from 9:30 to 11 a.m., when traffic will be detoured onto Nestlick Acres Road; and Sand Flat Road will not be closed, but drivers should expect delays between Spring Glade and Pysell Crosscut roads from 9:30 to 11 a.m. (See course map.)

"We hope all motorists will be careful and particularly alert during the race so we can continue our perfect record of no mishaps involving traffic," Railey said.

Although some 150 persons are volunteering their time and talents to assist with the running of the Best of the West, Railey noted that more volunteers are needed. Those wishing to help out should call World Championships, Inc., at 387-4282.

Volunteer Race Committee organizers include: Deb Real, swim course; Steve Hamilton, bike course; Morgan Frantz, run course; Donna Sites, transition; Dave Glass, communications; Jimmy Lascaris, course marshal; Cheryl Miller, medical; Kathy Gibson, registration; and Sherry Gosnell, aid station.

"Without our many hard-working volunteers prior to and on race day, we could not have this thrilling race," Railey said. "The Garrett Sports League and WCI sincerely thank each and every volunteer who will be there to help this Saturday and all those who have helped organize the event over the past six months."

The Best of the West is sponsored in part by Coors Light and the Greater Oakland Business Association. Other contributors include: Garrett National Bank, Naylor's Hardware, Coca-Cola, Wisp Resort Hotel, Allen's TV, Witmer Foods, Elliott's Amazing Fruit Juice/Tyler Mountain Water, Englander's Pharmacy, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, McDonald's, Brodak's Video Showcase, Arrowhead Grocery, Funland, Pizzazz Pizza, Wellness Together, WXIE/WMSG, High Mountain Sports, Browning's Foodland, Powerfood, Inc., Runner's World, L.A. Joe, Maryland State Highway Administration, and Ultra Swim.

The Youth Triathlon will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday and will feature the same three sports, but with shorter distances. There will be two age divisions, boys and girls (7-10 and 11-14).

For that event, Marsh Hill Road will be closed to traffic from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

The swim will take place in the Wisp Resort pool, the bike ride will be an out-and-back course on Marsh Hill Road, and the run will be through the grounds of Wisp.

"We have many local athletes registered to compete against some tough competition from out of town," Railey said. "The event has been developed to enable our local youth to compete in this fast-growing sport which will soon be a part of the Olympic Games. It also helps promote physical fitness in our children."

The Youth Triathlon is sponsored in part by High Mountain Sports.

Reams Named Bowler Of The Year

Brad Reams, pictured above right, is the recipient of a gold ring as the award for winning the Bowler of the Year competition in conjunction with the Wednesday Civic Bowling League, during the 1989-90 season. Reams is a member of the team called the "Awesome Possums." Pictured presenting the ring is league president and fellow teammate Roger (Rocky) Smith.

Eighteen bowlers qualified for roll-off at the end of the season, in which six bowlers are placed in a pro-format final. The top three handicap scores are placed at 1-2-3 and the top three scratch scores at 4-5-6. Reams held the no. 1 spot with a 686 handicap score. The bowlers who held the second to sixth positions, respectively, were: John Sharpless, with a 681 handicap; Jeff Friend, 656 handicap; Doug Ratliff, 614 scratch; Jeff Meyers, 601 scratch; and Lester Brant, 600 scratch.

Meyers advanced to the second match by beating Brant 208-200. He then rolled a 223 over Ratliff's 206, and continued his streak by defeating Friend 214-201. Sharpless stopped Meyers 234-225, and the final match ended with Reams bowling a 256 to defeat Sharpless with a 224.

Reams is the only bowler from Par-Matt Lanes to score an 800 set shot (shot at the Bowler, LaVale). He also has a 300 to his credit, shot at North Garrett Lanes during the 1989-90 season. He has averaged in the high 190s to over 200 for the past several years.

"Besides being a fund-raiser, we hope the Barbecue will also be a 'friend-raiser' for the Foundation and the hospital," stated Bill Grant, Foundation chairman. "New and old friends of the hospital will be welcomed for their interest in the Foundation's efforts to reinforce quality health care facilities and services which meet the needs of the people GCMH serves.

Grant noted that the use of the mountain, parking lot, and chairlift equipment with attendants is being donated by the Wisp Resort.

Tickets are $35 per person, of which $25 is tax-deductible. They may be purchased at Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland, Deep Creek Pharmacy in McHenry, Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville, and at the Foundation office at the hospital, 334-2155.

"Neighbors and visitors alike who join us on September 15 are in for a highly pleasurable afternoon," Grant concluded.

Recycling

they've already done. So we have a great deal of work to do and we have to do it rather quickly."

He added, "A lot of youngsters are coming home from school with some good ideas and families are responding to them. That is going to make our task much easier."

Yoder reported that the biggest obstacle the effort faces is that Garrett County is a large county with a small population, with only about one-third of that population located in municipalities. The question then, he said, is "How do you attract and gather the recyclables? And what do you do with them once you get them?"

"The market is there," he said, "but the other question is one of volume. It takes us awhile to build the volume to make the material attractive to a buyer." As a result, the committee has addressed the problem of a suitable means of stockpiling the material. Also of concern to the group is determining the most efficient means of sorting the recyclable materials.

Currently, the committee is targeting five percent above the state mandate for specific types of recyclables. This 20 percent target may fluctuate from product to product, said Yoder, but he believes it is a realistic goal.

However, he noted, "We don't want to implement a program that is so large and cumbersome that we end up overburdening the entire effort. We want some type of program within the county with the ability to contract or expand as needed."

The committee hopes to have at least part of the program in place by next summer, and indications are that Garrett County is ahead of most other Maryland counties in recycling efforts.

Yoder stated, "We appear to be headed toward some type of recycling program whereby, using equipment in the form of visable containers, we would go to the communities on a rotating basis on specific days to solicit from them different types of recyclables."

The committee is also considering possible incentive plans for communities.

According to Yoder, the committee members have offered to be available to meet with community groups to discuss the program, answer questions and hear concerns.

Yoder concluded, "Although our immediate task is to service what's out there now, we don't want to just meet the state requirements. We want to go beyond that and continue the program with some innovative ideas for the future."

The commissioners commended the committee's efforts and indicated they would continue to support and work with the group. Commissioner Elwood L. Groves II stated, "We too feel that enthusiasm for this program is high, and I think the issue is here to stay. It is better to gradually develop a well-planned, well-executed program than to try to do too much too soon out of enthusiasm and then have an unfortunate set of circumstances develop."

"WHAT HAPPENED TO YOUR GYPSY VIOLINIST?"

In other years, he has also spent up to five days in a "spike" camp, a makeshift camp "with no frills." They would either walk in or be flown in by helicopter. The spike camp is usually right at the fire itself, and eliminated the need to return to base camp each day. Food, tools, and other necessities would also be flown in each day. The base camp might be 20 miles away.

The fire we fought was on managed forest land," Handwerk stated, "and, therefore, had a good road system, which was utilized to transport men, water, and equipment for the fire suppression effort."

Several men on the Maryland crew had to be treated for "elevation sickness," and illness with flu-like symptoms brought on by high elevation, high temperatures, low humidity, and constant dust and smoke conditions. Handwerk said the area they were assigned had an elevation of 5,000-6,000 feet. One man on his crew was also treated for heat stroke.

Although fire fighting is always hazardous, Handwerk felt they were never in danger on this particular fire. One fire fighter with the California Division of Forestry was killed, however, during this time period on the 3,100-acre "Recer" Fire on the Mendocino National Forest in California. The fire fighter reportedly was hit in the back of the head by a falling tree branch. One other fatality occurred to a division boss of the fire Handwerk was assigned to. While attending a briefing session in camp, Julius Starr, 47, collapsed from a apparent cerebral hemorrhage and later died at a local hospital.

Bernie Zlomek, public information officer with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, said Handwerk, 54, passed physical fitness tests which many younger employees are unable to pass in order to qualify for Western fire duty. "How he does it has to be related to his lifestyle," Zlomek explained. "He doesn't smoke, exercise regularly, and watches what he eats. He's one of our most experienced fire fighters," Zlomek added.

Handwerk has been on 10 fire details in the past 13 years, which has included trips to California, Washington, Idaho, North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, and now, Oregon.

Janitor who probably needs it more than all the others.

The idea that being elected to the House of Delegates gives him the authority to increase everybody's pay is indeed a happy thought.

Indeed I have learned something. I spent 12 years in the Maryland State Senate at Annapolis and I never raised anybody's salary.

The House Bill number 937 enacted in the 1989 Session is to become effective at the beginning of 1991. The bill contains about 19 pages. I will try to find a way to get the entire contents of this bill before our people, if possible.

Sincerely,
Clifford Friend

P.S. It is a shame that Edwards has no opponent in the coming election.

Glendale Bridge
I believe this project should be re-studied. With the rapid growth of the area, the Glendale Road from Rt. 219 to the State Park Road is totally insufficient. The intersection as well as the crooked, narrow road is unsafe and should be widened and straightened. Additional walking and bike lanes should be constructed on one shoulder.
I feel that by putting up traffic lights to control the flow of traffic on the bridge we could continue to use the old bridge while we make new plans (plans that will take care of the next 60 years) and seek the additional funds to pay for this upgrade.

fully involved in flames upon their arrival. The Stahl family was in Aurora, W.Va., at the time of the blaze, having traveled there Friday.

According to a report of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, a 1981 pickup truck owned by Stahl was stolen from the residence and later recovered in Eglon, W.Va. The investigation into the fire and theft continues. The Sheriff's Department reported yesterday that there were no new leads in the case.

According to Guy Carola, deputy state fire marshal for Garrett and Allegany counties, the fire was discovered by a passing motorist, who notified Stahl's brother who lives nearby. Carola estimated the loss to be $45,000.

Fire fighters also found four hunting rifles lying in the front yard.

Firemen remained on the scene for about two hours. Also responding was the county air cascade vehicle, currently being housed at Oakland VFD, and the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Persons with any information about the fire and/or theft are asked to contact Sheriff Dept. Detective Patrick Kelly at 334-1911.

Mobile Home Destroyed

In another fire this past week, a house trailer located off Maynardier Road near Bittinger was destroyed in a Thursday morning blaze.

The owner of the trailer, Elbert Ray Bittinger, returned home at about 10 a.m. to find his home in flames, according to Pete Buckel, chief of the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department.

Buckel said Bittinger had to use a farm tractor to travel about one mile to a neighbor's house to call for help.

The 1966, 12-by-60 foot trailer was gutted by the time firefighters from Bittinger and Grantsville VFDs arrived. Also alerted were the Northern Rescue Squad and the county air cascade vehicle, currently being housed in Oakland. There were no injuries reported.

Garrett Property Owners Association, Inc.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE!

During the last election this Association supported the present incumbent Commissioners. They were supported because of their campaign promises to protect and preserve the rights of private property ownership. Once re-elected they pulled a turncoat. One of their first actions was to sponsor bills (House Bill 1632 and Senate Bill 757) which led to unrestricted acquisition of land by the State and erosion of the County tax base. The Bills also included provisions for State to execute condemnation easements on private land for recreational purposes.

Over the past four years other laws and regulations taking our property rights have gone unopposed by the Commissioners. In several instances they testified for bills which this Association strongly opposed and testified against. Garrett County is now overwhelmed by intricate and complicated land use laws and regulations which have seriously eroded private property rights.

We need Commissioners who will work to preserve and protect the rights of private property ownership, not the incumbent commissioners who have let us down.

FRENCH GUEST

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harsh, Mark and Melissa have had as their guest Sylvain Saux in their home near Eglon for the past three weeks. Saux, whose mother and stepfather are teachers in Ceret, France, has been visiting courtesy of the Nacel Culture Exchange and will be returning next week to Ceret. His father is a wine producer in Limoux.

When he returns he will have his last year of secondary school to complete and will be doing so after having learned to play Nintendo, having been to a county fair, shopped for groceries in a store which is not a portion of a department store, and visited many of the natural as well as pleasure sites in this area.

First time experiences in food items for Sylvain have been chili, corn on the cob (usually eaten in a salad in France), and homemade chocolate chip cookies. Having lived in a large town all of his life, this is also his first experience of country living.

Others who would be interested in hosting a foreign student for a month is eligible to do so. Those who desire further information may contact Mrs. Harsh for the address of Nacel.

Schaefer Modifies Position On Drug Testing For State Employees

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer last week modified one of his drug programs that would result in state employees who test positively for drugs being fired immediately for a first-time offense.

Schaefer softened his position by announcing last week that employees now would be suspended without pay for 15 days, be required to complete a program, and submit to random drug testing thereafter as long as they hold state positions in safety or sensitive areas.

If the employee would then test positive for drugs, immediate dismissal would be employed.

According to reports, state union officials termed the modification a victory after having fought for the validity of treatment and monitoring as alternatives to job dismissal.

Governor Schaefer had reportedly stood firm in his endorsement of the former program, calling it "absolutely right," even after delaying the implementation of the program to give those employees using drugs a chance to receive treatment before the random testing was begun.

The program is targeted primarily at those state employees who are involved with firearms or are in some way involved with drug enforcement, employed by state prisons, operate mass transit buses or provide health care.

NOTICE

ALL GARRETT COUNTY VOTERS

We are fortunate in having so many dedicated women in Garrett County who generously serve and work, both politically and socially, for the common good of all citizens. One such woman is Brenda Butscher whose past record of serving our people is outstanding. Over the last decade she has proven her ability to serve as a County Commissioner, the position she now seeks. She has demonstrated her ability to execute the duties of that position in an exemplary manner and will no doubt do so with equity and fairness to all citizens regardless of their standing in the County.

It is my concern that because she is a woman she is being put down. It has been stated by some that only men should be in the Commissioners' office. Such statements are just unfounded rhetoric. Women commissioners serve with creditability and distinction in other counties in Maryland, as Brenda Butscher will so serve Garrett County.

Any candidate for the office of Commissioner should be rated on their qualifications to serve and their stand on the specific issues confronting our county. If you will do this, you will find Brenda Butscher to stand head and shoulders above her competitors.

Correction Noted

In an article which appeared in last week's issue of The Republican, James A. Schreiner's title was identified as corporal with the U.S. Air Force. His actual title is Captain. The Republican regrets the error.

Information was also incorrectly received that Schreiner, who recently departed for the Middle East to participate as a fighter-pilot during the current crisis, was a member of the 35th Tactical Air Squadron. In fact, he is with the 561st Tactical Fighter Squadron.

Pictoral Display Of Md. Women At Ruth Enlow

The Maryland Commission for Women and newly appointed chairperson, Phyllis B. Tricket, of Oakland, recently announced that a pictoral display concerning the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame will be exhibited at the Ruth Enlow Library through the end of August.

The display, created by Baltimore mural artist J.E. Randall, depicts the faces of 30 Maryland women, all of whom are inductees to Maryland Women's Hall of Fame. The inductees include Senator Barbara Mikulski, State Treasurer Lucille Maurer, and Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton, along with other women of note whose work is widely recognized as having contributed significantly to the progress of our state.

The pictoral display currently at the Ruth Enlow Library was commissioned to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the Maryland Commission for Women and its role in improving the status of Maryland women and their families.

Special Course On Local Land, People Offered

The schedule of field trips for the "Appalachian Plateau, the Land and Its People" course at Garrett Community College has been announced by coordinator, Mary Love. The course will be given at GCC on Thursday from 3-5 p.m. beginning September 6. It may be taken for one college credit or as a non-credit offering.

The course will focus on the natural resources of the Appalachian Plateau area, and the ways in which man has used these resources. Some of the afternoon field trips will involve more time than two hours, and car pooling will be encouraged.

On the first day, Septembr 6, the class will meet in Room 154 of the college for orientation and a slide presentation by Bill Wiley, former associate professor at West Virginia University, on the geology of the region.

The schedule for the remaining seven weeks is as follows: September 13 — Castle at Mt. Savage. (An admission fee of $6.00 will be charged.); September 20 — Sam Beachy farm in Springs, Pa., to see cider mill and apple butter making; September 27 — The Cransville Swamp, the Wileys; October 4 — Arthurdale, the first public housing community, near Reedsville, W.Va.; October 11 — Blackwater Canyon, the Wiley; October 15 — Tour of the Deep Creek Dam and Power Plant; October 25 — Tour of Bausch and Lomb plant.

Students may register for the Appalachian Plateau course during business hours at Registrar's Office of the college or at the first class meeting. For further information, persons may call Joan Crawford at 387-6666.

HISTORY COURSE OUTING — Members of the recent Garrett County History class visited the Cranesville Swamp, one of the Field trip sites to be visited in the Appalachian Plateau course. The guide for this outing was Bill Wiley (Kneeling, wearing hat) retired associate professor of forestry at West Virginia University.

Small-Business

median spending of $15,000 or more could have a considerable impact on capital spending."

Spending on equipment and vehicles in the past six months dropped two points to 46 percent from the previous quarter. There was no change in the numbers of firms constructing or improving facilities (six percent and 16 percent respectively), but those adding land holdings for future construction dropped one point to three percent.

The economist said although small firms remain uncertain about the economy, their approach to capital spending continues to maintain strength.

INVENTORY INVESTMENT STRONGER THAN PAST YEARS

Although the number of small firms which plan to increase inventory holdings fell two points to 17 percent and those planning reductions rose one point to 13 percent during April, the figures are stronger than comparable July statistics for the past three years.

Inventory accumulation plans held steady, seasonally adjusted, during the third quarter after rising for the past three quarters. And actual stock increases were reported by nearly one-fifth (19 percent), while 16 percent reported reductions.

In April, 10 percent reported current holdings were larger than desired and an equal number noted just the opposite. Now, the former group has grown one point, while the latter has declined two points: 11 percent and eight percent, respectively.

Dunkelberg said the positive sign about inventories is that they do not appear to be a problem and seem unlikely to create concern unless there is a sharp decline in demand.

GCSC Completes Upper Yough Pollution Project

Dorothy Leuba, chairperson of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, last week announced the successful completion of another pollution abatement project in Garrett County. The Garrett County Sanitary District has recently completed the Upper Youghiogheny Improvements Project with a final construction cost of $4,639,744 subject to resolution of a construction claim. The budgeted amount for the project was $4,968,800 and was completed under the budget by seven percent (or $329,056).

The project included design and construction of improvements to the Trout Run Treatment Plant to increase the capacity from 180 thousand gallons per day to 900 thousand gallons per day, the addition of storage facilities to prevent any discharge during drought or low stream flow conditions, the addition of aeration units to the lagoons, the addition of a new UV disinfection system to eliminate the use of chlorine and chlorinated compounds, improvements to the pumping facilities, installation of a new interceptor line to the Shady Acres area, and installation of new sewer lines in Shady Acres.

The project removes a sewer moratorium from the towns of Mountain Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights, and the extention of the sewer line to the Shady Acres area corrected an acute failing septic system health hazard and enabled growth of residential and industrial facilities in this area.

Monies from the federal and state agencies funded more than 80% of the project cost. The local share of $865,000 will be funded by a Famers Home Administration bond issue.

The project was managed by Wendell R. Beitzel, administrator of the Garrett County Sanitary District and the District's administrative staff. Engineering was provided by Greenhorne & O'Mara, Inc., and the construction contractors were Alvarez Contractors, Inc., and Charles J. Merio, Inc.

lenses for different uses so that the two would not be in competition with one another.

Bausch & Lomb makes lenses for sunglasses while Garrett Optical is strictly an ophthalmic lens maker.

When asked why the company decided to relocate here, Brink stated, "It made sense to move here. We liked what we saw and we've already tested the waters with part of our operation having been here for the past few years. We also were impressed with the work ethic among Garrett Countians."

Commissioner Elwood Groves II stated, "We are very pleased with the expansion of Garrett Optical. It's a major victory for those of us who continually strive to compete with other subdivisions to see employee opportunities enhanced within Garrett County. We certainly want to welcome them with open arms, and we will continue to work with them through the Department of Economic Development."

The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by late March, 1991.

DON'T WORRY JOHN, YOU WON'T HAVE TO MODEL THIS DRESS! — Jennifer and John Wolfe Jr. are preparing for the upcoming annual fashion show sponsored by the Garrett County branch of the American Association of University Women. The event will be held Saturday, August 25, at Will O' The Wisp, and will begin with a luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Local merchants displaying fashions include Dee Ann's, Fashion Trax, Intimate Apparel, Kid's Closet and Sandy's. The show will feature transitional summer-to-fall and fall fashions, and proceeds from ticket sales will benefit the organization's scholarship program to send a local student to Garrett Community College. Tickets are $12.50 each and may be purchased from any A.A.U.W. member or from Johnny's Bait House at Deep Creek Lake. The Wolfe children are shown above at Kid's Closet, located in the 1884 Train Station shopping center, Mtn. Lake Park.

Ski Train

during the often-slow midweek, more attention to the historical Oakland Railroad Station, and a possible expansion of train excursion-use in the county.

"If this ski train is a success, it may open up other opportunities for excursions, such as golf trains or the return of the fall-foliage trip," McCain suggested.

Richard Keene of the Maryland State Railroad Administration told the group that the trip would last about four and a half hours from Washington to Oakland with a five-car, two-locomotive train. He explained that the two locomotives were needed to ensure safety and efficiency in climbing the Western Maryland mountains.

Keene also provided the group with an estimated price for the train, which was $15,000 to $20,000 per round trip. That price includes insurance. To offer a $30-40 price per ticket, 500 riders will be needed.

"The idea of doing this once or twice a season is really attractive," Keene said, "But not every week." Most members of the group agreed that twice a season would be the most productive and successful plan.

Many guarded, yet positive, comments were made about the plan by those in attendance.

"I think it will take a tremendous marketing effort to get people to take a five-day vacation during the week," Helmuth Heise, owner of Wisp Resort, said. "But with the right amount of push, it just might happen. And it may be time to think about it (alternative transportation), considering what's going on in the Persian Gulf right now."

Tim Glenn, representative of CSX Transportation (formerly Chessie Railroad), added that trains are "very fuel-efficient." Glenn, who resides in the Baltimore-Washington area, also stated that he believed the plan is a good one, mainly because of the success of the Union Station in Washington.

"It's a booming area now," He stated, adding that the area is very attractive to young professionals.

After the representatives of the ski resorts, railroad company, and a busing company quoted their individual costs, the total price of the package was estimated at $400-500. Rich Goldman, president of Allegheny Front, commented that the prices of ski trips to the western United States are often twice as costly, as well as those to New England resorts.

Goldman said that the project could be quite a success, especially when skiers discover through good marketing that they can ski three or four different areas in five days, stay in the pleasant facilities offered at each resort, and not have to worry about driving on snow-covered roads.

Heise made the suggestion that in marketing the ski train, advertisers call it a "Winter Holiday," rather than simply a ski trip, stating that there are many other winter activites in the area enjoyable to not only snow skiers, but to other winter enthusiasts as well. Goldman agreed, saying that cross-country skiing could certainly be another activity offered in the package.

If plans progress, the ski train is scheduled to begin in the winter of 1991-92. McCain explained that the group needs the "lead time" of a year to prepare the project. Peggy Jamison of the Garrett County Planning Commission reminded the group that skiers will be planning next year's vacations as early as March and April of 1991, and that if the ski train is to be a success, the group "needs to get on this now."

Mayor McCain adjourned the meeting, and said that he felt encouraged by the discussion. He also stated that another meeting would be held in a month. At that time, the costs of the ski train will be refined, and hopefully, he said, more progress toward the reality of the project will be made.

Persons attending the meeting other than those mentioned were Andrew Coerpening, Canaan Valley Resort; Tom Cain, Leo Howard, Patty Manoun, all members of Allegheny Front, Inc.; Ralph Burnett, Garrett Co. Economic Dev.; Dale DeWitt and Larry Schrock, both of Schrock Sightseeing Service; Pat Chambers, Maryland Tourism; Jerry Geisler, Wisp Ski Resort.

"I am not in this for the money. I am running for Commissioner to help improve Garrett County's future."
George Brodak, Candidate

When George Brodak decided to run for county office, it was not because he wanted — or needed — the commissioner salary. What he wanted, more than ever, is to improve the quality of life in Garrett County.

As an independent businessman, he is not a politician. He is a man with fresh ideas about government. He is a man who believes that government must work for the people.

"Look to the future, not to the past" has always been his philosophy. He believes in hard work, an honest return on every dollar spent, and being responsible.

Let's work together and bring new ideas and new people into county government.

VOTE GEORGE BRODAK — New ideas for our future.

Brodak for Commissioner; Ernest D. Colaw, Treasurer

Reading, Writing and Arithmetic

All across our land, hundreds of thousands of young people filled with excitement and apprehension are once again headed "back to school" sporting colorful backpacks crammed with sharpened pencils and spiral notebooks.

Ahead of them is a year filled with new adventures and unforeseen challenges. Our sons and daughters will learn and they will grow. They will have to cope with difficult situations and make intelligent decisions, often complicated by peer pressure.

As we worship God this week, may we pray for wisdom and strength for our children and for ourselves, as they look to us for advice and reassurance in the coming school year.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FAITH VS. WORKS

August 26, 1990

Background Scripture: James 1:22 through 2:26.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 119:105-112.

I apologize in advance! If you have read this column over any number of years, then what I'm going to say today I've said before: the controversy between faith and works in Christianity is an illusion. There really is no controversy. Nor does anyone have to decide to pick one to the exclusion of the other.

Yes, I'm aware that Paul and James are often quoted against each other, insinuating that Paul speaks of salvation by faith alone, while James advocates salvation by works. It is true that Paul says, "For all who rely on works of the law are under a curse... Now it is evident that no man is justified before God by the law; for 'He who through faith is righteous shall live'" (Galatians 3:10-12). And James writes in seeming contradiction: "What does it profit, my brethren, if a man says he has faith but has not works? Can his faith save him?... So faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead" (James 2:14-17).

WHAT ARE "WORKS"?

But, before we swallow the old "controversy" line, we need to think about what both of these men are saying. For one thing, they do not use the word "works" in quite the same way. When Paul speaks of "works of the law," he is referring to the multitude of commandments that were the heart of the pharasaic party of Jews. These had little to do with acts of mercy or compassion to others. In fact, as Jesus indicated, sometimes these rules and regulations got into the way of acts of mercy and compassion—such as healing a man on the sabbath, associating with lepers and healing them. When James speaks of "works" he makes it very clear that he has something else in mind, giving clothing to the "ill-clad" and food to be concerned with keeping one's self "pure," James was thinking of being concerned with keeping others from physical misery.

Secondly, Paul and James do not mean the same thing when they use the word "faith." For James, "faith" is obviously subscription to right beliefs. It is concerned with what one says about their religious faith, not necessarily what one does about it. James knew that it was quite easy for a Christian on Sunday morning to proclaim "I believe in God the Father almighty," and then to act as if God is not "almighty" at all. One can hold beliefs with the mind without them becoming convictions of the heart. James is quite right, mere words about what we believe are empty and meaningless.

WHAT IS "FAITH"?

If you read Paul's letters, however, you realize that when he uses the word "faith," he is speaking of something that goes considerably beyond saying what it is we believe in. Paul realized that kind of faith didn't move people beyond pharasaism. Paul, instead, uses the word "faith" to indicate a person's trust in God and communion with him. Trust in God enables us to do the acts and produce the fruits that faith is intended to produce.

So, are we saved by faith or by works? Actually, we are saved by God who responds to our trust in him (faith) that is evidenced by our works rather than our words.

Special designed to cut holiday accident rate

Stars test IQs of drivers

By Mary Ann Townsend

Viewers can once again test their knowledge about taking the wheel when The 2nd Annual Valvoline National Driving Test airs Tuesday, Aug. 28, on CBS.

Actor Robert Urich hosts the hour-long interactive special featuring 25 test questions on viewer driving skills and basic road knowledge. Five crucial areas—each different from last year's test—will be covered. Urich and other celebrities will quiz viewers about defensive driving techniques; handling dangerous road conditions; special considerations for motorcyclists, bicyclists and pedestrians; how a person's physical condition affects his driving; and basic mechanical knowledge. Television viewers will be able to keep their score and see how they rate in these areas.

In the United States, 165 million people are licensed to drive, and 193 million vehicles are registered. Each year 21 million traffic accidents cause nearly 47,000 deaths and 1.7 million disabling injuries.

"When a major airline crash happens, it's front page news. It's a shock to everyone. In reality, only about 150 people are killed every year in airline crashes. Nearly that same number die every day on American roads and highways. That's almost 50,000 needless deaths a year," Urich calculated.

Like last year's special, this year's Valvoline National Driving Test, will air just prior to the Labor Day Weekend, which traditionally is the most deadly holiday of the year from traffic accidents.

Cream of college crop compete in Disney Pigskin Classic

By Steve Paschal

Two of last year's premier college football teams go head-to-head on NBC Sunday, Aug. 26, when the Colorado Buffaloes and the Tennessee Volunteers collide in the first Disneyland Pigskin Classic live from Anaheim Stadium in Anaheim, Calif.

Colorado, the nation's top-ranked team for much of last season, won 11 straight games before losing to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, and is picked No. 1 in several of this year's pre-season polls. The Southeastern Conference champion Volunteers also posted an 11-1 record and topped off their season with a victory in the Cotton Bowl.

The Buffaloes are led by junior quarterback Darian Hagan, a strong candidate for the Heisman Trophy, and senior tailback Eric Beiniemy. Tennessee counters with 17 returning starters including quarterback Andy Kelly and explosive tailback Chuck Webb. NBC commentators Dick Enberg, Bill Walsh and Ahmad Rashad will bring the play-by-play beginning at 3 p.m. Eastern time.

Also Aug. 26, CBS continues its coverage of NFL pre-season football when the Houston Oilers take on the Minnesota Vikings live from the Metrodome in Minneapolis, Minn. at 1 p.m. Eastern time. Following the game, CBS will go to Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio for final-round coverage of the NEC World Series of Golf.

Mickey and friends open college football

Disneyland holds Pigskin Classic

By Anne Wheeler

Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck help kick off the 1990 college football season with the first ever Disneyland Pigskin Classic.

The University of Colorado Buffaloes will take on the University of Tennessee Volunteers at Anaheim Stadium. The game, set for noon Pacific time, on Sunday, Aug. 26, will air live on NBC.

The newest NCAA-sanctioned pre-season game, The Disneyland Pigskin Classic is part of the theme park's increased involvement in college athletics.

Earlier this year, 10 college athletes became the first recipients of $5,000 grants for post-graduate studies. The grants were funded by the Walt Disney Company in accordance with the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

Athletes from all sports were eligible, provided they were all-American or all-conference in their sport and had at least a 3.0 grade point average. (The 20 finalists had a combined 3.74 GPA.)

"The accomplishments of these outstanding scholar-athletes from across our nation clearly illustrate that dedication and determination in both athletics and academics can be achieved," said Michael Eisener, chairman and CEO of the Walt Disney Company. "We salute and honor each of these young people for their excellence, both on the playing field and in the classroom."

The Disneyland Pigskin Classic is designed to feature two top college teams from the previous football season, and that is just what it is doing during this, its premiere year. Colorado and Tennessee were both ranked 11-1 last year.

The Buffaloes of Colorado went into the Orange Bowl rated No. 1 in the country, before losing their only game of the season to Notre Dame 21-6. Tennessee's Volunteers topped Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, 31-27. The school's only loss was to Alabama in the sixth week of the season.

Colorado should be able to maintain its momentum since only two team members—J.J. Flannigan and Erich Kissick—graduated. The team's offense is led by quarterback Darian Hagan, who rushed for 1,004 yards, scoring 17 touchdowns; and tailback Eric Bieniemy, who gained 561 yards on 88 carries, averaging 6.4 yards per attempt.

A staple of the Tennessee football program is legendary head coach Johnny Majors, whose record stands at 93-54-6 for his 12 years as the Vols' leader. He was recently installed as president of the American Football Coaches Association.

Tennessee is led by its own vaunted running game. Last season the Vols ranked near the top 10 nationally in rushing statistics. Of special note is Chuck Webb, who at one point notched five straight 100-yard games, including a school record 294 yards against Ole Miss. He battered Arkansas' defense for 250 yards in the Cotton Bowl victory.

'Guys Next Door' move in on NBC

Five heartthrobs sure to thrill

By Amy Schimdt

Look out New Kids on the Block, 'cause here come the Guys Next Door. Teenage girls across the country will be parking themselves in front of the tube Saturday mornings to see these five talented hunks perform on NBC.

The fast-paced music and comedy show debuts Monday in primetime and repeats on Saturday mornings, the show's soon-to-be regular slot.

So who are these "guys next door" and where did they wander in from? The troupe's acting, film, dance and comedy credentials are actually fairly impressive for such a young group.

Paula Abdul cast dancer Eddie Garcia in a Janet Jackson video. He was later to perform with Michael Jackson on his 1988 "Bad" World Tour. Damon Sharpe, 17, has danced with Madonna, Tiffany and New Kids on the Block.

Singer, dancer Patrick J. Dancy, a Long Island native, grew up modeling and has had a recurring role on FOX's Married With Children.

Heartthrob Christopher Wolf, at 18, moved from his family's farm near Portland, Ore., and landed a role in the film Cops, starring James Woods.

"For me, 'Guys Next Door' is a fantasy come true," says Bobby Leslie, 18, who has made numerous television appearances. Leslie stars as the show's improv comic.

The show's more creative segments, "Fashion Police," and "Funky Fairy Tales," will probably strike the fancy of the younger, trendier, teenage set.

HOROSCOPE

August 26 through September 1

By C.C. Clark

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
A family member may be suffering greatly, without your knowledge. Seek them out and give them a shoulder to lean on. Your unselfishness makes a big difference to them.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
This is a busy time for you and it is necessary that you stick with the schedule. Allow plenty of time for rest and relaxation. Don't put up with arrogant people.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
The domestic front seems crazy for Scorpios this week. An unexpected gain comes your way soon. Tame your aggressive personality and allow yourself to have some fun.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
Make sure you handle correspondence in a timely manner. Domestic and business tensions have been at an all-time high, but smooth sailing is just ahead.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
Your work environment will be your uppermost concern this week. Concentrate on the job at hand and don't let anything distract you. Keep your secrets to yourself.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
This is a good cycle to travel. Even if you just take a short weekend trip, do it! You will be amazed at your sense of perception this week. Treat your loved ones kindly.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
It is important that you trust your partner. Let them be what they are and don't let preconceived notions ruin your relationship. Take things slowly and gradually.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
This will be a busy week. Your charming personality will win over the competition. A new friend will ask you to attend a social affair and you will meet an unusual person.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Friends will need special attention this week. Try to be sympathetic to their needs. Now is the time to make plans to change certain aspects of your life.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
It is important that you make yourself look as good as possible this week. A new career opportunity will come from an unexpected acquaintance.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
It's time to get rid of the dead weight in your life. Don't let loved ones spend all of your hard-earned money on trivial gifts for friends. Take charge of your life.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
Trouble in your work environment is most likely due to a communication problem. It may be necessary for you to look at the situation from a different point of view.

TV PIPELINE

Tom Cruise knew what he wanted after high school play success

By Polly Vonetes

Q: Please tell me everything you can about Tom Cruise, like his background, movies he has made, and his age. —Missy Peak, Max Mead, Va.

Tom Cruise

A: Tom Cruise was born in Syracuse, N.Y., on July 3, 1962, and christened Thomas Cruise Mapothre IV. As a youngster, Cruise discovered he had dyslexia, and he was forced to attend special reading courses. His mother and three sisters are also afflicted. Cruise's parents divorced when he was 12, and he moved to Kentucky with his mother and sisters. Receiving no money for child support from the elder Cruise, the whole family worked odd jobs to survive. Five years later, his mother remarried and the family relocated to Glen Ridge, N.J. He tried out for his high school production of Guys and Dolls and won the lead of Nathan Detroit; the rest is history. After graduation, Cruise headed to New York, and within five months landed a bit part in 1981's Endless Love and Taps. In 1983, he appeared in four films: Losin' It, The Outsiders, Risky Business and All The Right Moves. In 1986 he made Legend before signing on for Top Gun, the biggest box office smash of the year. He followed that with The Color Of Money, Rainman, Cocktail, Born On The Fourth Of July and Days Of Thunder. Recently divorced from wife Mimi Rogers, his off-screen passion is auto racing.

Q: My husband and I watched a Perry Mason special about a singer who was murdered. (It had Vanessa Williams in it.) There was another singer on the show who looked like Valerie Bertinelli, but I believe it was not her, my husband insists that it was. Can you tell us who it was? —Mary Mohr, Lahaina, Hawaii

A: You are right—Valerie was not in the film, but I cannot figure out which singer your husband believes to be Valerie. The cast included, besides Williams, Nia Peeples, Alice Ghostley, Barbara Hale, Raymond Burr, Tim Reid, Alan Rachins and William R. Moses.

Q: I hope you can help me. There is an old movie called The Song Of Bernadette. I don't see it on TV and I can't find a video of it. Please help. —Roxanne Russell, Grants Pass, Ore.

A: Your movie, Song Of Bernadette has been released on video tape. Ask your local video store to order it for you or write to: Yesteryear Video, Box C, Sandy Hook, CT 06482.

Q: I am a big fan of Ginger Rogers and would love to know where I can write to her. Nobody in movies today compares with Ginger. —Jimmy Hines, Morgantown, Ky.

A: Ginger Rogers' last published address was: 18745 Crater Lake Hwy., No. 62, Eagle Point, OR 97542.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748.

SOAP TALK

Is Dorian Viki's sister?

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I am a fan of One Life To Live, and I think it is great that they put Dorian Lord Callison back on the show. But if I recall correctly, Viki Buchanan used to be Viki Lord Buchanan, so I don't see why Dorian has so much hatred toward the Buchanans. My question to you is, is Dorian Viki's sister? —Greg Rogers, Silsbee, Texas

Dear Greg: Dorian is a lot of things, but she is definitely not Viki's sister. She was at one time Viki's stepmother and the mistress of Llanfair. When Victor Lord died, Dorian wanted Viki out of her life. Viki never cared for Dorian because she was as manipulative back then as she is now. Through the years they have had to do each other favors and were sometimes close to being friends, but most of the time they love to hate each other.

Dear Candace: I hope the writers of Days Of Our Lives realize we have an AIDS epidemic. With all the hot and heavy sex suggestions, what kind of message are they trying to send out to the young people of this country? I'm sure there are a lot of people who enjoy watching that smut. But think of all the people who think it is disgusting. The writers are always showing the women as sex crazed, while the men are shown in a totally different light. The other storylines are pretty good. But I don't want to watch Jennifer staring at Jack the rest of the summer. —Leona Sladon, Rush Springs, Okla.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748. © TV Listing Inc

U.S. Open covered during day and primetime on USA

By Amy Schmidt

USA Network serves up live U.S. Open tennis action beginning Monday, Aug. 27. Last year highlighted the final Grand Slam match of Chris Evert's career and 37-year-old Jimmy Connors' five set loss to upstart Andre Agassi. Tennis' big names this year include Stefi Graf, Ivan Lendl, Martina Navratilova and Boris Becker, who will compete for America's richest tennis-tournament purse. Announcers Barry MacKay, Ted Robinson, Diana Nyad, Bill Macatee, Susan Hunt, and former tennis stars Vitas Gerulaitis and Billie Jean King will keep tabs on the action during the day and primetime coverage. The U.S. Open continues through Sept. 9.

John Mulvihill was a cocaine abuser at the end of the line when his family took their harshest step ever in order to help him: "intervention." In an hour-long Lifetime documentary titled The Party's Over, premiering Wednesday, Aug. 29, three stories involving three drug and alcohol abusers and their families, friends and counselors who confronted them, or intervened, are re-enacted. John McCarthy, a father of four, is an alcoholic. His wife, his drinking partner for many years, saw the toll it took and vowed to do something about it. Judy Hulstein a divorced mother of two, made and broke many promises to stop drinking. When her 18-year-old son moved out, and her 12-year-old daughter was left to care for her, Judy realized she would die without help. These three people were helped by intervention and tell their stories on the special. The Party's Over is hosted by thirtysomething star Melanie Mayron.

TNT continues its tribute

Lillian Gish

to silent and early sound films with a tale of madness and murder. The silent masterpiece The Wind, starring Lillian Gish, airs Monday, Aug. 27. Co-starring with Gish is Lars Hanson, with whom she played opposite in her previously filmed movie, The Scarlet Letter. In the classic, The Wind, Gish, who plays Letty Mason, leaves her Virginia home and takes a train to a desolate place in Texas to live with her cousin. Her cousin's wife takes an instant dislike to Letty and tells her she must leave. Letty obligingly enters into a marriage of convenience and moves into a shack with her new husband. During a "norther," or hot wind, said to "drive folks crazy," Letty is assaulted by a jilted suitor and forced into violent self-defense. The 1928 film was made on location in the Mojave desert, where temperatures exceeded 100 degrees daily. To create the wind storms needed, giant wind machines blew a combination of sand, sawdust and smoke across the set. Scorching cinders and sand were blown into the actors' faces, burning many of the cast. © TV Listing Inc

Black politicians no longer limited to issues of race

By Christy Bergslien

The Black Panthers coined it "black power" during the socio-political battleground of the '60s. Now, 25 years after the passage of the civil rights amendment allowing this nation's African Americans to vote, PBS explores the changing face of black politics in America on Politics—The New Black Power, airing Tuesday, Aug. 28.

The number of black elected officials in 1965 stood at some 280. Today there are more than 7,600. Black politicians of the '60s, most notably Martin Luther King Jr., relied solely on black coalitions to achieve power. Today Jesse Jackson is one of the few black politicians who, with his charisma and rhetoric from the pulpit, still seeks to mobilize a black voting power.

"I want to excite the black community without inciting the white community," says Congressman Mike Espy of Mississippi, who posed with a rifle in ads designed to attract white NRA voters.

Andrew Young, mayor of Atlanta and a former King aide, has made economics, rather than race, his battle cry. In an interview with New Black Power writer and narrator Juan Williams and WETA magazine, Young commented:

"Politics is going to have to lead people, not races. And the politicians who are effectively able to treat everybody equally—without regard to race, creed or color—are going to be the ones that prevail."

Rob Reiner definitely proved he could do it on his own

By Amy Schmidt

"Not once," says Rob Reiner, "did Dad (writer, actor, director Carl Reiner) ever say to a producer, 'Give this kid a job.' It's true I worked in many small roles for people that my father knew. Undoubtedly, they were curious as to what Carl Reiner's son could accomplish. But I never went to my father for assistance. I wanted to prove I could do it without him."

And certainly he has. Carl Reiner, producer of hit shows such as Sid Caesar's Your Show Of Shows and The Dick Van Dyke Show, had a hard time recognizing the talents of his own son. In fact, when he saw Rob in his first play, he said he had never seen anyone so bad as Rob. Eventually he would come to realize his son's talent. So has everyone else.

Rob Reiner, born March 6, 1947 in New York City, began his career as a writer for The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour and went on to his famed role as Michael (Meathead) Stivic on All In The Family. Reiner began directing in 1984 with the sleeper This Is Spinal Tap. The Sure Thing, Stand By Me, The Princess Bride and the recent and popular Harry Met Sally followed.

Reiner returns to acting in the new comedy, Partners In Life, a spoof of the buddy comedies of the '30s and '40s era. Reiner plays Max King III, and co-stars with Joe Guzaldo. Partners In Life is not yet scheduled to air.

Barbara Bush's campaign for literacy featured on A&E

By Christy Bergslien

Promoting First Lady Barbara Bush's 1990 "The Year of International Literacy" campaign are the Arts & Entertainment "back to school" programs titled Who's Minding The Kids? premiering Monday, Aug. 27.

Celebrities Loni Anderson, Whoopi Goldberg and Tom Selleck will join news anchors Barbara Walters, Dan Rather and Tom Brokaw in a discussion of America's youth. Eleven episodes, each airing twice daily, will run through Sept. 2 on A&E.

Walters focuses on the kids' problems in the '90s in the first segment of the series, "Survival Stories: Growing Up Down and Out." Also on Aug. 27, comedienne Goldberg tells "The Truth About Teachers" in which she meets a group of inspiring, innovative educators who have managed to stick with teaching while so many of their contemporaries have deserted the profession.

Anderson uncovers "New and Improved Kids" on Aug. 28; Rather hosts "48 Hours in High School" on Aug. 30 and Brokaw, "To Be A Teacher." Tom Selleck presents "See Dick and Jane Lie, Cheat and Steal: Teaching Morality to Kids" on Sept. 2.

Other episodes of Who's Minding The Kids? include "More Than Child's Play: Kids, Parents and Sports," "America's Kids—Teaching Them to Think," and "Teachers and Television: A Class Act."

Students With Summer Jobs May Owe Taxes

Students with summer or part-time employment anytime during the year should be aware of an important tax law that may affect them. Anyone who can be claimed as a dependent on their parents' or guardians' tax return cannot claim their own personal exemption.

Under provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, a dependent's exemption can only be claimed on their parents' or guardians' tax return. Therefore, the amount of federal tax withheld from paychecks should be reviewed. Without being able to claim their own $2,050 personal exemption for 1990, the summertime or part-time employee may owe taxes if his or her earned income is more than $500 and they also received interest, dividends or other unearned income in addition to wages during the year.

In previous years, those with summer jobs could claim their own personal exemption and check "Exempt" on their Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, but only if they had no tax liability the year before and expected none in the current year.

Generally, students should claim one allowance on their Form W-4 if they are not exempt from withholding and have only one job. If they wish to have more taxes withheld, they should claim zero. Students who've had summer-time jobs and/or have part-time jobs throughout the year should be sure to review their Form W-4 so the proper amount of tax will be withheld from their paychecks by their employer.

Further information about federal withholding tax and Form W-4 can be obtained by calling the IRS at 1-800-424-1040.

Box Car Willie Sings To Local Couple By Phone

A local couple was recently treated to some personal attention by country music star "Box Car Willie," when he sang for them via telephone and talked with each of them for "a good long while about lots of things."

So stated Genevieve Ellis, Crellin, after she and her husband, Peck Ellis, received the call last Wednesday from the entertainer.

Doug Ellis, Oakland, son of the couple, told reporters that his brother, Dale Ellis, a disc jockey in Welch, W.Va., wrote a letter to Box Car Willie requesting that he contact his parents. He explained that they were both fans and that each of them was suffering from a form of cancer.

The Ellis' were, indeed, surprised to hear from the country personality and Mrs. Ellis reported that "Box Car" was a compassionate and concerned listener and "easy to talk to."

Tuition Money Available From New Horizons

The New Horizons Program, a single parent/homemaker/displace homemaker project, sponsored by Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education and Garrett Community College, has available for the 1990-91 funding year, which began July 1, 1990, $7,500 tuition assistance money to be used by eligible program participants in pursuing vocational training in both non-credit areas.

Credit tuition assistance is a continuing part of the program again this funding year along with the non-credit tuition assistance, and the New Horizons staff is ready to make this money available to clients interested in credit classes in the vocational area.

Arrangements have also been made to assist program participants with the purchase of books to be used in taking classes up to $20 per class, depending on income.

A sum of $1,900 has been set aside to assist program participants needing child care and/or transportation assistance while taking training. Income eligibility will be the determining factor in providing this assistance.

Interested persons may contact New Horizons between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays at 387-6666, ext. 171.

Md. State BOE Adopts Budget Of 2.4 Billion

The Maryland State Board of Education adopted a budget on August 9 of 2.4 billion dollars for fiscal year 1992, including an eight percent increase in funding for restructuring education in Maryland.

The budget, which is due in Governor William Donald Schaefer's office by Sept. 1, includes 175 million for the "Success for all Students" strategies announced by State Superintendent Dr. Joseph Shilling in May.

Extending the school year from its current 180 days to 200 days did not receive budget approval. Instead the board approved an alternative six-week summer school program designed to help students most in need of additional schooling.

The extended school year concept will be further addressed at the state board's regular monthly meeting on August 28-29 in the State Education Building in Baltimore.

Doctors, Lawyers Teaming Up To Combat Drugs

Doctors and lawyers across Maryland are teaming up in "partnerships" to fight drug use and abuse in the school system. This fall, a doctor/lawyer team will visit most middle schools in Maryland to teach seventh graders about the legal and medical consequences of using alcohol and drugs. The doctor will focus on the medical dangers of what drugs do to the body, and the lawyer will explain the legal consequences, touching on everything from criminal records to driving while intoxicated. The team will share its expertise with the students, answer questions and encourage young people not to use drugs or alcohol.

This "Patnership Against Drugs," sponsored by the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland and the Maryland State Bar Association, will focus on education and prevention. It is part of Governor Schaefer's program fighting drugs in Maryland, and is patterned after a pilot project launched by the American Medical Association and the American Bar Association to unite doctors and lawyers in a community outreach program to fight drugs.

In late May, a Maryland doctor and lawyer team visited the Nicholas Orem Middle School as a "pilot" for this partnership, and according to organizers, the program was well received, with many questions on both drugs and alcohol raised by the two seventh grade and one eighth grade classes. Med-Chi and MSBA said they are working closely with Governor William Donald Schaefer and the Maryland State Board of Education on this endeavor. The doctor/lawyer teams are scheduled to begin when the new school year commences.

Marylanders Spend More On Sports And The Movies

Marylanders spent about $396 million or 3.8% more on taxable entertainment during fiscal year 1990 than during the same period last year, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. Increased spending for athletic events, movies, live theatre and concerts contributed to the growth in entertainment spending.

"All of this spending for entertainment generates admissions and amusement tax revenue which our office collects for Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said. The comptroller noted that checks totaling $26.2 million have been distributed to local governments as their share of the admissions and amusement tax receipts for fiscal year 1990.

"This year's distribution is almost 10% more than the $23.8 million we returned to the local governments for fiscal year 1989," Goldstein said. "We collect this revenue at rates set by local officials and return the money to local governments each quarter."

Statewide spending for athletic events increased by 22% over the same period last year, to about $44.2 million. Marylanders also spent about $77.5 million for movie tickets, an increase of about 13.7% over fiscal year 1989.

Spending at live theatres and concerts jumped more than 44% from last fiscal year to $16.8 million. But skating and ski slopes attracted fewer entertainment dollars because of the mild winter weather. Marylanders spent just over $2 million on ski slopes and rentals, 11.5% decrease from fiscal year 1989.

Statewide spending on skating and skate rentals also decreased by about 15.5% to $3.2 million in fiscal year 1990 compared to that of 1989.

The amounts of admissions and amusement tax revenue returned to Garrett County in Fiscal Year 1990 totalled $185,597, compared to $171,998 the previous year.

Pilot Program For Reservations Noted By DNR

Getting away from it all at a Maryland State Park is easier than ever this year, according to a spokesman from the Department of Natural Resources, Forest Park and Wildlife Service. A reservation policy at six state parks gives campers the opportunity to make advance reservations for a campsite.

Swallow Falls, Point Lookout, Elk Neck, Pocomoke River, Greenbrier and Rocky Gap state parks are piloting the program. Reservations may be made up to two years in advance, with one night's deposit holding the site.

In addition to advance reservations, the six parks are piloting a number of new campground policies, including allowing pets at designated areas at Swallow Falls, Elk Neck, Rocky Gap and Point Lookout.

For more information on camping at a Maryland State Park, persons may call the individual park or the Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service at 1-301-974-3771.

Strong Economy Lures Workers To Maryland

Maryland's booming economy during 1985-88 was responsible for a net gain of more than 66,500 people moving into the state, six times more than migrated here during the slower economic times of 1980-85, according to data released this week by the Maryland Office of Planning.

The data summarize both Maryland's net interstate and intrastate migrations for the period 1980-85 and 1985-88, excluding migration from abroad.

"Maryland's economy was very strong during the late 1980s, as companies were formed and jobs were created. Consequently, people were moving here to take advantage of the employment opportunities," Ronald M. Kreitner, director of the Maryland Office of Planning, explained.

"Managing such rapid growth is critical to the state's economic and environmental future. Our use of land and resources must be carefully considered if we expect to enjoy tomorrow the standard of living we have today," he added.

Indicative of the strength of the state's economy during the late- 1980s is the fact during the first five years of the decade eight jurisdictions recorded a net decrease in migration, while during 1985-88 only four jurisdictions lost population to other counties or states.

During 1985-88 Montgomery County showed the largest net migration increase with 28,600 new residents. Of those, 24,560 were out-of-staters and 4,040 were people from other Maryland jurisdictions. Howard County was the second most popular jurisdiction, registering a net gain of 15,231 people.

The jurisdictions recording the greatest losses were Baltimore City, which lost 28,104 people, and Prince George's County, which had a net loss of 10,367. Garrett County recorded a loss of 83 people.

Eric Glotfelty Attends Annual Forestry Camp

Eric Glotfelty, of Garrett County, and other students from across Maryland recently travelled to Camp Hickory in Garrett County to attend the Forestry, Conservation and Natural Resources Week. Sponsored by the Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy District Boards and run cooperatively with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources - Forest, Park & Wildlife Service, the week-long workshop is for high school and college-bound students interested in the outdoors and in pursuing forestry and related conservation careers. The workshop is in its 19th year.

Starting with their arrival on Sunday, August 12, Eric and the other 45 students began their study of the "forest world." Beginning with the basics of soils, water, geology and plant identification, the students built on these while studying the concepts of natural resource management. They studied the factors which influence and limit the use of the resource and the need for planning and management of forests. By Friday, the students were able to evaluate a parcel of forested land and prepare a management strategy for the area.

Throughout the week, the students worked with natural resource professionals from a variety of disciplines. They were able to gain a first-hand knowledge of natural resource careers. Many former students of the workshop have chosen careers in natural resources fields, according to a Garrett County Forestry Board Spokesman.

Bethesda Church Homecoming Set

The Bethesda Church of the Brethren will celebrate its 16th Homecoming this Sunday, August 26.

The Cashmen from Churchville, Va., will present a program of Gospel music during the morning worship service at 10:30 a.m. A covered dish dinner will follow in the church fellowship hall.

The church is located six miles south of Grantsville along Route 495. The public is invited to attend.

At the Forestry, Conservation & Natural Resources Week held at Camp Hickory and hosted by the Garrett County Forestry Board, Phil Garman was honored by a tree planting for his 13 years of service on the Forestry Board. In the foreground, left to right, are Phil Garman, Charles Strauss, former director of Camp Hickory and past president of the Forestry Board, and John Forman, current president of the Garrett County Forestry Board. In the background are students who attend the camp.

Bill To Support Early Detection Of Breast, Cervical Cancer Approved

The U.S. Senate has passed a bill authored by Senator Barbara Mikulski (D,MD) that will support comprehensive new state programs for early detection of breast and cervical cancer.

The Breast and Cervical Cancer Prevention Act provides $50 million in grants to states for preventive health care screening. The States will provide pap smears and mammograms, and then referrals and follow-up after the screenings. The money can also be used to develop information and education programs about these preventive tests, and to train health personnel.

"Women are dying needlessly because they do not have access to basic medical services," Mikulski said. "This legislation begins to change that. It is an aggressive program that combines health care education, payment for services, and proper follow-up in a single package, and it delivers these services to low-income women, who need it most."

Cervical cancer will strike over 13,000 women in 1990, most of them poor. Breast cancer is the nation's second leading cause of death among women, one in every ten women will develop it in their lifetime.

"I hope this bill serves as a memorial to the effort of Rose Kushner, Jill Ireland, and Nina Hyde, all the women who have fought the good fight against breast cancer," Mikulski said. "To the end, they held within themslves a special kind of courage, that carried them beyond their own life-and-death struggle and into the fight for all women's lives."

The Breast and Cervical Cancer Mortality Act is part of the larger legislative package Mikulski introduced earlier this week, the Women's Health Equity Act of 1990. That package addresses a wide range of women's health problems including; breast and cervical cancer, osteoporosis, AIDS outreach and prevention, and infant mortality. Mikulski also secured legislative provisions to prevent discrimination against minorities and women in health research at the National Institute of Health (NIH).

Registration For Bagpiping Course Now Underway

As time approaches for fall semester classes at Garrett Community College to begin, registration is again being taken for the Pipes and Drums course scheduled for Wednesday evenings, beginning September 5, from 7-9 p.m. in the music room.

In this course, students learn to play the Scottish bagpipes and drums and they become members of the GCC Pipe and Drum Band. According to the Honorable Fred A. Thayer, instructor of the course, beginning students do not need to have their own instruments.

This group performs at many ceremonial occasions during the year and is one of the most colorful features of the annual Autumn Glory parade.

Students may register for this class as a one-credit or non-credit offering. Registration may be completed at the Registrar's Office of the college during business hours or until 6:30 p.m. September 5. For further information, persons should call the Student Assistance Center at 387-6666.

Area Agency On Aging Seeking Phone Volunteers

Persons looking for something worthwhile to do for their community, but who have little free time or a transportation problem, may want to contact the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging.

The Agency operates the Telephone Reassurance program, designed to monitor the well-being of frail, homebound, elderly residents through daily telephone contact.

Volunteers receive one or several names of elderly needing this service in their calling area. The length of each call is determined by the volunteer caller and the recipient. Additionally, callers are provided pertinent information and instruction on handling possible emergency situations.

"This program offers volunteers an opportunity to make a valuable difference in the life of an elderly person without leaving home," stated an Agency spokesman.

For further details, persons may call Melda Bittinger, telephone reassurance coordinator, at: 334-9431, 746-8824, or 895-3447.

Caldwell Receives C&P Scholarship

Brenda K. Caldwell, Deer Park, has been named a recipient of the C & P Telephone Scholarships at Frostburg State University.

The awards are made to full-time, entering FSU freshman who are residents of Allegany or Garrett County. The funds are administered through the Frostburg State University Foundation, Inc.

Ms. Caldwell was graduated this spring from Southern High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society and winner of NAA Awards for science, foreign languages, and music. She was a member of the marching and concert bands, and has been named as a President's Scholar at FSU.

Jail Inmate Found Guilty On CDS Charges

A jail inmate was found guilty on CDS charges last week after he was arrested on July 3, while on work release, for inhaling a dangerous substance.

Dannie A. Stemple, 36, Oakland, was found by his father with a plastic bag containing model glue and some of the glue on his face. Also on the scene were two empty glue containers.

Deputies from the Sheriff's office determined that Stemple had been inhaling harmful vapors from the glue.

He received a guilty verdict and a sentence of six months in jail from Judge Jack Turney.

Jerry L. Parrish, 19, Stonewood, W.Va., was sentenced last week for the theft of two pairs of skis and poles at Wisp Resort, McHenry, in January. Parrish was given a probation before judgement ruling and is sentenced to 90 days in jail.

According to court records, Parrish had two accomplices in the crime.

A Kitzmiller woman was given a probation before judgement for her CDS arrest of last October. Court records say that Lora L. Riggleman, 23, had been the passenger in a vehicle that was stopped and the driver arrested for DWI. A subsequent search of Riggleman's purse revealed a partially smoked marijuana cigarette and two unidentified white tablets.

Riggleman was sentenced to 48 hours in prison and given a fine of $50.

Robert C. James, Swanton, also received a probation before judgement verdict last week from Judge Turney after he was arrested for doing contracted home improvement work without a license. James was sentenced to 90 days unsupervised probation.

David W. Lantz, 48, Oakland, who was arrested in May for maintaining a junkyard near Hutton without a permit, was instructed by Turney last week to remove the junk within 30 days. The case was put on the stet docket.

Also listed in district court this week were numerous hunting offenses by several Grantsville men who were arrested in connection with the DNR police's "Operation Red Fox." For details, see separate story.

Correction Noted

Last week's paper carried a story about Rebecca Schrier receiving the GCC Board of Trustees scholarship for this academic year. In the story her parents were incorrectly indetified. She is the daughter of Hugh Schrier and Bonnie Lou Schrier, Kitzmiller.

Grants For Home Maintenance And Repair Available

The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) has announced that $291,900 is now available for matching grants under the state's Home Maintenance and Repair (HOMAR) program for FY 1991.

The HOMAR program, established in 1986 by the General Assembly, supplies funds to help provide minor safety and security repairs to the homes of elderly or handicapped homeowners with very limited incomes.

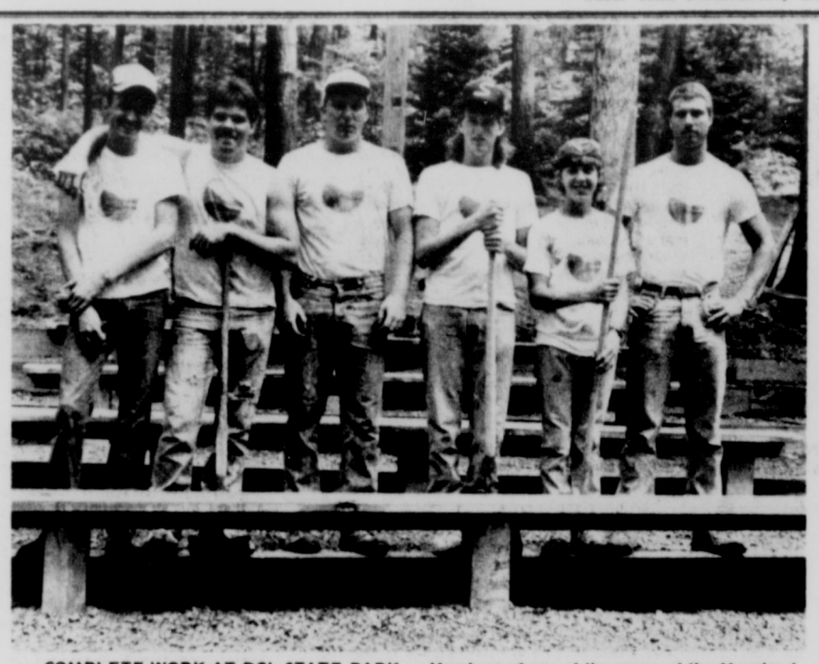
Governor William Donald Schaefer praised the HOMAR program as "an example of state and local governments and individual citizens, all working together to provide a vital service. This is a true grassroots person-to-person program. Thanks to the HOMAR program, hundreds of elderly and handicapped Marylanders, who cannot do their repairs, receive home repair services which help them maintain their own homes and keep their independence," the Governor explained.

The program is funded and administered through DHCD's Community Assistance Administration, but each HOMAR program is organized and managed locally. Presently, there are more than 25 programs operating across the state.

Political subdivisions, local community development agencies, and nonprofit corporations may apply for up to $25,000 to establish or continue a home maintanence and repair service for the elderly and handicapped homeowners in their communities. Grants are awarded on a competitive basis. The HOMAR funds must be matched by the local agency.

To help organizations understand the HOMAR program and successfully apply for funding, DHCD's Community Assistance Administration will conduct a free pre-application training session on Friday, August 31, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the State Department of Agriculture Building in Annapolis. The session will explain who is eligible, what the service parameters are, what expenses may be covered by a HOMAR grant, and other details. Pre-registration is required.

For a copy of the HOMAR Program Manual, an application, or more information about the pre-application training session, organizations should contact: Glenda Keel, HOMAR Program Coordinator, Community Assistance Administration, DHCD, 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, MD 21401, or call (301) 974-2955.



COMPLETE WORK AT DCL STATE PARK — Members of one of the crews of the Maryland Conservation Corps recently completed the construction of a new amphitheatre to replace the old one at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The new one includes terraced rows of benches, each 60 feet long and four feet wide, with an eight-inch rise. Each bench has been set in concrete to a depth of 30 inches. According to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, the job was the equivalent of 800 worker hours. The Conservation Corps provides crews comprised of young men and women from all over the state to work in various state parks, building, clearing and improving facilities and trails. Shown above, left to right, are members of the Deep Creek Lake State Park crew, Monte Bowman, Swanton; Eric House, Friendsville; Jerry Merrick, Swanton; Chip Miller, Swanton; Keith Yutzy, Swanton, and Joe Schmidle, crew chief, McHenry. Not pictured are Dale House, Friendsville, and Julius Yutzy, Swanton.

National Parks Day Slated At Fort Necessity

Saturday, August 25, 1990, marks the 74th anniversary of the founding of the National Park Service (August 25, 1916). To commemorate that event, Fort Necessity National Battlefield will waive all entrance fees to the park.

In celebration of National Park Day, Fort Necessity National Battlefield will sponsor a day of special programs held at the Mount Washington Tavern, an early stagecoach stop and inn located on park grounds. Visitors may observe Philip Lucas, a traditional gunsmith, from Mars, Pa., constructing a muzzle-loading flintlock rifle using techniques over a century old. Joe and Melva Gillispie, of Kingwood, W.Va., will demonstrate the art of powder horn making and skrimshawing, or engraving of the horns. There will also be an exhibit of authentic Pennsylvania rifles, Pittsburgh trade guns, powder horns and hunting bags. Vince Capen, a Fairchance gunsmith, will be among the exhibitors. These activities will take place in addition to our regular schedule of tours and musket firing demonstrations. The Visitor Center and Mount Washington Tavern will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This Saturday, August 25, will also be the last day of Fort Necessity's summer season. Starting August 26, the Visitor Center and the Mount Washington Tavern will be open daily from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Fort Necessity National Battlefield is located 11 miles east of Uniontown, Pa., on US Route 40.

This Girl I Know

was engaged for nine months,
She said that she would love no other,
But I think she was wrong, she didn't love him, for Saturday she married another.
There is something I need to know,
But I don't mean to pick,
If she loved my uncle like she said,
Why did she marry so quick?

State's Economic Performance Tops National Rates

Maryland's economic performance from 1980-88, as measured by per capita income and job creation, was superior to the national performance, according to data released this week by the Maryland Office of Planning.

Per capita income in Maryland jumped from $10,790 in 1980, to $19,580 in 1988, an 81.5 percent increase. Nationally, per capita income increased from $9,919 in 1980 to $16,490 in 1988, a 66.2 percent increase.

In Garrett County, average income increased from $7,053 in 1980 to $11,731 in 1988, a jump of 66.3%. However, Garrett County's per capita income still ranks 24th out of the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City.

In the area of job creation, from 1980 to 1988 the state registered an increase of 556,000 full and part-time jobs, a 27.1 percent increase. Nationally, full and part-time employment grew by 18 percent during the same reporting period. The attraction of Maryland as a strong employment base is also reflected in in-migration of new residents to the state.

"Maryland's economic performance during the late-1980's was very impressive. We are fortunate to be living in a dynamic state offering abundant, well-paying jobs," Ronald M. Kreitner, director of Maryland Office of Planning said.

"But as Maryland continues to grow we must never lose sight of the need to manage future growth to ensure a healthy and vibrant economy and environment for future generations," he added.

Montgomery County remains Maryland's most affluent county with a per capita income in 1988 of $27,831, an 83.5 percent increase over the 1980 figure of $15,168. Somerset County registered the highest percentage increase — 108.7 percent — going from $5,914 in 1980 to $12,343 in 1988, but still ranks 23rd among all jurisdictions in per capita income.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers case of the week concerns the breaking and entering of the Sue Nash residence on the Oakland-Sang Run Road which occurred in January, and the theft of household furniture and items totaling $2878. Some of the items included paint sprayers, a police scanner, and dinnerware.

There was an additional amount of $210 in damage inflicted as a result of the entry.

All leads in this case are exhausted. Persons having any information in this or any other unsolved crime are asked to call Crime Solvers at 334-1475. Callers do not have to testify in court or leave their names. If a caller's tip leads to an arrest, rewards up to $1000 are available, according to a spokesman.

OVERPRICING WOES!

"Since most buyers make low offers on a home, I should price my home high to start — then be prepared to accept a lower offer." Those thoughts are echoed by many home sellers, who are about to overprice their homes — unnecessarily.

Why is overpricing detrimental to both buyers and sellers? After all, isn't it true that buyers like to bargain for price? Experience has shown that the opposite is actually true. Buyers generally want to purchase their home at a "fair" price, not necessarily at a bargain price. When they recognize that a home is priced fairly compared to other similar homes currently on the market, they are more likely to make a "full price offer" as their first and only offer!

Most buyers compare homes before making a purchase, thus they may become suspicious of a home with an unusually high price tag. Even if they agree to purchase the home, they may have misgivings later about the price paid. Such feelings are brought on by low appraisals requiring higher down-payments, and further comparisons with other available homes.

From the sellers' viewpoint, overpricing may also bring second thoughts and high stress levels. First, overpricing encourages "low-ball" offers, or worse — no offers at all. Next, overpricing helps sell other homes which are priced fairly. Remember, most buyers comparison shop before buying. Finally, when a buyer does agree to pay a higher price, mortgage rejection may result when the lender receives an appraisal showing a lower value.

Moral: To experience price satisfaction in the purchase of a home, comparison shop before making a decision. To sell at the best possible price, be informed about current home prices in your area, then price your home accordingly.

Higher Farm Expenses Will Not Cause Higher Food Prices

American farmers face higher energy costs and lower commodity prices due to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait. However, higher farm expenses will not trigger higher food prices, according to the American Farm Bureau (AFBF).

The price farmers paid for diesel fuel jumped by as much as 17 cents a gallon in some areas of the nation last week, as crude oil prices topped $28 a barrel. According to AFBF, each 15-a-barrel increase in the price of crude oil means an additional $1-billion boost in farm operating costs. This $1-billion projection covers fuel costs for the cultivation and harvesting tasks such as trucking, irrigation and crop drying, according to AFBF Research Economist Terry Francl.

He said farmers typically spend about $4.5 billion to $5 billion each year on fuels and oils. Because of that, each $5-a-barrel rise will increase farmers' energy expenses by 20 percent. This projected increase does not include cost increases for oil-based farm inputs such as agricultural chemicals and fertilizers.

On the whole, energy, fertilizers, and pesticides account for nearly 15 percent of all farm production expenses. Because of agriculture's reliance on petroleum products, AFBF President Dean Kleckner has conveyed fuel price concerns to the petroleum industry.

In a letter Monday to the American Petroleum Institute, Kleckner cautioned that unreasonable increases could encourage government oil price controls or new energy taxes.

"We learned from the experience of the 1970's that government management of energy supplies and prices is synonymous with higher prices, energy shortages and supply interruptions," Kleckner stated. "Farm Bureau urges you to discourage the use of recent events in the Persian Gulf to raise petroleum prices beyond what the market dictates."

Since the initial crude oil price jump of nearly $10 a barrel, prices have settled into a range of only $5-$6 per barrel higher. Prices have stabilized, partly due to an announcement that Saudi Arabia and other OPEC nations will increase oil production. However, any threat to Saudi oil fields could send prices upward once again.

An economic recession caused by higher energy prices could spell more bad news for farmers. A recession could send bearish waves through commodity markets. A recession also would hit livestock producers. Consumer demand for beef and pork are tied to consumer income, which usually falls with employment figures during recessions.

Until the loss of oil from Iraq and Kuwait is offset by increased output elsewhere, energy prices will likely remain high and American farmers will sustain higher operating costs. It is unlikely the farmer's share of food-cost increases will be passed on to consumers.

Since the farmer receives only 24 cents of the average U.S. food dollar, consumers could expect to pay for increases in other energy related expenses, added between the farm and the grocer's shelf. This includes higher costs for refrigeration, manufacturing, transportation and even lighting the supermarkets themselves.

"American consumers should not see much of an increase in food prices from the farm end," said AFBF Trade Economist Mickey Paggi. "If agriculture was the only component, consumers would see a decline in food prices due to the loss of the Iraqi market for farm products."

Nevertheless, Frank Panyko of the Food Institute, a food industry organization which specializes in all aspects of food distribution, said consumers can expect to see an increase in food prices. He estimated a 20 percent increase in petroleum prices, similar to what recently occurred, will result in about a one percent increase in consumer food costs.

That conservative estimate is based on "zero inflation" for labor, raw materials and packaging. Kanyko explained higher oil prices eventually could raise other costs in the food chain, including labor — the largest single expense in food prices, accounting for 34 percent of the consumer's food dollar.

Larger domestic food supplies, caused by the U.S. trade boycott of Iraq, should offset some of those increased post-farm, food production costs, according to AFBF's Paggi.

"United States farmers are losing a significant market for products in surplus, such as wheat and rice," he explained.

In 1989, Iraq accounted for $726 million in U.S. farm trade. Major U.S. farm experts included: wheat, $170 million; rice, $133 million; feedgrains, $86 million; oilseeds and meal, $71 million; feeds and fodder, $87 million; tobacco, $36 million; dairy products, $16 million; egg, $15 million; tallow, $11 million; and $98 million in additional products.

Of those areas, rice and egg producers could take the biggest hit. Iraq made up more than 17 percent of the total export market for U.S. eggs in 1989. Iraq also bought nearly 14 percent of all the rice exported by the United States last year.

Even before Iraq invaded Kuwait, future sales to Iraq had been put in doubt by its failure to repay approximately $2 billion in U.S. government export credit guarantees.

The United States is now pinning hopes on the trade embargo. If food is the main bargaining chip, the embargo may take longer than originally expected. Instead of a 3-6 month supply of grain as was widely believed, grain industry experts now estimate the Iraqis have an eight month supply of wheat and coarse grain, and a 10 month rice supply.

LAST MINUTE PREPARATION — Just one more job that had to be done before showtime last week at the Garrett County Fair was shearing the sheep, and Ron and Debbie Fulk are pictured relieving this sheep of its woolen sweater. Winners of both the youth and adult classes of these clean, white (and much cooler) sheep will be reported in future issues of The Republican.

1990 Maryland Farm Queen To Be Crowned At The Maryland State Fair

Sunday, August 26, the Maryland Farm Queen, Miss Susan Porter, will have the honor of crowning her successor, the 1990 Maryland Farm Queen, at 7 p.m., in the Cow Palace at the State Fair.

Young ladies representing 23 Maryland counties, including Garrett County Farm Queen Melissa Thomas, will compete for this renowned title and a scholarship worth up to $2,000.

Contestants between the ages of sixteen and nineteen have earned their place in the 1990 Maryland Farm Queen Contest by winning local county contests sponsored by their Farm Bureau. These young ladies will be critiqued, during a two-day competition, primarily on their agricultural knowledge and experience. Each must spontaneously respond to a "fish bowl" question either related to career issues or specific farming problems. Poise, communication skills, and civic involvement are secondary requirements.

The 1990 Maryland Farm Queen and her four runners-up will be selected by three judges. The criterion for judging are as follows:

Farm, Home and Community Responsibilities 25 points; General Appearance 25 points; Personality, Manner and Friendliness 25 points; Speaking Ability 25 points.

Orientation began Tuesday, August 14, to inform contestants of their responsibilities and to instruct them on the prepdarations for the August 25 and 26 competition.

The 1990 Maryland Farm Queen will be present throughout the 10-day State Fair, to award prizes, and mingle with fairgoers, dignitaries, and media representatives. The runners-up will assist the Farm Queen with handing out awards and serving as hostesses for dignitaries.

The 1990 Maryland Farm Queen's responsibilities will continue throughout the year as she will participate in a number of activities representing Maryland agriculture.

4-H Showcase Set At Maryland State Fair

True to their motto, Maryland 4-H members will be "making the best better" in their activities this year at the Maryland State Fair, which begins Aug. 25 at Timonium.

There's new, improved lighting in the Cow Palace, where 4-H livestock exhibitors will parade their animals in judging competition; a first-ever public address system for the 4-H Animal World pavilion; and a new event — "4-H Talent Explosion" — on Friday night, Aug. 31, in the Cow Palace.

The talent event will feature 12 performances by 4-H members selected from among 30 entries. Each performer will receive a State Fair medallion, patterned after an Olympic gold medal. Between performances, State Fair medallions also will be presented to champions in various 4-H indoor exhibit categories.

The talent show will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, Aug. 28, the second annual "Showcase of Champions" will feature 4-H and FFA exhibitors of champion and reserve champion animals parading in the outdoor horse show arena. Champion chickens will ride on a horse-drawn wagon with the champion pigs. Each exhibitor will receive a State Fair madallion.

The showcase starts at 7:30 p.m. It will be preceded at 6:15 p.m. by a concert by the "Commodores," the U.S. Navy Band's jazz ensemble from Washington, D.C.

The annual 4-H livestock sale will get under way in the Cow Palace at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 29. A new informational brochure is available this year for potential buyers.

Top 4-H sewing project members from every Maryland county will model their garments during the annual 4-H Fashion Revue on Thursday, Aug. 30, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Cow Palace.

Betty L. Bures is state coordinator for 4-H programs and activities for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service. She explained that the new lighting in the Cow Palace — a multi-vapor, metal-halite system — will make things brighter and permit better color distinction.

"THE FAIR JUST PLAYED US OUT!" — By Wednesday night of last week, everyone needed a rest at the Garrett County Fair, including this champion cow Shelley and her young friends. Resting on Shelley (with no objections from the cow) is Zachary Cupler and Alicia DeWitt. Complete results of the Garrett County Holstein Show will be featured in a future issue of The Republican.

The Price of Oil is Important

Sharp increases in energy costs in 1974 and gain in the early '80's helped push the economy into a recession. It could happen again. At the very least, the current oil crisis will push up inflation to some extent. One rough rule of thumb is that each $5 increase in the price of crude oil ultimately results in a 1% increase in the Consumer Price Index.

The outlook for costs of farm inputs has changed for the worse. Anolther rule of thumb: for every $5 increase in oil costs, farmers pay $900 million more for fuel, fertilizer and pesticides. That averages about $450 per U.S. farm. Some of you pay much more. Add transportation and manufacturing costs and the consuming public ultimately picks up a $2 billion food tab to cover the $5 increase in oil prices.

Fall Armyworm Alert

Corn, sorghum and grasses are the fall armyworm's preferred food, but it will attack alfalfa, all beans, turnips, spinach, tomatoes, peppers, cabbage and all grains. Each female moth lays about 1,000 eggs. The egg masses are almost always laid on the underside of leaves.

The Fall Armyworm is a tropical insect that winters in Florida and southern portions of the Gulf states. Small populations usually remain active in that area of the country from February through April, going through their life cycles producing generation after generation. Migrants fly up through the southern states and infest other host crops, thereby beginning a new infestation and life cycle. It is interesting to note that the female armyworm, once she is mated, generally prefers to fly several hundred miles before she initiates egg laying. In flight, she may encounter northerly winds enabling her to cover longer distances. This is the reason the insect is a problem even in Canada. For information on control of this insect, call my office.

Old lace is back. It's a classic. It's avant garde. It can complete almost any look you want. Fifty years ago lace was popular too, but some of the ways it was used may never be in vogue again. For example, at that time almost every chair had antimacassars draped over its back and arms. The lace that made up these antimacassars can now be used for other purposes. They can be transformed into lovely window valances, for example — just attach the lace arm pieces to either side of the center part that covered the chair or sofa back.

It should be noted that antique lace will require very special handling. The condition and fragility of the fabric may depend not only on age, but also on how the lace was stored and used. Therefore, the cleaning of the lace calls for extra consideration and the proper procedure. Such information may be available from textile conservation departments of museums or universities.

If the lace is sturdy and in good condition, laundering in a washer on a gentle cycle may be possible. Use warm water and detergent or soap and place small lace items in a mesh laundry bag, suggests The Soap and Detergent Association.

Pieces of old lace are now being exhibited in almost every way. People are framing them, sewing them onto sachet covers, attaching them to pillow covers and using them in window dressings.

One of the fun parts about using lace in unconventional ways is that, if treated with care, lace can be used for its original purpose again in the future. Take beautiful tablecloths, for example. They are seldom used except for special formal or holiday meals, so why not turn one into a bedcover? Then, just before that big dinner party, the cloth can be washed and put on the table.

Another suggestion is to use the lace tablecloth as a window curtain. To keep the tablecloth intact, just fold one end over several inches from the top and baste loosely below the fold to create a casing. Feed the curtain rod through the pocket created; the material that hangs down will serve as a valance. When it's time for a new window treatment, carefully remove the stitches and the lace curtain becomes a tablecloth once again.

Old lace need not be in perfect shape to be recycled. A tablecloth with holes or stains can be made into an attractive window treatment if used as a swag over a window. Long dresser runners with stains in the center can be used as cafe curtains. Simply cut around the stain, following a motif, then make a casing for the curtain rod. Use miscellaneous lace pieces to form a decorative collage by sewing them onto a large piece of linen or other top-quality fabric. The result can be a unique bedcovering or a wall hanging.

Landscaping With Shrubs
by Bonnie Fedde

A bewildering variety of shrubs awaits the buyer who is eager to have a picture-perfect yard. It is soon apparent that shrubs require a sizeable investment in money. A shrub which dies, (or worse, lives on as an overgrown eyesore) is a costly mistake. A shrub's permanence should be its virtue; the right specimen in the right location will bring lasting beauty. With a knowledge of shrub characteristics and an analysis of soil and other environmental conditions affecting growth and performance, the gardener can create a beautiful, nearly maintenance-free landscape which complements both home and grounds.

A shrub is defined as a woody perennial with branches just above ground level. It may be either evergreen or deciduous. Within each classification there are many variations of height, spread and form in addition to variations of color and texture of leaf and bark. The shape of evergreens as well as the flowering habit determine their use in landscape planning. It is the mixing and grouping of these variations that permit the gardener to paint a pleasing landscape picture. A master plan or graph paper is invaluable in developing a landscape design.

Because evergreens retain their leaves throughout winter, they add color to an otherwise bleak scene. While pines and yews are commonly known evergreens, pampas grass with its long, narrow grass-like leaves and huge plumes in autumn, as well as vinca, a dense flowering ground cover, are in this classification. Suggested for Garrett County are: low and trailing — blue rug juniper, medium spreading — spreading yew, round compact — mugho pine, horizontal spreading — Pfitzer juniper, and upright — arbovitas. Rhododendron deserve special note since Garrett County is blessed by their color each spring. They range in height from two to twenty feet and come in an astonishing variety of bloom color. Their specific requirements include acidic fertile soil, good drainage, partial shade, protection from winds and extra water during dry periods. A spot near pine trees often provides for these needs.

Among deciduous shrubs, which lose their leaves in winter, suggested for Garrett County are: rounded — euonymous alatas, erect — lilac and dogwood (Anthracnose, a usually fatal affliction is found in our county prompting some nurserymen to substitute the Bradford pear for dogwood), arching — weeping forsythia, and spreading — cotoneaster.

Every shrub has unique requirements that must be met in order for them to thrive. Each species requires a certain pH level. This level or acidity or alkalinity in the soil can be tested by the county extension office or with home kits available at yard and garden stores. Soil texture is another variable, and can range from friable to clay-like. Other particular environmental factors affecting a shrub include the amount of sun and moisture required, its susceptibility to cold and drying winds and its hardiness. Garrett County is described as zone 5; plants here must be able to withstand -20° to 10°. Winds may prevent unstaked plants from establishing roots, and north and east winds can dry evergreens.

Resources available to gardeners needing information about shrubs and growing conditions include local nurseries, illustrated and informative books at libraries and bookstores, and nursery catalogs. Excellent pamphlets can be found at the county extension office.

Local Houses Improved By Visitors Donating Time, Talents To Habitat

It was a warm week in July when 54 persons came from Virginia, Pennsylvania, and eastern Maryland to Garrett County to participate in Habitat for Humanity's work camp and rehabilitate homes for elderly and needy families in the area. By the end of the week, a number of construction and repair jobs had been completed, according to Don Little, chairman of the Building Committee.

The largest group in the work camp came from the First Baptist Church in Waynesboro, Va. This group of 11 adults and 13 teenagers worked at two different locations installing a ceiling, building a porch and a side porch, installing a new roof, closet and doors, painting the inside of a house, and rebuilding a basement wall. Fifteen adults from the Westminster Church in Erie, Pa., worked to install a new floor and carpet in an Accident trailer.

Two Maryland churches also sent groups to the work camp. A group of two adults and four teenagers from the Hughes United Methodist Church of Wheaton repaired the side of a house and built a wheel chair ramp at the Swanton Senior Center. Another Maryland group of five adults and four teenagers from the United Methodist Church in Damascus built a deck, replaced windows and door, installed a shower, and built a wheel chair ramp for two local residences.

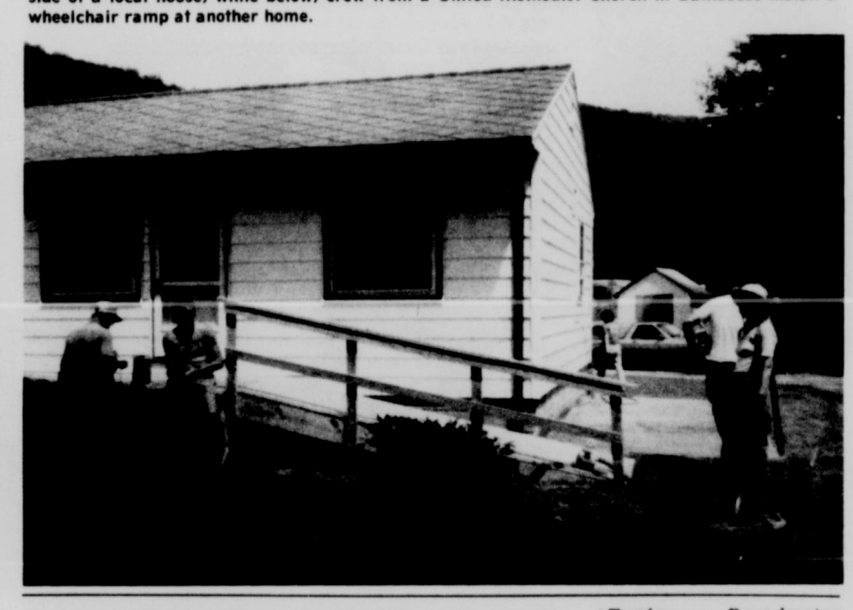
Even though they worked hard every day, the campers said they found their week in Garrett County to be "very rewarding." Barbara Ronksley, of the Erie group, said, "This was my first work camp, and it has been a tremendous experience. The hospitality of the people here has been terrific."

Nancy Watters, of the same group, stated, "This was the toughest work of my life, but we have all grown to love the lady we worked for. This is a beautiful area, and it is interesting that renovations are so badly needed."

A veteran camper, Lester Meyers of Wheaton, has been coming to work camps for about seven years and still finds the experience to be very fulfilling. "You leave your mark in Garrett County," he said. "The Habitat concept is a Christian concept that fits directly with church work."

A first-time camper from this group, Charles Nash, echoed the thought. "It's good to know you're helping people. We don't know how well off we are."

Many Garrett County residents helped with the work camp by providing meals for the campers. Members of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland served breakfast every morning, and member of St. Peter's Church packed box lunches. Dinners were served in the following other area churches: Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, Swanton United Methodist Church, Zion Lutheran Church, Swanton Mennonite Church, Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, Oak Park Church of the Brethren, St. Mark's Lutheran Church, and Oakland Church of Christ. The work campers were housed in the Wisp Ski Lodge, courtesy of Helmuth Heise, and in the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident.



VOLUNTEERS FOR HABITAT — Persons from three different states have once again spent time in Garrett County this summer to serve as volunteers for the local chapter of Habitat for Humanity. Above, workers from Hughes United Methodist Church in Wheaton insulate and repair the side of a local house, while below, crew from a United Methodist Church in Damascus install a wheelchair ramp at another home.

PORNOGRAPHY

With the onset of pornography, and in direct proportion to it, go our moral standards toward the bottom. Ted Bundy, known killer, got his kicks from pornography, and it, by his own statement, was the direct cause of his final act of killing for excitement. Just before his death, he gave a story of how he was motivated into such ghastly acts — normally unheard of by human beings.

Now, Holiday Inns are presenting pornography in their rooms and it behooves any American to boycott staying at such places.

If you happen to be a Christian, it also behooves you to speak when this type of flagrant indecency exists.

Now the works of the flesh are evident, which are: adultery, fornication, uncleanness, licentiousness, idolatry, sorcery, hatred, contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, dissensions, heresies, envy, murders, drunkenness, revelries, and the like, of which I tell you beforehand, just as I told you in time past, that those who practice such things will not inherit the kingdom of God. Galatins 6/19. These are heavy words, but they are for us to avoid and it is an offense against God to so do.

Begin today, live for Him; He died for you, can you not give Him just a few years of true worship, praise, and living as He desires us to do. Think of the years of eternity and the rewards you will receive.

It, of course, is assumed that you have accepted Christ as your personal savior and so confessed with your mouth. Romans 10/9. Once saved, we can begin to live for Him — but a token of return for what He did for us.

Time For A Change

Elect
Brenda Butscher
County Commissioner

BRENDA'S OPINION

In 1978, my incumbent opponent was elected to the office of county commissioners, with an operating budget of $7,730,442. Today, under his leadership, the county budget has almost tripled to the amount of $122,516,000. Now, I ask you: Have our taxes increased?

As commissioner, I will be able to review the records that we, as tax payers, have not been privy to. I feel there must be a waste in county government. If so, I will work hard to truly reduce your tax dollars.

While attending the fair this past week, I "talked issues" with tax payers from all walks of life. The number 1 issue is the lack of communications with the public in the commissioners office. Other issues discussed were: Why the county kept a 5 million dollar surplus a secret from most taxpayers?; Why isn't the salary of Robert Fousek publicly disclosed?; How many county vehicles have been purhcased over the last 12 years for county employees to enjoy, not only for on-the-job but for family and pleasure?; What was the cost of the recent MACO convention held in Ocean City?; How many employees and their families enjoyed that weekend in Ocean City at the county's expenses?

There were many other questions: on education, the bridge to Herrington Manor, county roads, property rights, recycling and on the wetlands issue.

As your commissioner, my office will always be open to you. I will be budgeting your tax dollars and you will have a right to know how I am spending your money.

In my opinion, when you consider who is running for county commissioner in District 3, you only have one choice. If you agree, support and vote for Brenda Butscher.

IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE!

KITTY CROSSING? This little lady had her hands full during the third annual Best of the West Triathlon this past Saturday morning, as her kittens kept dashing out on the roadway in front of the bikers and runners in the race. The competition, which included a .4-mile swim in Broadford Lake, a 13.5-mile bike ride through Oakland and the surrounding countryside, and a four-mile run out and back on Dennett Road and Eighth Street, drew nearly 300 triathletes from several states. Commissioners Request Local Wetlands Office Be Established

The Garrett County Commissioners this week announced that a letter has been sent to Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Dr. Torrey C. Brown requesting that DNR set up an office in Garrett County "strictly devoted to non-tidal wetlands activities and permit administration."

The commissioners stated that since Garrett County will be impacted greatly by the wetlands regulations, serious consideration has been given to regulation at the county level. However, the commissioners reported that because of fiscal and time constraints in adopting a program at the local level, the county would not seek that delegation at present.

The letter stated, "We do, however, feel strongly about the potential impact to the citizens of Garrett County and are resolved to monitor implementation of the wetlands regulation, investigate the possibility of providing a wetlands delineation service for those property owners wishing to build a single family residence and to continue our efforts in an advisory role for those citizens and organizations seeking information and assistance."

It was further stated that the establishment of an office by DNR in Garrett County would be "mutually beneficial" to the county and state because state officials would be able to monitor and manage wetland activity in the county, and the local community would benefit by having direct contact with permit procedures and requirements.

The commissioners concluded the letter by stating that if budget constraints prevented the department from implementing the program this year, they would appreciate consideration in the formulation of next year's budget.

A letter was sent by the commissioners to District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards requesting that he initiate an amendment to the Non-Tidal

Lunch Prices For Public Schools To Remain The Same

The prices for student breakfasts and lunches in the 1990-91 school year will remain the same as last school year, according to Richard Buckingham, Assistant in the Food Service Department of Garrett County Public Schools.

The prices are: elementary school lunch, 85 cents; middle school lunch, 95 cents; high school lunch, $1.00. Breakfast for elementary, middle, and high school students will be 50 cents. Reduced lunch for all students will once again be 20 cents, and reduced breakfast will be 10 cents. Adult lunch will be $2.05 and adult breakfast will be 95 cents.

Ice milk and ice cream products at all schools will be 45 cents. A la carte milk will be 30 cents for white milk and 35 cents for chocolate milk. A la carte lists for middle and high schools will be posted in several conspicuous locations throughout each school for the student's information.

Other areas of interest include a salad bar at Dennett Road Elementary, according to Buckingham, which will begin on Monday, Sept. 10. Breakfast programs will begin at the Northern Middle and Northern High schools beginning on Sept. 4.

The Food Service will be satelliting (catering to) Kitzmiller Elementary School this school year.

Another addition will be the choice of an alternative pizza lunch at the middle schools and Northern High School. The alternative pizza lunch program will not operate at Southern High School (grades 11 and 12) during the renovation, due to the lack of facilities.

Persons with questions or concerns may call the Food Service Department of the Garrett County Board of Education at 334-8017, weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

See separate story in this week's edition of The Republican concerning free and reduced lunch programs for eligible students.

Former Local Resident Dies Following Crash

A former resident of Oakland died Monday, Aug. 27, at the Elvis Presley Trauma Center in Memphis, Tenn., after being critically injured when his plane crashed while he was crop dusting in Arkansas Aug. 18.

George W. "Bill" Schuncke IV, 37, Laurel, was a licensed pilot and was working for his father's crop dusting operation when his plane struck a power wire and crashed. Schunke sustained multiple fractures and severe burns over 70 percent of his body.

A graduate of Southern High School, he was a student at the University of Maryland and within one semester of obtaining a bachelor of science degree in computer science. He was a former member of the Wisp Ski Patrol.

Born March 10, 1953, in Detroit, Mich., he was the son of Michael F. Schuncke, Osceola, Ark., and the late Mary J. (Davis) Schuncke. He was the grandson of Lillian Davis, who with June Grimes, operated the Mtn. Lake Park Hotel during the 1940s and 50s.

Besides his father, he is survived by his wife, Megan Eastman Schuncke; a son, William Davis Eastman Schunke, 4; and two sisters, Susan Fraser, Seoul, Korea, and Mary C. Schuncke, Sacramento, Calif.

A graveside service will be conducted this Friday, Aug. 31, at 10 a.m. at the Oakland Cemetery by the Rev. Father Martin Feild, of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Bert Parks — Garrett County — Atlantic City, N.J. — Kimberly Ann Grimm — Miss America! What do all of these diverse faces and places have in common? If you haven't already guessed, each is associated with the 70th Annual Miss America Pageant, now being held in Atlantic City, N.J.

Miss Maryland 1990

Kimberly Ann Grimm, the current Miss Maryland, has already arrived in Atlantic City along with 49 other young women — one representing each of the 50 states — to compete for the 1991 Miss America title. Miss Grimm is the first resident of Garrett County to be named Miss Maryland. Kim, a resident of Mountain Lake Park, is also a student at Frostburg State University. She is a junior transfer student there, having graduated from Allegany Community College in 1989. Miss Maryland 1990 is a computer science major at Frostburg, where she already has designed a computer software system for use in the Continuing Education Department. She hopes to complete her education there and eventually pursue a master's degree in computer science.

70th Anniversary Traditions Return

Since this is the 70th anniversary of the Miss America Pageant, many traditions from past pageants are being revived. The return of singer-comedian Bert Parks to the Miss America stage seems to be attracting the most attention. Parks will be making his first appearance since 1980 when he was fired after having served as host for 20 years.

This year he will be back to

Care Group To Host Gypsy Moth Forum

The environmental group CARE (Concerned Area Residents for the Environment) announced this week that plans are finalized for a gypsy moth forum to be held Saturday, September 8, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, at the Community and Continuing Education Center at Garrett Community College. The forum is open to the public, and coffee and doughnuts will be available beginning at 9:30 a.m.

"It's been a tough year for trees and people," stated CARE President Larry Bruch. "Since the gypsy moth is probably here to stay," he said, "we might as well learn how to live with it."

Speakers for the event include Dr. Ray Hicks, West Virginia University professor in the Forestry Division, who will present an overview of the history and life cycle of the gypsy moth.

Second on the agenda will be Dr. Kurt Gottschalk, project leader of Silvicultural Options of Gypsy Moth Control, U.S. Forest Service.

Dr. Ralph Webb, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Beltsville Research Center, will then discuss entomological interventions. Both Webb and Gottschalk have conducted research in Garrett County.

The final speaker will be Susan Cooper, staff ecologist with the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides.

Jim Simms, Garrett County Extension Agent, and Dave Cohen, Maryland Department

Accident Toddler Fatally Injured While Playing

An Accident toddler died Friday, August 24, 1990, in the Fairfax (Va.) County Hospital, just several hours after she was injured while playing at her grandparents' home in Virginia.

Born May 12, 1987, in Rockville, she was the daughter of Mark Corey and Melissa (Guerra) Bergstrom, Accident.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two brothers, Mark Bergstrom and her twin, Michael Bergstrom, both at home; her maternal grandparents, Serf and Connie Guerra, Midland, Va.; her maternal great-grandmother, Angela Guerra, Ludlow, Mass.; and her paternal great-grandparents, Ambassador and Mrs. John M. Area Man Drowns While Swimming In Potomac River

A Barton man drowned Sunday in the Potomac River near Barnum, W.Va., at a popular swimming area called Blue Hole.

Michael E. Kyle, 30, was swimming with family and friends when he disappeared under water on Saturday evening, sources say.

Scuba divers from the Ridgeley, W.Va. and Elk Garden, W.Va. fire departments and Department of Natural Resources Police searched Saturday night and Sunday morning before recovering the body shortly after noon. Firefighters from Piedmont, W.Va. and Bloomington also responded.

A volunteer diver was injured while aiding in the search operation, according to police reports.

Ralph Canan, New Creek, W.Va., who is not affiliated with either of the squads conducting the recovery operations, signaled to the other divers that he was in distress.

Canan was rescued within a few minutes, resuscitated by Elk Garden volunteers, and transported by Maryland State Police helicopter to Cumberland's Sacred Heart Hospital. He has since been released.

Kyle was born Nov. 10, 1959, in Keyser, W.Va., and was the son of Dorothy Mae (Blye) Kyle, Port St. Lucie, Fla., and the late Joseph Kyle.

Also surviving are his wife, Heidi (Schramm) Kyle; one son, Michael Kyle, Jr., at home; two brothers, Joseph Kyle, Westernport; and Kenneth Kyle, Florida; three sisters, Lori Arbogast and Julie Kephart, both of Florida; and Jotta Kyle, Keyser, W.Va.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Boal-Warnick Memorial Chapel, Barton, by the Rev. Christopher Crawford.

Kyle was interred at Laurel Hill Cemetery, Moscow Mills.

wetlands regulations, serious consideration has been given to regulation at the county level. However, the commissioners reported that because of fiscal and time constraints in adopting a program at the local level, the county would not seek that delegation at present.

The letter stated, "We do, however, feel strongly about the potential impact to the citizens of Garrett County and are resolved to monitor implementation of the wetlands regulation, investigate the possibility of providing a wetlands delineation service for those property owners wishing to build a single family residence and to continue our efforts in an advisory role for those citizens and organizations seeking information and assistance."

It was further stated that the establishment of an office by DNR in Garrett County would be "mutually beneficial" to the county and state because state officials would be able to monitor and manage wetland activity in the county, and the local community would benefit by having direct contact with permit procedures and requirements.

The commissioners concluded the letter by stating that if budget constraints prevented the department from implementing the program this year, they would appreciate consideration in the formulation of next year's budget.

A letter was also sent by the commissioners to District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards requesting that he initiate an amendment to the Non-Tidal

Former Local Resident Dies Following Crash

A former resident of Oakland died Monday, Aug. 27, at the Elvis Presley Trauma Center in Memphis, Tenn., after being critically injured when his plane crashed while he was crop dusting in Arkansas Aug. 16.

George W. "Bill" Schuncke IV, 37, Laurel, was a licensed pilot and was working for his father's crop dusting operation when his plane struck a power wire and crashed. Schunke sustained multiple fractures and severe burns over 70 percent of his body.

A graduate of Southern High School, he was a student at the University of Maryland and within one semester of obtaining a bachelor of science degree in computer science. He was a former member of the Wisp Ski Patrol.

Born March 10, 1953, in Detroit, Mich., he was the son of Michael F. Schuncke, Osceola, Ark., and the late Mary J. (Davis) Schuncke. He was the grandson of Lillian Davis, who with June Grimes, operated the Mtn. Lake Park Hotel during the 1940s and 50s.

Besides his father, he is survived by his wife, Megan Eastman Schuncke; a son, William Davis Eastman Schunke, 4; and two sisters, Susan Fraser, Seoul, Korea, and Mary C. Schuncke, Sacramento, Calif.

A graveside service will be conducted this Friday, Aug. 31, at 10 a.m. at the Oakland Cemetery by the Rev. Father Martin Feild, of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Lunch Prices For Public Schools To Remain The Same

The prices for student breakfasts and lunches in the 1990-91 school year will remain the same as last school year, according to Richard Buckingham, Assistant in the Food Service Department of Garrett County Public Schools.

The prices are: elementary school lunch, 85 cents; middle school lunch, 95 cents; high school lunch, $1.00. Breakfast for elementary, middle, and high school students will be 50 cents. Reduced lunch for all students will once again be 20 cents, and reduced breakfast will be 10 cents. Adult lunch will be $2.05 and adult breakfast will be 95 cents.

Ice milk and ice cream products at all schools will be 45 cents. A la carte milk will be 30 cents for white milk and 35 cents for chocolate milk. A la carte lists for middle and high schools will be posted in several conspicuous locations throughout each school for the student's information.

Other areas of interest include a salad bar at Dennett Road Elementary, according to Buckingham, which will begin on Monday, Sept. 10. Breakfast programs will begin at the Northern Middle and Northern High schools beginning on Sept. 4.

The Food Service will be satelliting (catering to) Kitzmiller Elementary School this school year.

Another addition will be the choice of an alternative pizza lunch at the middle schools and Northern High School. The alternative pizza lunch program will not operate at Southern High School (grades 11 and 12) during the renovation, due to the lack of facilities.

Persons with questions or concerns may call the Food Service Department of the Garrett County Board of Education at 334-8017, weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

See separate story in this week's edition of The Republican concerning free and reduced lunch programs for eligible students.

Area Man Drowns While Swimming In Potomac River

A Barton man drowned Sunday in the Potomac River near Barnum, W.Va., at a popular swimming area called Blue Hole.

Michael E. Kyle, 30, was swimming with family and friends when he disappeared under water on Saturday evening, sources say.

Scuba divers from the Ridgeley, W.Va. and Elk Garden, W.Va. fire departments and Department of Natural Resources Police searched Saturday night and Sunday morning before recovering the body shortly after noon. Firefighters from Piedmont, W.Va. and Bloomington also responded.

A volunteer diver was injured while aiding in the search operation, according to police reports.

Ralph Canan, New Creek, W.Va., who is not affiliated with either of the squads conducting the recovery operations, signaled to the other divers that he was in distress.

Canan was rescued within a few minutes, resuscitated by Elk Garden volunteers, and transported by Maryland State Police helicopter to Cumberland's Sacred Heart Hospital. He has since been released.

Kyle was born Nov. 10, 1959, in Keyser, W.Va., and was the son of Dorothy Mae (Blye) Kyle, Port St. Lucie, Fla., and the late Joseph Kyle.

KIMBERLY GRIMM, MISS MARYLAND 1990
Photography by Dale

by Gene Welk

Bert Parks — Garrett County — Atlantic City, N.J. — Kimberly Ann Grimm — Miss America! What do all of these diverse faces and places have in common? If you haven't already guessed, each is associated with the 70th Annual Miss America Pageant, now being held in Atlantic City, N.J.

Miss Maryland 1990

Kimberly Ann Grimm, the current Miss Maryland, has already arrived in Atlantic City along with 49 other young women — one representing each of the 50 states — to compete for the 1991 Miss America title. Miss Grimm is the first resident of Garrett County to be named Miss Maryland. Kim, a resident of Mountain Lake Park, is also a student at Frostburg State University. She is a junior transfer student there, having graduated from Allegany Community College in 1989. Miss Maryland 1990 is a computer science major at Frostburg, where she already has designed a computer software system for use in the Continuing Education Department. She hopes to complete her education there and eventually pursue a master's degree in computer science.

70th Anniversary Traditions Return

Since this is the 70th anniversary of the Miss America Pageant, many traditions from past pageants are being revived. The return of singer-comedian Bert Parks to the Miss America stage seems to be attracting the most attention. Parks will be making his first appearance since 1980 when he was fired after having served as host for 20 years.

This year he will be back to

Care Group To Host Gypsy Moth Forum

The environmental group CARE (Concerned Area Residents for the Environment) announced this week that plans are finalized for a gypsy moth forum to be held Saturday, September 8, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, at the Community and Continuing Education Center at Garrett Community College. The forum is open to the public, and coffee and doughnuts will be available beginning at 9:30 a.m.

"It's been a tough year for trees and people," stated CARE President Larry Bruch. "Since the gypsy moth is probably here to stay," he said, "we might as well learn how to live with it."

Speakers for the event include Dr. Ray Hicks, West Virginia University professor in the Forestry Division, who will present an overview of the history and life cycle of the gypsy moth.

Second on the agenda will be Dr. Kurt Gottschalk, project leader of Silvicultural Options of Gypsy Moth Control, U.S. Forest Service.

Dr. Ralph Webb, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Beltsville Research Center, will then discuss entomological interventions. Both Webb and Gottschalk have conducted research in Garrett County.

The final speaker will be Susan Cooper, staff ecologist with the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides.

Jim Simms, Garrett County Extension Agent, and Dave Cohen, Maryland Department

KITTY CROSSING? This little lady had her hands full during the third annual Best of the West Triathlon this past Saturday morning, as her kittens kept dashing out on the roadway in front of the bikers and runners in the race. The competition, which included a .4-mile swim in Broadford Lake, a 15.5-mile bike ride through Oakland and the surrounding countryside, and a four-mile run out and back on Dennett Road and Eighth Street, drew nearly 300 triathletes from several states. Commissioners Request Local Wetlands Office Be Established

The Garrett County Commissioners this week announced that a letter has been sent to Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Dr. Torrey C. Brown requesting that DNR set up an office in Garrett County "strictly devoted to non-tidal wetlands activities and permit administration."

The commissioners stated that since Garrett County will be impacted greatly by the wetlands regulations, serious consideration has been given to regulation at the county level. However, the commissioners reported that because of fiscal and time constraints in adopting a program at the local level, the county would not seek that delegation at present.

The letter stated, "We do, however, feel strongly about the potential impact to the citizens of Garrett County and are resolved to monitor implementation of the wetlands regulation, investigate the possibility of providing a wetlands delineation service for those property owners wishing to build a single family residence and to continue our efforts in an advisory role for those citizens and organizations seeking information and assistance."

It was further stated that the establishment of an office by DNR in Garrett County would be "mutually beneficial" to the county and state because state officials would be able to monitor and manage wetland activity in the county, and the local community would benefit by having direct contact with permit procedures and requirements.

The commissioners concluded the letter by stating that if budget constraints prevented the department from implementing the program this year, they would appreciate consideration in the formulation of next year's budget.

A letter was also sent by the commissioners to District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards requesting that he initiate an amendment to the Non-Tidal

Lunch Prices For Public Schools To Remain The Same

The prices for student breakfasts and lunches in the 1990-91 school year will remain the same as last school year, according to Richard Buckingham, Assistant in the Food Service Department of Garrett County Public Schools.

The prices are: elementary school lunch, 85 cents; middle school lunch, 95 cents; high school lunch, $1.00. Breakfast for elementary, middle, and high school students will be 50 cents. Reduced lunch for all students will once again be 20 cents, and reduced breakfast will be 10 cents. Adult lunch will be $2.05 and adult breakfast will be 95 cents.

Ice milk and ice cream products at all schools will be 45 cents. A la carte milk will be 30 cents for white milk and 35 cents for chocolate milk. A la carte lists for middle and high schools will be posted in several conspicuous locations throughout each school for the student's information.

Other areas of interest include a salad bar at Dennett Road Elementary, according to Buckingham, which will begin on Monday, Sept. 10. Breakfast programs will begin at the Northern Middle and Northern High schools beginning on Sept. 4.

The Food Service will be satelliting (catering to) Kitzmiller Elementary School this school year.

Another addition will be the choice of an alternative pizza lunch at the middle schools and Northern High School. The alternative pizza lunch program will not operate at Southern High School (grades 11 and 12) during the renovation, due to the lack of facilities.

Persons with questions or concerns may call the Food Service Department of the Garrett County Board of Education at 334-8917, weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

See separate story in this week's edition of The Republican concerning free and reduced lunch programs for eligible students.

Former Local Resident Dies Following Crash

A former resident of Oakland died Monday, Aug. 27, at the Elvis Presley Trauma Center in Memphis, Tenn., after being critically injured when his plane crashed while he was crop dusting in Arkansas Aug. 16.

George W. "Bill" Schuncke IV, 37, Laurel, was a licensed pilot and was working for his father's crop dusting operation when his plane struck a power wire and crashed. Schunke sustained multiple fractures and severe burns over 70 percent of his body.

A graduate of Southern High School, he was a student at the University of Maryland and within one semester of obtaining a bachelor of science degree in computer science. He was a former member of the Wisp Ski Patrol.

Born March 10, 1953, in Detroit, Mich., he was the son of Michael F. Schuncke, Osceola, Ark., and the late Mary J. (Davis) Schuncke. He was the grandson of Lillian Davis, who with June Grimes, operated the Mtn. Lake Park Hotel during the 1940s and 50s.

Besides his father, he is survived by his wife, Megan Eastman Schuncke; a son, William Davis Eastman Schunke, 4; and two sisters, Susan Fraser, Seoul, Korea, and Mary C. Schuncke, Sacramento, Calif.

A graveside service will be conducted this Friday, Aug. 31, at 10 a.m. at the Oakland Cemetery by the Rev. Father Martin Feild, of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Care Group To Host Gypsy Moth Forum

The environmental group CARE (Concerned Area Residents for the Environment) announced this week that plans are finalized for a gypsy moth forum to be held Saturday, September 8, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, at the Community and Continuing Education Center at Garrett Community College. The forum is open to the public, and coffee and doughnuts will be available beginning at 9:30 a.m.

"It's been a tough year for trees and people," stated CARE President Larry Bruch. "Since the gypsy moth is probably here to stay," he said, "we might as well learn how to live with it."

Speakers for the event include Dr. Ray Hicks, West Virginia University professor in the Forestry Division, who will present an overview of the history and life cycle of the gypsy moth.

Second on the agenda will be Dr. Kurt Gottschalk, project leader of Silvicultural Options of Gypsy Moth Control, U.S. Forest Service.

Bert Parks — Garrett County — Atlantic City, N.J. — Kimberly Ann Grimm — Miss America! What do all of these diverse faces and places have in common? If you haven't already guessed, each is associated with the 70th Annual Miss America Pageant, now being held in Atlantic City, N.J.

Miss Maryland 1990

Kimberly Ann Grimm, the current Miss Maryland, has already arrived in Atlantic City along with 49 other young women — one representing each of the 50 states — to compete for the 1991 Miss America title. Miss Grimm is the first resident of Garrett County to be named Miss Maryland. Kim, a resident of Mountain Lake Park, is also a student at Frostburg State University. She is a junior transfer student there, having graduated from Allegany Community College in 1989. Miss Maryland 1990 is a computer science major at Frostburg, where she already has designed a computer software system for use in the Continuing Education Department. She hopes to complete her education there and eventually pursue a master's degree in computer science.

70th Anniversary Traditions Return

Since this is the 70th anniversary of the Miss America Pageant, many traditions from past pageants are being revived. The return of singer-comedian Bert Parks to the Miss America stage seems to be attracting the most attention. Parks will be making his first appearance since 1980 when he was fired after having served as host for 20 years.

This year he will be back to

Accident Toddler Fatally Injured While Playing

An Accident toddler died Friday, August 24, 1990, in the Fairfax (Va.) County Hospital, just several hours after she was injured while playing at her grandparents' home in Virginia.

Three-year-old Christine Anne Bergstrom reportedly died from injuries sustained when a portion of a fireplace mantel fell on her head.

Born May 12, 1987, in Rockville, she was the daughter of Mark Corey and Melissa (Guerra) Bergstrom, Accident.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two brothers, Mark Bergstrom and her twin, Michael Bergstrom, both at home; her maternal grandparents, Serf and Connie Guerra, Midland, Va.; her maternal great-grandmother, Angela Guerra, Ludlow, Mass.; and her paternal great-grandparents, Ambassador and Mrs. John M. Steeves, Hershey, Pa.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home in McHenry.

A service was conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Accident, by the Rev. Stephen Yelovich.

Interment was in the church cemetery.

Area Man Drowns While Swimming In Potomac River

A Barton man drowned Sunday in the Potomac River near Barnum, W.Va., at a popular swimming area called Blue Hole.

Michael E. Kyle, 30, was swimming with family and friends when he disappeared under water on Saturday evening, sources say.

Scuba divers from the Ridgeley, W.Va. and Elk Garden, W.Va., fire departments and Department of Natural Resources Police searched Saturday night and Sunday morning before recovering the body shortly after noon. Firefighters from Keyser, W.Va. and Bloomington also responded.

A volunteer diver was injured while aiding in the search operation, according to police reports.

Ralph Canan, New Creek, W.Va., who is not affiliated with either of the squads conducting the recovery operations, signaled to the other divers that he was in distress.

Canan was rescued within a few minutes, resuscitated by Elk Garden volunteers, and transported by Maryland State Police helicopter to Cumberland's Sacred Heart Hospital. He has since been released.

Kyle was born Nov. 10, 1959, in Keyser, W.Va., and was the son of Dorothy Mae (Blye) Kyle, Port St. Lucie, Fla., and the late Joseph Kyle.

Also surviving are his wife, Heidi (Schramm) Kyle; one son, Michael Kyle, Jr., at home; two brothers, Joseph Kyle, Westernport; and Kenneth Kyle, Florida; three sisters, Lori Arbogast and Julie Kephart, both of Florida; and Joetta Kyle, Keyser, W.Va.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the Boal-Warnick Memorial Chapel, Barton, by the Rev. Christopher Crawford.

Kyle was interred at Laurel Hill Cemetery, Moscow Mills.

Garrett County Farm Queen Is Second Runner-Up In State Contest

MELISSA RENEE THOMAS

Garrett County's 1990 Farm Queen, Melissa Renee Thomas, was named second runner-up in the Maryland Farm Queen Contest held last Sunday in Timonium. The Maryland State Fair pageant took place Sunday evening, August 26, in the Cow Palace on the fairgrounds with 23 contestants.

Melissa will serve as one of four princesses in the court of the 1990 State Farm Queen Jenell Renee Rinehart, from Carroll County. The other princesses are: Heather Pamela Hamm, Montgomery County, first runner-up; Jennifer Lynne Carmean, Worcester County, third runner-up; and Cynthia Lou Sauthoff, Talbot County, fourth runner-up.

The State Queen Contest was a two-day event which began at 10 a.m. on Saturday. At noon that day, the judging began and the girls were in front of the judges both days until the final pageant the following night. Points were given the girls during the whole two days with the pageant earning them only 25 points out of the 100-point total. Judges for this year's contest were Rosie Schoonmaker, vice chairman, American Farm Bureau Women's Committee; Susan Simpson, office of Domestic Marketing, Virginia Department of Agriculture; and Fred Butler, president, West Virginia Farm Bureau.

Absentee Ballot Deadline Noted

Maryland voters have until Tuesday, September 4, to apply for a non-emergency absentee ballot for the September 11, 1990, Primary Election, according to the Maryland State Administration Board of Election Laws.

An emergency absentee ballot may be obtained after the deadline if one finds out that one has to be absent from the county or Baltimore City where one is registered; or one has a sudden illness or accident; or one has a death or serious illness in the immediate family.

Qualified persons may phone, write or go to their local election board to request an application or, they may go, in person, and cast their ballot before election day. Persons called for military duty are especially encouraged to vote by absentee.

Although the application must be made in writing and bear the voter's signature, there is no requirement of a notarized oath or physician's certification.

The Registrar's Office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. from Tuesday, September 4, until Wednesday, September 12, with the exception of Friday, September 7, when registration will close at 4 p.m.

Desertion, Theft Among Charges At Sheriff's Off.

A range of arrests were noted by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, including one person charged with desertion from the army, and another with theft from a local banking institution.

Kathleen A. Bolyard, 20, apparently failed to report back to Fort Gordon, Ga., in April, when she was to resume her duties in the U.S. Army. Bolyard, formerly from Crellin, was then officially away without leave (AWOL).

The sheriff's office reportedly received a tip that Bolyard was staying in a cabin off of Snowy Creek Road near Crellin. The deputies found her there, and were forced to chase Bolyard on foot for almost 100 yards before capturing her and placing her in custody.

Bolyard was placed in the custody of U.S. Army officials on Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Christine L. Tucci, 41, formerly of the Oakland area, was arrested in Stratham, N.H., on the strength of a warrant.

According to reports, Tucci worked as a teller at the First United Bank of Oakland, Mid-Town branch, earlier this year. She was charged on Aug. 21 for the theft of $2882 which she allegedly took from her cash drawer at the bank.

Tucci was released on her own recognizance.

Another arrest warrant was issued for Robert R. Warnick, 63, Grantsville. Warnick was charged with assault and child abuse against a 2-year-old female, according to the report.

Dep. J.D. Murphy arrested Warnick on Aug. 23.

Gerald A. Coddington, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested in the early hours of Aug. 28 for possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and CDS paraphernalia.

Coddington was originally stopped by Dep. J.D. Murphy for speeding when Murphy spotted the CDS (marijuana) paraphernalia in between the front seats of Coddington's vehicle.

Coddington was released on his own recognizance.

The sting was arranged at the Plaza Shopping Center in Grantsville. Assis. Chief Dep. P.J. Pratt aided in the operation.

Marvin L. Simpson, 35, Salisbury, was arrested on Aug. 22 for violation of probation for an original charge of driving while intoxicated.

Simpson was detained on one $1500 bond, and one $1000 bond for two circuit court warrants. Wicomico County officials reportedly picked up Simpson on Aug. 23 from the Garrett County Jail.

A criminal summons was served to Richard W. Jenkins, 20, Grantsville, for destruction of property.

Jenkins allegedly damaged several vehicles owned by Russell R. Kyle, of Frostburg. The incidents of destruction occured at Kyle's place of business along Alt. Rt. 40, according to police reports.

Frederick J. Adams, 60, Friendsville, was also served a criminal summons by the Sheriff's office. Adams is charged for assault against a 14-year-old male.

The incident occurred on Aug. 7 when Adams apparently became irritated with the teenager for riding a four-wheeler near Adams's property.

Gloria T. Breedlove, 46, Oakland, was charged with DWI early on Aug. 26. Dep. Murphy arrested Breedlove near the intersection of U.S. Rt. 219 South and Weber Road.

Two men were served bench warrants this week from the Sheriff's Department.

J. Scott E. Tasker, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on the strength of two bench warrants for failure to pay courts costs. Tasker owed a total of $435. His original charges were for CDS possession and DWI.

Steven R. Thomas, 27, Cumberland, was also served two bench warrants for failure to appear in court.

According to records, Thomas was originally charged with traffic violations by the Maryland State Police.

Theft Incidents Reported By Sheriff's Office

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department reported two cases of theft this week, both of which are under continuing investigation.

John T. Rodeheaver, Deer Park, reported that an unknown person or persons entered his residence on August 18, sometime between 8:45 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. The culprits removed a rifle, a cordless telephone, and $8 in cash. The loss totaled $358.

The incident was recorded by Dep. R.P. Shaffer.

An employee of Oakview Motors, Mtn. Lake Park, discovered items stolen from a Dodge Ram truck on the lot of the car dealership. Robert G. Stuck reported that when the employees tried to re-park the vehicle on the lot, it would not move. Upon inspection, the employees saw that the universal joint had been removed from the truck.

The total value of the stolen property is $500, according to police reports.

Sheep Kill Reported

Two area farmers have recently reported to the Sheriff's office the loss of several sheep. The animals were apparently killed by dogs or possibly coyotes, according to the reports.

Lee E. Shillingburg, Deer Park, told the police he lost $1650 in purebred Yorkshire between August 7 and August 17. Nineteen ewes, valued at $150 each, and 3 lambs, at $100 each, were found dead. Seven other sheep were injured as well.

Paul E. Weimer, Deer Park, reported that seven ewes and six lambs were killed on his farm. The loss is valued at $695.

Weimer reported that the incidents occurred between Aug. 1 and Aug. 18.

Oktoberfest Band Practices Slated

Rehearsals of the Oakland Fire Department Oktoberfest Band will begin Thursday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m., according to Manning Smith, director. The band will perform at the fire department's annual Oktoberfest during the Autumn Glory Festival, October 13.

Smith invites former band members and all other area musicians who would like to participate to attend the first rehearsal. Persons should report to the fire hall on Third Street at 7:30 p.m. that evening.

California Man Arrested After Drugs Are Found

Maryland State police arrested a California man Friday near Keyser's Ridge after they found suspected marijuana and cocaine inside the old school bus he was driving.

Daniel Chestnut, 29, of Palo Alto, was charged with possession and manufacture of marijuana, possession of cocaine and possession of controlled dangerous substance paraphernalia. The bus was pulled over for a traffic violation.

Tfc. Paul Brown stopped the vehicle on Keyser's Ridge because it is illegal to drive a school bus in Maryland that has not been repainted to show the vehicle is no longer used to transport school children. Chestnut's bus is yellow.

The trooper got the driver's consent to search the vehicle, and found a small cellophane baggie containing suspected cocaine in the console. He also confiscated a syringe and several marijuana plants that were growing inside the vehicle.

Chestnut is lodged in the Garrett County Jail in Oakland following the 12.55 p.m. arrest, where he is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Loving Memories

RELAND "BOOTS" ROY

Sept. 4, 1929 - Dec. 25, 1989

Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall,
You had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled, the heart that loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part from one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one, nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last, we will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Friendsville Man Injured While Cleaning Gun

Maryland State Police reported that a Friendsville man drove to Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland Thursday after accidentally shooting himself in the leg while cleaning a pistol.

William Herring, 37, of Glade Road north of Friendsville, was transferred to Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown by a private ambulance company after being stabilized at the local hospital. According to a nursing services spokeswoman, he was discharged sometime Friday.

Police said Herring was cleaning a .25-caliber pistol, and had the gun resting in his lap. He thought the safety was on and pulled the trigger, causing a bullet to enter his leg.

Allegany District Court Hears Case Of McHenry Man

A McHenry man, Anthony Allan Bruck, 22, was taken before Allegany County District Court after being charged by state police Monday with driving on a suspended license in both Maryland and Pennsylvania, giving false information to a police officer, failure to display a license on demand and a license restriction violation.

Bruck was also taken into custody by the Allegany County Sheriff's Department on a bench warrant for violation of probation from a driving while intoxicated charge. He was jailed on combined bonds of $5,260. The traffic stop occurred on Route 48 near the Clarysville bridge.

Five Injured In Sunday Mishap At Mtn. Lake Park

Five persons were injured Sunday in a two-vehicle accident which occurred at the intersection of Philadelphia Avenue and I Street in Mtn. Lake Park.

The accident occurred when the 1985 El Dorado Cadillac, operated by a 16-year-old female, failed to stop at a stop sign on Philadelphia Avenue and collided with a 1987 Plymouth Reliant, which had just entered the intersection from I Street.

The Reliant was operated by Myrtle C. Whitaker, 49, Oakland. She and her passengers, Dessie Johnson, 77, Mtn. Lake Park; Mariena Whitaker, 12, Mtn. Lake Park; Brandon Whitaker, 5, Mtn. Lake Park; and Linoy Whitaker, 8, Deer Park, were all treated for injuries at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and later released.

The 12:10 p.m. accident resulted in the 16-year-old being charged with failure to stop at a traffic sign, according to Tfc. Paul R. Brown who investigated the accident for the Maryland State Police.

The Southern Rescue Squad transported the injured to the hospital and Garrett County Emergency Management also sent Oakland volunteer firefighters to the scene.

In a separate Sunday mishap, Jesse A. Harris, 27, Westernport, received minor injuries when his 1989 Chevrolet pickup truck struck an embankment.

According to State Police reports, Harris was eastbound on the Sang Run Road at Deep Creek Drive when he ran through the intersection and struck an embankment. Police said the weather was foggy and that the driver was unfamiliar with the roadway.

Harris was charged with failure to stop at a stop sign. He was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by private vehicle where he was treated and later released.

An Oakland woman was injured Saturday night when the 1985 Plymouth Turismo she was operating struck a tree.

Stacey A. Beckman, 18, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where she was treated for injuries and later released.

According to investigating officer, Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, the 11:30 p.m. accident occurred when Beckman failed to negotiate a curve on U.S. Route 219 near Red House, crossed the center line and struck a ditch on the left side of the road, continued a short distance in a field and struck a tree.

Beckman was charged with failure to keep right of center.

Two brothers were slightly injured Friday when the 1984 Chevrolet Chevette in which they were passengers ran into a drainage ditch.

Steven Jones, 13, and David Jones, 12, both of Oakland, refused treatment by the Southern Rescue Squad at the scene.

According to a report filed by Tfc. J.K. Moore of the Maryland State Police, the accident occurred when Jonathan M. Jones, 35, the operator of the vehicle, which was northbound on the Swallow Falls Road, entered a sharp curve at the intersection of Cheek's Lane and failed to negotiate the curve. Wet road conditions caused the vehicle to slide off the right side of the road and enter a drainage ditch.

Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched Oakland volunteer firemen to the scene.

A Corinth, W.Va. man was charged with operating a vehicle with unsafe tires and seat belt violations following a one-vehicle mishap last Wednesday, August 22.

Charged by Tfc. J.K. Moore was Toby G. Pennington, 19, who was operating a 1981 Plymouth Reliant north on the Swallow Falls Road.

The vehicle reportedly hydroplaned on the wet road surface at a slight curve, crossed the center line, went over an embankment and struck a tree.

Pennington and a passenger, Gary M. Corby, 19, Oakland, were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by private vehicle where they were treated and later released.

A four-wheeler accident Sunday sent five-year-old Robert Champ of Aberdeen to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries and later released.

According to Tfc. Paul R. Brown, the young boy was a passenger on a four-wheeler operated by Mary B. Tressler, 54, Jarrettsville, on private property.

Tressler apparently lost control of the vehicle when it overturned and ejected the driver, the Champ boy and another passenger, Ronald Champ, 35, also of Aberdeen.

There were no charges filed in the 12:30 p.m. mishap.

Driver Charged With DWI After Fleeing Accident

A local driver has been charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and fleeing the scene of an accident, following a one-vehicle mishap which occurred on Mattingly Hill Road, near the Hoyes-Sang Run Road.

Norton Francis, 27, McHenry, was arrested by Tpr. G.S. Becker following the Thursday night accident.

Francis was allegedly operating a 1987 Chrysler south when he ran off the shoulder of the road, crossed back over the road and returned before striking an embankment and overturning the vehicle. He had left the scene by the time police arrived.

Responding to the scene were Deep Creek Lake volunteer firefighters and members from both Northern and Southern Rescue Squads.

In another DWI arrest, Richard Lee Uphold, 30, Friendsville, was arrested after an assault complaint was filed by Robin L. Frazee, Friendsville.

Police reports indicate that Uphold allegedly entered the home of Frazee on August 25 in an intoxicated state and pushed her head against a wall. He then fled in a blue Plymouth.

He was later apprehended by Tpr. S.W. Vincent and charged with DWI and assault.

In other DWI arrests, Steve R. Thomas, 28, Cumberland, was charged by Tfc. J.K. Moore on Friday, August 24.

Brian K. Pachilis, 26, Accident, was also charged with DWI on Friday, August 24, by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

Farewell And Thanks . . .

It was a tearful goodbye last night at Will O'the Wisp as co-workers and friends of Larry M. Beck, administrator of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, convened to say thanks and farewell. After serving seven years at the helm of Garrett Memorial, Beck has accepted a new administrative position at Good Samaritan Hospital in Baltimore.

Beck's departure, as we see it, is a true loss for Garrett County, for his record of leadership at our hospital has been nothing short of outstanding. Since his first day on the job in the summer of 1983 until his last day yesterday, he worked tirelessly and with conviction to make Garrett Memorial one of the finest rural hospitals in the country. Among the new services, programs, and policies that were created during his tenure are: the hospital Foundation; CT scan capabilities and mammography, two services which most small hospitals do not provide; mobile health services; the Wellness Together program; ophthalmology and, most recently, psychiatry; the Deep Creek Medical Center; and a detailed quality assurance policy. He has also been instrumental in the successful recruitment of several new physicians to the area.

Beck's efforts in hospital management have not been limited to Garrett Memorial. He is recognized statewide and even on a national level as a skilled, well-informed administrator who speaks out boldly for the best interests of small rural hospitals. He has been an active committee participant in both the Maryland Hospital Association and the American Hospital Association.

In his farewell address last night, after being "roasted and toasted" by his friends, Larry humbly gave all of the credit for his success at Garrett Memorial to others. He called several of his closest co-workers to the podium and directed the accolades away from himself toward them. "Concensus management" is his selected style of management, he said, emphasizing that no one person can achieve optimum success without the input, support, and talents of many others.

It is precisely because of Larry Beck's ability to utilize such wisdom that he has achieved, and will continue to achieve, such tremendous success as an administrator. He leaves things in good hands at Garrett Memorial, primarily because he gave the new administrator and various supervisory personnel the opportunity to grow, to challenge themselves, and to develop their own talents over the past several years.

We extend to Larry, his wife, Debbie, and their children, the best of luck in their new endeavors, and we are totally confident that Ben Rosenthal will continue the now established tradition of strong leadership at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The Mind Wanders

An Affliction
by Pam Ashby

The last time it happened, I was at a social gathering just smiling a lot and being generally pleasant. She asked me if I wanted something to eat.

"No thanks," I said. "We just had lunch a little while ago."

"Oh, well," she snickered, "it looks like you get enough to eat anyway." (She even patted my stomach!)

I just smiled as that old red hot feeling of total embarrassment crept over my face. But my mind was racing as I thought of things I should have said to that woman. Things like: "I suppose your breath smells so horrible because your teeth are so rotten." or "Is your nose always that big or did you break it recently?"

I know. I know. Sounds awfully mean and spiteful on my part, doesn't it? I would never say those things to anyone whether they were true or not. So what gives people the right to make light of my affliction? (Pun intended.)

Do these people make fun of the mentally handicapped or people with other physical handicaps? Are they so self-centered that they don't even realize they are humiliating others? Do they have any idea that we may already be suffering silently because of our body size? Do they appreciate that I was Raphael's dream?

Yes, I make fun of my own size frequently. I feel the need to cut myself down before other people get the chance. And usually I have a pretty good sense of humor about my girth — until someone is downright rude about it.

Now that I've dispelled the myth that overweight people don't have feelings, let me impart one other little bit of wisdom. Not all fat people are lazy. We may huff and puff a bit along the way, but pound for pound we're pulling our weight just as much as "the thin and the beautiful" do.

There are fat lazy people. There are skinny lazy people. There are white lazy people. There are black lazy people. There are tall lazy people. There are short . . . oh, okay, I see you got my message.

So just quit making fun of us just because we are fat or we'll come and sit on you and you'll never walk again. Got it?

A Little Girl's Fantasy; A Symbol Of The Spirit's Flight

by John M. Steeves
Hershey, Pa.

On a cloudless afternoon with no outward intrusion under the blue canopy over the picturesque meadow on the slopes of the hills in upper Maryland, the community of the little town of Accident were conducting the last rites in loving memory of little Christine Ann, just 3, whose life had been snuffed out in a tragic accident three days before.

The kindly pastor, Stephen Yelovich, of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, had intoned the last familiar words of commitment, "Ashes to ashes and dust to dust," when the grieving parents of Christine, Corey and Melissa Bergstrom, with their children, Mark, 6, and Michael, 3, knelt by the open grave with a cage holding a beautiful white pigeon. The lid was lifted, and with the command, "Fly away," The pigeon soared into the blue and away.

As the great-grandfather of Christine, I was enchanted by the symbolism of this touching and beautiful enactment. On inquiry of my grandson, Corey, I was given the story behind this lovely pageant.

Little Christine, as she was cuddled from time to time on her father's lap for her favorite stories, loved to hear again and again the magical story from The Wizard of Oz; with its fantasies and songs such as "Over the Rainbow, Bluebirds Fly." The images and characters of the mystic tale were made more impressive as she saw the pictorial drama played on the video rendition. She even fancied herself as "Dorothy" in the familiar story to further identify herself with her favorite story. Whether at the end of the oft repeated fantasy she would say "Fly away, that's the end," was her way of expressing her childish summation of the fantasy, or whether she was saying as a child might do, "That's all now, story finished," will never be known.

The remembrance of it all, weighing in the broken heart of a bereaved father, made him determine that, if at all possible, he would find the bird and carry out Christine's fancied image of "Fly away, story finished."

The outpouring of assistance from the home community of the village of Accident, Maryland, in sharing their sympathies with a family in sorrow, has to be seen to be believed. The thoughful man from nearby Frostburg, who supplied the pigeon from his loft, was yet another added example.

At the service in St. Paul's, the lovely rendition of "Over the Rainbow" by one of Christine's aunts, seemed to speak of the hope of all who grieved, that the healing touch of The Master would suffice.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: In a letter from Robert Wilt in last week's edition of The Republican, Mr. Wilt suggested a program whereby inmates at the local jail could do community service work rather than sit in jail and "eat up tax dollars." He stated, "Many of the people in this county's jail are not really dangerous criminals." Through a typographical error, we omitted the word "not" from that statement. We regret the error.

To the Editor:

Are there really two political parties in Garrett County?

I have attended several events in Garrett County during the summer. Being an election year, I expected to see the two parties hard at work competing for our votes in the upcoming elections. This is true except in our county commissioners' race. Our current commissioners are campaigning together, which is hard to understand since they are of different parties. Now, being hostile to one another is not expected, but we do have one Democrat and two Republicans in the same car, in the same parade, and at the same table at the Republican dinner. This observation troubled me and, talking with a friend, learned that our Republican State Central Committee voted not to run a candidate against Commissioner Braskey. Isn't this unusual that one party would not compete with the other when given the opportunity? After all, competition is the American way.

Many Garrett Countians say they vote for the best qualified person, which is reasonable, but to me, our parties should seek as many good candidates as possible. We, the voters, would hear issues raised and vote on them in the following election.

Next I talked with a member of the Democratic State Central Committee and asked why they did not have a candidate to oppose the two Republican commissioners. I was informed, if they did the Republicans would run someone against Commissioner Braskey. If I were a Democrat, I would be hopping mad with the Democratic State Central Committee for not having a candidate to oppose the current Republican commissioners. With the possible primary vote split of the Republican candidates, a good Democratic candidate(s) could have won one or maybe both of the Republican commissioner seats now occupied.

It's my opinion we have as many qualified people as possible run for elected office so different points of view will be expressed and we, the people, can decide what is best. Let's hope to see our state central committees become more open and their meetings by publicly announced so we will all have the opportunity to attend and observe their proceedings.

There will always be many views and ideas to be expressed in government. If we are limited to one idea or point of view a friend told me, it means "only one person is doing the thinking." It is now clear we all need to think, get involved and vote!

To the Editor:

Normally I would not respond to a letter to the Editor, but one by Clifford Friend about the Salary Study Commission contained misinformation and needs a response.

Mr. Friend knows that the law provides for a five-member Salary Study Commission to review and recommend salaries of positions, named in the law, which are almost exclusively local elected positions. This law was in place when I took office.

The 1989 recommendations of the Commission were heavily publicized before the bill was passed and Mr. Friend didn't have any comments at that time. To my knowledge, since its existence, the recommendations of the Commission have always been accepted. This time they are being phased in over the four-year term instead of going to the recommended amount the first year. One other point: salaries for elected officials cannot be changed during the existing term, so once salaries are set, they go into effect after the next election for that position.

Mr. Friend states that the bill: (1) provides several thousands of dollars for travel and other related expenses for the County Commissioners; (2) provides for a deputy treasurer for $25,000; (3) says the States Attorney's salary is $12,000; (4) increases salaries for nearly every person in the Courthouse including the janitor; (5) House Bill 937 contains about 19 pages. Mr. Friend feels I should help the property owners pay for the salaries.

The facts are: (1) the bill does not change the amount of expense for travel, nor does it add other related expenses for the Commissioners.This section remains the same as it has been for many years; (2) the wording in the law as to the deputy treasurer, which was not changed, says the deputy treasurer shall receive an annual salary not less than $4,200; (3) the State's Attorney is now making $34,000, not $12,000; (4) the pay changes are only for the positions spelled out in the law and reviewed by the Commission and does not include other employees in the Courthouse; (5) House Bill 937 has nothing to do with salaries, it is titled Economic Development, Maryland Enterprise Assistance Fund, the salary bill is House Bill 939 and it contains nine pages. I am a property owner and pay taxes, so I am helping to pay the salaries.

I get the feeling Mr. Friend believes the Delegate and Senator should not be introducing bills dealing with local elected officials' salaries and if that is the case, I agree with him. Since the county pays these salaries, I believe the County Commissioners should be making the decision on them. I introduced House Bill 1513 in 1989 which would have done just that, but it did not pass. The reason given by the Committee was that Garrett County does not have Home Rule. Until the law is changed, salaries will continue to be reviewed and recommended by the Salary Study Commission and set at the State level. In most cases, the salaries paid in Garrett County are not out of line with other counties our size.

George C. Edwards
Maryland House of Delegates, District 1-A

Editor's Note: The writer of the following letter to Mr. Robert Fousek, County Administrator, requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Mr. Fousek:

Reference is made to our telephone conservation of 21 August 1990 in which we discussed the possibility of funds being made available from the County treasury to help support the neuter/spaying program of the Garrett Humane Society.

During our conversation we discussed the reluctance of the County to give out information on County expenditures, i.e. for what our tax money is being spent. I used as an example the fact that you have refused to reply to several requests for the amount of your annual salary. You stated that if I were to send you a letter so requesting you would address the matter. Accordingly this letter is to request the amount of your annual salary to include your allowable expense account and the other fringe benefits you receive in connection with your employment.

In your reply it is also requested that you furnish the same salary information for the following: Gary Mullick, General Services; Joseph Howe, Liquor Board; John Nelson, Planning & Zoning; Peggy Jamison, Do Not Know Her Title; Paul Shockey, Garrett County Roads; Sue Shockey, Western Maryland Consortium (Paul's Wife); and Linda Kohut, Garrett County Roads.

It is understood that the above named individuals and your self constitute the top eight salaried employees of the County and before being employed by the County were out of county residents. Please include information in your reply to clarify the above statement if it is not accurate.

Sincerely,
Bernadine Friend
Director

To the Editor:

As a resident of this county, I have been watching the upcoming election and there is a question I would like for someone to answer.

"Why destroy what belongs to another person?"

In the primary campaign for County Commissioner in District 3, there are three candidates. All three, George Brodak, Ernie Gregg and Brenda Butscher, are using roadside signs to announce that they are running. Now, someone has stolen more than 100 of George Brodak's signs. They were not taken down by any road department. The people who own the property gave their permission to put the signs up in the first place. The signs were not taken down legally. They were stolen.

The question is why? The more important question is why take signs for George Brodak? Maybe George Brodak's idea that government is supposed to work for the people is making some people nervous, or that Brodak is making sense with his no-nonsense approach to government.

Maybe the voters should think about that on election day.

Sincerely,
Irene Filsinger

To the Editor:

A man's word should be his bond; especially when he represents the interests and dignity of his community. Using that criterion, my father, William Fitzwater, and I, will attest to the fact that Commissioner Elwood Groves is apparently morally and ethically bankrupt. We wish to add our voices to the mounting ground-swell of discontent around the county in his performance as a representative of the people.

We, and many others like us who have had the unpleasant experience of dealing with him first hand wholeheartedly endorse Ronald Rowan's assessment of Mr. Groves in the August 23 edition of The Republican . . ., he is a man for "special interests" first, and the people's business comes in a distant second.

My father and I are in the process of suing the Garrett County Commissioners for a wrongful act committed on our property eight years ago by the County Roads Department and still not corrected after years of entreaties and petitioning for redress on our part. The suit should be filed this week. We also intend to sue the County Roads Department for destroying the natural drainage of our property when they "improved" Pysell Cross Cut Road, while Mr. Shockey, Ernie Gregg's hand picked import

"You Can't Go Home Again"

by Steve Schlosnagle

I remember feeling the rural isolation as a farmer's son growing up near Accident in the 1960s. I recall one Labor Day afternoon, looking up from a hay wagon to watch flashy tourists passing in a car. Working in the fields with my dad, I felt envy and disdain.

My early heroes were network news people — Walter Cronkite, Howard K. Smith, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley. These people brought perspective — they projected images of global tragedy and accomplishment in an outside world which seemed to glitter. I watched, and I wanted a part.

A neighbor boy came to our home to see the telecast of Neil Armstrong's step on the moon because his family had never owned a television set. Johann Karl Schlosnagle, my grandfather's grandfather, could not have anticipated the implications of the moon landing for the times of his descendants. He lived near Accident in an age of horse power at a time when steam locomotion was revolutionary.

In emulation of my heroes, I wrote copy for the Northern High School Viking. I also wrote to my heroes, and Howard K. Smith responded. He explained the generation gap "by the fact that succeeding generations are raised in different circumstances, with different people . . ."

By the time I was twenty, Garrett County seemed small and insignificant. In 1977, I moved to San Francisco.. In a city of bright lights at the edge of America, I encountered the social magic of a glittering cultural frontier.

Twelve years later, I returned. I moved back to Accident from San Francisco with a wife from England (Eileen) and a native son of California (Leo) — and I brought a new perspective to the old hills.

Last Labor Day my six-year-old city-kid son helped his grandfather make hay.

I have new heroes now. The network news people no longer loom larger than life when I watch telecasts of the day's big events. My new heroes are people near me, here; they're not known to the world. These heroes are endangered; my dad may be the last of five successive generations to farm the land. This is because succeeding generations are raised under different circumstances with different people.

And so — here I am; I've come home. The times change. I've changed, too — and home is no longer the same.

If weather and fortune allow, I may find myself in the hay fields of September with my dad again this Labor Day, working with my son, contemplating my generation's honest, true, and relevant. Much must be discarded as we enter a new age, but some things bear remembering lest all if forgotten and we completely lose our way.

I'm back!

And suddenly it occurs to me I could not have come home again had I never been away.

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE COMMUNITY • SELF • VOCATION

This article is one of a series designed to support the development of small businesses in Garrett County. It was written by John Gould, coordinator for the Small Business Development Center and an assistant professor of business at Garrett Community College. The staff of the SBDC at Garrett Community College invite persons to call to set an appointment to discuss ideas and receive free help in initiating, planning or running a business. For information persons may call Sandy Major, coordinator of Business Programs, at 387-6666, ext. 180.

Starting a business implies risking your nest-egg, so preparation is vital to success. Among the first things to consider should be: Am I really cut out to be in business for myself, am I the "entrepreneurial type?" Here are 20 questions to start with:

1.In meetings do you find yourself clarifying what others have said?

2. Did you do well in your written work in school?

3. Do you like active participation rather than spectator sports?

4. Are you able to handle a lot of things at the same time?

5. When you start a task, do you usually see it through to the end?

6. Are you active in outside organizations?

7. Do you consider yourself a good listener, especially to people who are older and more experienced than you?

8. Do you generally try to match your vocabulary to your listeners?

9. When faced with a sudden change in plans, are you able to rethink your situation and quickly move ahead on a specific course of action?

10. Do you believe that your accomplishments and failures were due to your actions rather than external influence?

11. Have you taken any courses that would help you in your job in the past three years?

12. When you start a task do you often get so involved that you forget about everything else?

13. Do you have any close relatives who are in business for themselves?

14. Do you seek out situations in which you will have more responsibilities?

15. Do you work well under pressure?

16. As a child did you have a paper route, a lemonade stand, etc.?

17. Before you fall asleep, do you plan out what you are going to do the next day?

18. Have you ever been fired?

19. Would you ever consider working strictly on commission?

20. Do you have extremely high energy?

If you can answer yes to most of the above, then you have a fighting chance to become a successful entrepreneur. But be warned of one myth, that by starting your own business you will be your own boss — everyone will be your boss!

Commissioners

Wetlands Regulation Title 08.05.04 that would allow counties a more flexible time frame in which to seek delegation of the Non-Tidal Wetlands Protection program.

The letter stated, "This may be advantageous to many other Maryland counties as well and would alleviate the stringent time frame in which to review, plan, co-ordinate and implement a county program."

Controversy over the wetlands issue, as well as the regulation at the federal, state and local level, has continued over the past few months as DNR officials are working to regulate state wetlands. At present, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has that authority.

Funding Approved For Airport

In other news from the Board of Commissioners, it was recently announced that a letter was received by the board from U.S. Senator from Maryland Paul S. Sarbanes indicating that the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation had approved a request to give priority to the Garrett County Airport improvement project for consideration for Federal Aviation Administration funding.

Sarbanes made the request to chairman of the subcommittee, Frank Lautenberg, and the request was approved in early August as part of the Transportation Appropriations bill.

Commissioner Elwood L. Groves II stated, "This represents a 90 percent contribution toward the project — a major step in the right direction." Groves noted that the bill must now complete the Senate process and be approved by both houses and signed before it becomes official.

Commissioner Ernest J. Gregg Jr. also expressed pleasure, stating, "After many years of unrelenting effort toward expansion, the subcommittee has placed the fundiing for the Garrett County Airport on the upcoming budget, so we are moving ahead with plans for the expansion."

The expansion/improvement project will include extension of the runway by 1,800 feet bringing it to a total of 4,300 feet, existing runway rehabilitation, apron expansion and lighting improvements.

The projected overall costs for these items was estimated at $3,100,000 by Greiner, Inc. in a planned study performed in August, 1988. The project is scheduled to begin August 1, 1991, and completion date is set at December 1, 1991.

On a related note, the commissioners announced this week that Keystone Paving, Springs, Pa., was awarded the bid to do the final paving work on that portion of the field where airplanes are anchored at the airport.

The project is slated to begin nest week and take two days to complete.

Ag Land Preservation Districts

The commisioners also announced recently that two applications for easements of agricultural land made by two local couples had been approved by the board upon a recommendation by the Garrett County Agricultural Preservation Advisory Board. They also approved an Agricultural Land Preservation District application mady by another Garrett County couple.

The two easement applications were approved for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ganoe, for 314.4 acres, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, for 127.1 acres.

The advisory board found that the applications met all the criteria mandated by the program's regulations and promoted the goals of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation program to protecting prime farmland and assuring the continuance of agriculture in Garrett County, according to the commissioners.

The Agricultural Preservation District approval was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Stafford for 138.7 acres of land.

Commissioner Gregg stated that the total land in Agricultural Preservation Districts now totals approximately 4,000 acres since the inception of the program.

Bridge Projects

It was reported this week that the Herrington Manor Road bridge (across the Youghiogheny River) is behind schedule "because of more extensive work on the substructure than had been anticipated," according to Commissioner Gregg. He noted that the delay in work has nothing to do with the contractor.

Gregg added that the completion date is now anitcipated to be mid-September, although the board had hoped for completion before the start of the school year.

Commissioner Groves reported that work is also progressing on the Bear Creek Bridge near Accident and is scheduled for completion sometime after the first of October.

Terry La Rocco To Teach German Courses At GCC

Terry La Rocco, from the American Council on Education in Washington, D.C., has chosen to spend her sabbatical semester at Garrett Community College where she will be teaching three German courses this fall, in addition to performing some administrative duties.

Ms. La Rocco, whose fluency in the German language is often mistaken for that of a native-speaking German, has spent several years studying, doing research, and traveling in Germany. She has taught a variety of German courses, including "German Diction for Singers" at the University of Wisconsin, the University of Central Florida, and Yale's Summer Language Institute.

German 101, a three-credit course, will be offered during the noon hour, Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday, from 11:45-12:45, making it convenient for lunch-hour learning. In this course, Ms. La Rocco will emphasize the verbal approach, in addition to the basic skills of listening, reading, and writing the German Language. This course will begin Wednesday, September 5, and students may register at the Registrar's Office of the college until 6:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday next week.

Ms. La Rocco will also teach a non-credit course in Conversational German on Tuesday evenings, beginning September 25, from 7 to 8:15 p.m. This course will deal with everyday uses of the language, such as polite phrases, songs, small talk, daily situations of eating, drinking, traveling, and shopping. Vocabulary will relate to menus, maps, train schedules, and other situations that might help travelers. Students may register for this course at the Continuing Education Office of the college.

Ms. La Roco stresses that students need not have any prior knowledge of German to begin either of these courses.

The third German course she will teach will be offered to the fifth graders in the College and Me program.

Anyone desiring further information about these German courses may call Ms. La Rocco at the college at 387-6666.

Town Council To Begin Maryland Main St. Program

At an August 6 meeting of Oakland Mayor Asa McCain and the Town Council, a resolution was passed to create the Community District Management Authority to address locally the governor's proposal for the Maryland Main Street Program.

The program's purpose is to revitalize the downtown areas of various cities in Maryland, and the state government has expressed that it will match funding provided by city governments, subject to state approval.

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) will be officially reorganized as local authority of the program, and all businesses in Oakland will be required to join at an annual fee of $50. Letters are currently being sent to proprietors, advising them of this requirement.

The first project planned in conjunction with the program is the production of Oakland directory maps with general advertising to promote the town.

Other projects proposed are new signs at the ends of town with names of businesses, churches, civic groups and other organizations; and tree planting on the streets. The signs will be designed by Barry Domenick, proprietor of Signs by Domenick.

Also at the town meeting, the council announced that it is ready to begin revision of the zoning map and town master plan. Mayor McCain formed a commission which will hold an orientation meeting with the Oakland Planning Commission, and the plan will then proceed through the public meeting process.

An update was also given on the financial state of Broadford Lake Recreational Park; it was reported that the park is doing very well.

Farm Queen

Samuel Thomas of Accident, gave her prepared speech next to last of all the girls, and portrayed her home county with such zest that when she was finished, Emcee Bill Clem commented to the audience: "Someone sure is proud of Garrett County!"

The "fish-bowl" question Melissa drew asked: "Do you think that a farmer should be elected president of the United States — why or why not?" Melissa answered in part that farmers didn't get the recognition they deserve, and that if a farmer was president, he would realize the work and difficulties farmers endure, and perhaps they would get the help and recognition they need.

Melissa, the "kind of shocked and very surprised" State Farm Princess will begin her state duties tomorrow by handing out ribbons at the Maryland State Fair.

History shows that it is a rare honor for a Garrett County girl to be named State Farm Queen or Princess, as it has happened only twice in the past (to everyone's knowledge).

In 1976, Valerie (Loughrie) Frazee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loughrie of Grantsville, was named first runner-up. Valerie is still a resident of Garrett County and has served as emcee of the County Farm Queen Contest several times over the years.

Sue (Hershberger) Crossland was named Maryland State Farm Queen in 1958, and for her prize, received a four-year scholarship to the University of Maryland. Sue, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hershberger of Grantsville, is now a resident of Allegany County and returned last year to judge the Garrett County Farm Queen Contest.

Storytellers To Conduct Conference On Environment, Global Awareness

STORYTELLER JOHN PORCINO

The Garrett County Branch of the American Association of University Women received a grant from Westvaco to hold The Stories for Environmental and Global Awareness Conference on September 22 in Friendsville. At least seven professional storytellers are traveling from distant states (including New Jersey and Massachusetts) to Garret County for the conference and an outdoor Storytelling festival of Western Maryland, which will include folkdance and storytelling performances for families and children. The festival will be held on the same day.

According to Dr. Gail Herman, project directory, the conference is being held in response to the growing needs of local counties to develop recycling plans and in response to the nation's need to care for the environment and seriously consider conservation measures in light of recent world events. A third goal of the conference is the understanding of multi-cultures through the use of material from other cultures. The Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs 1990-91 theme is "Together We Make a Better World" and the conference is meant to further that goal, Dr. Herman said.

Parents, grandparents, state park personnel, teachers, librarians, and business people will find the stories useful in their home and work settings, she said. Participants can take a total of four workshops throughout the day, which begins at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m.

Storyteller John Porcino from Sourth Amherst, Mass., is a teacher, naturalist, folklorist, and musican. His sessions will focus on ways stories and storytelling techniques can be used to explore issues related to the environment. He will demonstrate a story and give ideas on "framing" new stories with a group. Ideas will also be given on how to collect environmental stories through interviews.

Actress and storyteller Diane Edgecomb of Hyde Park, Mass., is founder of Wilderwalks Storytelling. Her session will cover stories about recycling, water conservation, and endangered species. The questions raised from the stories usually explore man's connection with nature and the cycles of the earth.

Musician Michael Punzak of Medford, Mass., is a professional actor, storyteller, and a teacher. Herman said music and humor spice his demonstration of old and new folk tale forms. He draws from the folk literature of the Celtic, African, Hungarian, Appalachian and Mideastern traditions as he looks at old and new ways of viewing conflict and its resolution. Punzak has a master's degree from Harvard Divinity School and has been a student of Global Education at American University.

Herman, also an educator and storyteller, will also present a session using a story from India, and a Ray Bradbury adaptation of an old Chinese Folktale. She will share ways to foster environmental awareness and conflict resolution in the classroom. An additional story, "How to Dump the Grumps" is an original tale to help teachers resolve conflicts with younger children — a first step in global awareness, she says. Herman also demonstrates how to utilize puppets and percussion instruments as sound effects.

Friendsville School and the Friendsville Town and Community Women are hosting both the conference and the concurrent festival of storytelling. School principal Gary Galloway and Lucille Sines, of the Town and Community Women's Group, met with Dr. Herman recently to plan use of both the outdoor anphitheater and the indoor auditorium, gymnasium, and library. In the event of rain, the festival will be held indoors.

Besides funding from Westvaco, the project is funded in part by the First United National Bank & Trust, the Friendsville Town and Community Women, The Friendsville Mayor and Town Council, Dr. Barry Conger, and Patty Williamson. Other funders will be announced at a later date with more information of the Festival of Storytelling for families and children.

Visiting Storytellers will be housed and fed by Garrett County residents. Families interested in hosting a storyteller may contact Gail Herman at 387-9199.

Who's Now In Jesus' Loving Embrace

Born: May 12, 1987 Died: August 24, 1990

I'll loan you for a little while
A child of mine, God said.
For you to love the while she lives
And mourn for when she's dead.
It may be six or seven years
Or only two or three;
But will you till I call her back
Take care of her for me?
She'll bring her charms to gladden you
And though her stay be brief
You'll have her lovely memories
As a solace for your grief.
I cannot promise she will stay
Since all from Earth return;
But there are lessons taught below
I want this child to learn.
Now will you give her all your love
And not think the labor vain?
Nor doubt me when I come to take
This lent child home again?
I fancied that I heard you say,
'Dear Lord, Thy will be done
For all the joys Thy child will bring,
The risks of grief we'll run.
'We'll shower her with tenderness
We'll love her while we may;
And for the joys we will have known,
Forever grateful stay.
So should Thy Angels call for her,
Much sooner than we'd planned
We'll take the bitter with the sweet,
And try to understand.

Samuel Thomas of Accident, gave her prepared speech next to last of all the girls, and portrayed her home county with such zest that when she was finished, Emcee Bill Clem commented to the audience: "Someone sure is proud of Garrett County!"

The "fish-bowl" question Melissa drew asked: "Do you think that a farmer should be elected president of the United States — why or why not?" Melissa answered in part that farmers didn't get the recognition they deserve, and that if a farmer was president, he would realize the work and difficulties farmers endure, and perhaps they would get the help and recognition they need.

Melissa, the "kind of shocked and very surprised" State Farm Princess will begin her state duties tomorrow by handing out ribbons at the Maryland State Fair.

History shows that it is a rare honor for a Garrett County girl to be named State Farm Queen or Princess, as it has happened only twice in the past (to everyone's knowledge).

In 1976, Valerie (Loughrie) Frazee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loughrie of Grantsville, was named first runner-up. Valerie is still a resident of Garrett County and has served as emcee of the County Farm Queen Contest several times over the years.

Sue (Hershberger) Crossland was named Maryland State Farm Queen in 1958, and for her prize, received a four-year scholarship to the University of Maryland. Sue, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hershberger of Grantsville, is now a resident of Allegany County and returned last year to judge the Garrett County Farm Queen Contest.

Storytellers To Conduct Conference On Environment, Global Awareness

STORYTELLER JOHN PORCINO

The Garrett County Branch of the American Association of University Women received a grant from Westvaco to hold The Stories for Environmental and Global Awareness Conference on September 22 in Friendsville. At least seven professional storytellers are traveling from distant states (including New Jersey and Massachusetts) to Garret County for the conference and an outdoor Storytelling festival of Western Maryland, which will include folkdance and storytelling performances for families and children. The festival will be held on the same day.

According to Dr. Gail Herman, project directory, the conference is being held in response to the growing needs of local counties to develop recycling plans and in response to the nation's need to care for the environment and seriously consider conservation measures in light of recent world events. A third goal of the conference is the understanding of multi-cultures through the use of material from other cultures. The Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs 1990-91 theme is "Together We Make a Better World" and the conference is meant to further that goal, Dr. Herman said.

Parents, grandparents, state park personnel, teachers, librarians, and business people will find the stories useful in their home and work settings, she said. Participants can take a total of four workshops throughout the day, which begins at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m.

Storyteller John Porcino from Sourth Amherst, Mass., is a teacher, naturalist, folklorist, and musican. His sessions will focus on ways stories and storytelling techniques can be used to explore issues related to the environment. He will demonstrate a story and give ideas on "framing" new stories with a group. Ideas will also be given on how to collect environmental stories through interviews.

Actress and storyteller Diane Edgecomb of Hyde Park, Mass., is founder of Wilderwalks Storytelling. Her session will cover stories about recycling, water conservation, and endangered species. The questions raised from the stories usually explore man's connection with nature and the cycles of the earth.

Musician Michael Punzak of Medford, Mass., is a professional actor, storyteller, and a teacher. Herman said music and humor spice his demonstration of old and new folk tale forms. He draws from the folk literature of the Celtic, African, Hungarian, Appalachian and Mideastern traditions as he looks at old and new ways of viewing conflict and its resolution. Punzak has a master's degree from Harvard Divinity School and has been a student of Global Education at American University.

Herman, also an educator and storyteller, will also present a session using a story from India, and a Ray Bradbury adaptation of an old Chinese Folktale. She will share ways to foster environmental awareness and conflict resolution in the classroom. An additional story, "How to Dump the Grumps" is an original tale to help teachers resolve conflicts with younger children — a first step in global awareness, she says. Herman also demonstrates how to utilize puppets and percussion instruments as sound effects.

Friendsville School and the Friendsville Town and Community Women are hosting both the conference and the concurrent festival of storytelling. School principal Gary Galloway and Lucille Sines, of the Town and Community Women's Group, met with Dr. Herman recently to plan use of both the outdoor anphitheater and the indoor auditorium, gymnasium, and library. In the event of rain, the festival will be held indoors.

Besides funding from Westvaco, the project is funded in part by the First United National Bank & Trust, the Friendsville Town and Community Women, The Friendsville Mayor and Town Council, Dr. Barry Conger, and Patty Williamson. Other funders will be announced at a later date with more information of the Festival of Storytelling for families and children.

Visiting Storytellers will be housed and fed by Garrett County residents. Families interested in hosting a storyteller may contact Gail Herman at 387-9199.

Dearly missed by all the family;
Son & Husband of Bernice L. Fisher

In Loving Memory Of Our Sweet Angel

Christine

Who's Now In Jesus' Loving Embrace

Born: May 12, 1987 Died: August 24, 1990

I'll loan you for a little while
A child of mine, God said.
For you to love the while she lives
And mourn for when she's dead.
It may be six or seven years
Or only two or three;
But will you till I call her back
Take care of her for me?
She'll bring her charms to gladden you
And though her stay be brief
You'll have her lovely memories
As a solace for your grief.
I cannot promise she will stay
Since all from Earth return;
But there are lessons taught below
I want this child to learn.
Now will you give her all your love
And not think the labor vain?
Nor doubt me when I come to take
This lent child home again?
I fancied that I heard you say,
'Dear Lord, Thy will be done
For all the joys Thy child will bring,
The risks of grief we'll run.
'We'll shower her with tenderness
We'll love her while we may;
And for the joys we will have known,
Forever grateful stay.
So should Thy Angels call for her,
Much sooner than we'd planned
We'll take the bitter with the sweet,
And try to understand.

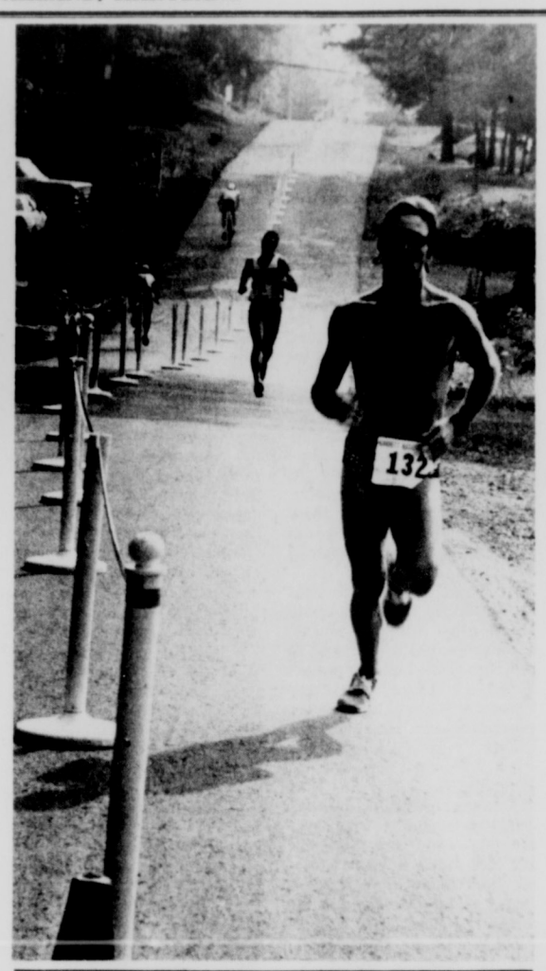
PEDAL POWER was in abundance Saturday during the 15.5-mile bike ride of the Best of the West Triathlon. At right, Jimmy Railey, of McHenry, heads for the finish line where he captured second place overall in the race with a time of one hour, 15 minutes, 14 seconds. Photos by Craig Phillips.



Katzeff Wins Best Of The West Triathlon; McHenry's Railey Second

Jean-Marc Katzeff, 29, crossed the finish line in the third annual Best of the West Triathlon Saturday morning at Broadford Lake Park with a time of one hour, 14 minutes, 25 seconds to capture first place among 257 finishers.

Katzeff finished with a 51-second lead over runner-up Jimmy Railey, of McHenry, who recorded a 1:15:14 in the event, which featured a .4-mile swim, 15.5-mile bike ride, and four-mile run. Railey edged Dan Besson, of Catonsville, by seven seconds. Besson was the winner of the first Best of the West, held in 1988, and finished second last year.

Dennis Crockett, John Kuehls, Chris Northrup, and Tom Bulhack, also of McHenry, placed fourth through seventh, respectively.

Susan Griffin, who placed third among the female competitors last year, was the overall winner among the women this year, completing the course in 1:23:34. Tammi Wright was a distant second among the women with a time of 1:27:43, followed by Pamela West, Karin Constant, and Alexandria Levy.

Katzeff was the fifth swimmer out of the water and recorded the fourth and seventh fastest times in the bike and run, respectively. Railey finished 19th in the swim, but passed 17 racers to finish third in the biking and finished with the fourth best time in run.

Besson, who is recognized as one of the strongest bikers in the East, lived up to that reputation by placing first in that segment of the race with a time of 39 minutes, 43 seconds, after finishing eighth in the swim. However, his time in the run was 19th best among all competitors.

Giffen, who placed 36th among all participants, male and female, had the 15th best time in the swim, was 24th in the bike, and 36th in the run.

Winners in the various men's age groups were as follows: Jason Gallagher, 15-19; Nick Heil, 20-24; Chris Northrup, 25-29; Mark Bayliss, 30-34; John Hyssong, 35-39; Charles Vanmeter, 40-44; Frederick Surgent, 45-49; William Pope (McHenry), 50-59.

Female winners were: Lori Du Trienille, 15-19; Brooks Campbell, 20-24; Kelly Campbell, 25-29; Beverly Basile, 30-34; Deborah Hathaway, 35-39; Diana Morris, 40-44; Barbara Surgent, 45-49; and Ella Atwood, 60 and over.

The Best of the West was sponsored in part by Coors Light and the Greater Oakland Business Association. It was coordinated by the Garrett Sports League and World Championships, Inc. Nancy Railey was the race director.

A complete listing of all racers and their times will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

Local Soccer Team Falls To Defending Champs

A&A Realty/Deep Creek Soccer Club lost its first game of the season this past Sunday, 6-3, to defending league champions, Eichorn & McKenzie Funeral Home of Barton. In a game played in 95-degree heat, A & A ran out of gas in the second half after leading the game, 3-2, late in the first half.

Bob Issacson put A & A on the board midway through the first quarter as he took a pass from Bill Meade and drilled a shot from 15 yards out to tie the score at 1-1. The Barton squad took a 2-1 lead, only to have the Deep Creek Club answer with two goals to take the lead. Bill Meade again set up another goal as Luke Veitmeier took Bill's crossing pass and one touched the 10-yard shot into the goal. Meade then scored a goal on his own, as he stole the ball from an Eichorn fullback, beat two defenders, and drilled an 18-yarder past the diving goal keeper.

The second half was another story as the hot and humid day took its toll on the Deep Creek Club. Eichorn & McKenzie was able to strike quickly to open the second half and cruised to the victory.

The local club's next game will not be until Sunday, September 9, when they play the Little Ceaser's Raiders at Southern Middle School. The game will start at 1 p.m.

Below, Susan Bell, another volunteer, directs a biker into the bike/run transition area. At right, Matthew Sincell, 11, races for the finish line in a semi-shod condition, as his shoe came untied somewhere on the course and fell off. The event included a swimming segment in the Wisp pool, a bike ride out and back on Marsh Hill Road, and a run around the Wisp grounds. It was coordinated by the Garrett Sports League and World Championship, Inc. Photos of all of the winners will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

A Flash Back in History

Gregg Campaign, 1978

Excerpt from advertisement in
The Republican Newspaper,
September 6, 1978

Government spending results in higher taxes. The matter is made worse by poor management and inefficiency. The Democrat commissioner incredibly advertises that taxes have dropped. This is the same old shell game between tax rate and assessments. I say take a look at your last two tax bills and see if your taxes have not increased. If elected, I pledge to do all in my power to cut taxes where it counts . . . on your tax bill! I can do this by working to reduce government spending.

New Conservative leadership for Garrett County

Gregg Campaign, 1990

Excerpt from advertisement in
The Republican Newspaper, August 23, 1990

Performance, not promises!

Gregg Statement, Baltimore Sun Magazine, August 26, 1990
Excerpt from an article on Deep Creek Lake.

Mr. Gregg's ace in the hole is a good relationship with Gov. William Donald Schaefer. Though a Republican, Mr. Gregg endorsed Mr. Schaefer's first bid for the governor's mansion and since, he says, the county "has had extremely good relationships with Maryland state government. I endorsed him for the good of Garrett County. It was one of the best things I ever did. The man never forgets. We don't get everything we ask for, but we do get heard."

Time For A Change!
ELECT
Brenda Butscher

BRENDA'S OPINION

To the LEFT of my ad you will read one of the issues my incumbent opponent used in 1978. As I go back in political history, I am amused that Gregg thought the Democratic commissioner was playing a shell game between tax rate and assessments. At that time, 12 years ago, he asked us to look at our last two tax bills and see if our taxes had increased. I say to Gregg, "Presently, in the 1990 election, what kind of game are you playing?" You have been in office for 12 years and I looked at my last 12 tax bills and they have gone up, up and up. Your administration has tripled our operating budget from 7 million dollars to 22 million dollars. You call that "Performance, not promises"! Maybe you're right. It is a performance. I am convinced that you can fool some of the people (voters) some of the time, but not all the people (voters) all the time. I believe that September 11th, the voters will say "they have been fooled enough." They will say, "It's time for a change in District 3." Time for honesty, fairness, fresh air and a new face in the commissioners' office.

Because we are both Republicans, I thought the voters might appreciate an excerpt from The Baltimore Sun. I am the Chairman of the Republican Party in Garrett County and I did not know until Sunday that Gregg had endorsed William Donald Schaefer for Governor of Maryland.

I ask the Republican voters to help make that change by working for and voting for Brenda Butscher. Pull lever 6G on September 11.

IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE!

Kitzmiller Wins Third Mt. Top Title In A Row

The Kitzmiller Softball Club won its third consecutive Mt. Top Softball League championship this past Sunday when they swept A & A Realty in the championship series, 18-8 and 10-2. Kitzmiller, which finished second in the American Division during the regular season, cruised through their divisional playoffs undefeated.

Kitzmiller knocked off Crellin, 7-0, and Browning's Foodland, 9-7, to set what was one of the most dramatic games of the playoffs against regular season American Division champs, John Kruk's. Down 10-7 with two outs in the bottom of the seventh inning, Kitzmiller got back-to-back home runs — a three-run shot from Gene Dunithan to tie the game and a solo blast by Dean Ross for the victory. Kitzmiller then faced Browning's Foodland, which had won three straight games in their trek through the losers' bracker, and easily defeated them, 17-3, to capture the American Division crown.

A & A, which finished the season with a 43-10 record, had to fight through the losers' bracket to win the National Division crown. After winning their first round game, 25-3, over Swanton Grocery, A & A dropped their second round match-up with Miners & Merchants Bank, 18-6. A & A then powered their way through the losers' bracket, disposing of Paugh's Exxon, 14-8, Checkers Lounge, 25-3, and Lewis Building Company, 16-10, on their journey to the division final. A & A then had to win two straight from Miners & Merchants to arrive in the championship series.

Their first game was an epic struggle, with A & A taking the victory with a hard-fought, 20-19, 10-inning marathon. A & A scored eight runs in the top of the seventh inning to take a 16-13 lead. Miners & Merchants then scored three runs in the bottom of the inning to knot the score at 16-16. Neither team was able to score until A & A scored four runs in the top of the tenth. A & A then held off a rally, as Miners & Merchants scored three runs in the bottom of the tenth and had runners on second and third when the final out was recorded.

Because of the length of the first game, A & A and Miners & Merchants had to come back Sunday morning before the championship series to play their final and deciding game. A & A jumped out early and held an 18-9 lead going into the bottom of the last inning. Miners & Merchants made a gallant try at A & A, but fell short, 18-15, with the tying run at the plate when the final out was made.

Against Kitzmiller, A & A jumped out quickly in the first game of the championship series with three runs in the top of the first inning, but saw that lead evaporate in the bottom of the inning as Kitzmiller went on a power surge and scored nine runs. In that inning, Kitzmiller's Paul Barnhouse, Gene Dunithan, and Dean Ross hit back-to-back home runs and John Barnhouse added a fourth homer later in the inning. Kitzmiller had eight homers in the first game, which they won 18-8.

The second game looked like it could be a close one until Kitzmiller put four straight singles together, followed by a Jimmy Lyons' grand slam to put the Bad Boys, as they like to be called, up for good. Dean Ross added another homer in the 10-2 championship win and the Kitzmiller defense shut down all possibilities of an A & A comeback with numerous running catches and clutch plays as both teams played errorless ball for both games.

Kitzmiller not only won its third straight League championship, but set some lofty records in the process. Going back to their second round loss to Browning's Foodland in the 1988 playoffs, Kitzmiller has now won 19 straight playoff and championship games. Kitzmiller, which finished the season with a 40-10 record, has yet to lose a championship series game in which they have played. They are the third team in the history of the League to win three straight, as Oakland Auto Parts won three straight in the early 70s and Bethlehem won the title in 1978, 1979, and 1980.

"Our intensity and desire to win three in a row showed throughout both games," said Kitzmiller Manager Rick King, who was a member of the Bethlehem team that won three in a row a decade ago. "I feel our defense was just as important as our offense in winning; Paul and Tim Barnhouse played just a super game in the outfield."

King added, "Not only was our defense good, but A & A played just as well. They threw three of our runners out at the plate and neither team committed an error in both games."

This was the second year in a row that A & A Realty has finished second behind the young Kitzmiller team. A & A was led throughout the playoffs at the plate by Dink Bennett, who connected for 11 home runs, and teammates Talon King and Terry Brenneman, who had nine and eight homers, respectively.

League President Dink Bennett commented on the success of the year and the "hard work" put in by the league officers and

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS

GEORGE BRODAK

★Has more than 20 years of experience as a successful independent businessman!
★Has employed thousands of people, providing jobs and helping stimulate the Garrett County economy. He knows what it takes to improve our economy!
★Knows what it means to serve the customer and that the customer is most important!
★Supports Garrett County's teachers in their efforts to improve the quality of education that our young people receive!
★Knows that recycling will be our way of life in the future and has introduced conservation and recycling into his businesses!
★Believes that the time has come to give the American farmer a hand. Let's stabilize the tax rates on farm land and stop (tax)biting the hands that feed America!

THE OTHER CHOICES

★How about a commissioner who tells you that taxes didn't go up . . . because they raised your property values instead of raising the rates?
★How about a commissioner who supported an expenditure of over a million dollars without competitive bids?
★How about a commissioner who doesn't understand that zoning laws can protect the resources of Garrett County — and stimulate economic growth in dozens of ways? If we have two industrial parks, why haven't the people who want your vote for re-election taken the lead in attracting clean, profitable industry?
★Are you going to vote for the same ones who want to close a major bridge — probably for years! — so that school buses, emergency vehicles, fire trucks and police end up taking winding and dangerous roads?
★Or, how about a commissioner with no real business experience?

The people of Garrett County deserve fair, honest and responsible government. You deserve the maximum return from every dollar. You deserve a hard-working commissioner who remembers that government is supposed to serve the people.

Demonstrations Given At Events By Promenaders

The Mt. Top Promenaders Square Dance Club of Oakland has given several dance demonstrations recently for area events.

The demonstrations involve Western-style square dancing which include group participation.

One demonstration was held at Deep Creek Lake State Park for Kelly Springfield Tire Company's picnic. There were approximately 1,200 employees and guests in attendance.

Another demonstration was held at the Wisp for students from the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

A club spokesman stated, "Everyone has a good time participating in these events."

The spokesman noted that quite a few square dance guests have attended the local club dances this summer while visiting Garrett County. She emphasized that spectators are always welcome.

The club is now planning an alumni dance and mixer night on Monday, September 10, and on Monday, September 24. Persons interested in learning Western-style dancing are welcome to attend the mixers.

The spokesman said if there were enough couples interested in learning, a new class will be started.

The new class will begin Monday, October 1, and held every Monday night at the Dennett Road School gymnasium from 7-9 p.m.

Persons having questions about Western-style dancing may contact Doug Buckley at 334-9253 and Doyle Biser at 334-9724.

"THAT'S THE WAY," says Arnold Feather, local dancer with the Mt. Top Promenaders, as he helps a small fry enjoy the art of square dancing. The square dance club travels far and wide to bring their skills and talents to the public.

from outside the county, was in his "on the job training" phase, trying to learn to be a roads engineer the hard way (hard on everyone else, that is) and failed to maintain necessary drainage along the roadway, damaging our property as a result.

Four years ago, when Mr. Groves was running for re-election, he stood on our property and surveyed the damage done to it by the incompetence of the County Roads Department and was incensed that one of his constituents had to endure such shoddy treatment for four long years when the county was so clearly in the wrong. He vowed to correct this nasty situation forthwith, upon his imminent re-election . . . with our help, of course. He got the post, and we got the shaft!

Four years later nothing has changed except our patience is exhausted; hence, the lawsuit, apparently our last resort. And you know what? Mr. Groves hasn't been around this election. We haven't seen hide nor hair of him and prefer to keep it that way. Let's all send him a message next month, something like this, "You attained a high plateau of mediocrity early in your career as county commissioner, and are striding toward total incompetency. You may use this vote as a bona fide inducement to permanently withdraw from the field of politics."

To the Editor:

I believe a new record of arrogance has been reached when the County Commissioners refuse to obey the law by revealing how and for what they are spending our tax revenues. This situation was stated in the letter published in your Republican issue of July 19, 1990. I have been waiting for a rebuff or denial from the Commissioners, but they have been silent.

We who pay taxes in Garrett County have a lawful right to know on what our taxes are being spent. We, as a tax paying citizenry, should also have a say in regard to future capital project expenditures.

To the Editor:

Professional politicians are anathemas to good government. One need only look to Washington to appreciate the full impact of that simple truth. The political animal, secure in his position, does not govern in the best interests of the people. Instead, we usually reap the whirlwind of a tyrant who knows "what's best for us" even in the face of a mountain of evidence to the contrary. Political longevity assures the incumbent he no longer has to attend to the will of the people, he/she is free to attend his/her own agenda; the Washington syndrome in full bloom. This phenomenon afflicts local governments as well, ours in particular.

If we were living in a county controlled and run by ultra-liberal Democrats, I could understand what's going on here; they always seem to find a way to take care of themselves first. But we're not! The people running this county are supposed to be Republicans. To me, and most other Republicans, that means they are conservative in political orientation and always mindful of the costs of their actions to their constituents . . . the people paying the bills.

NOTHING COULD BE FURTHER FROM THE TRUTH IN THIS INSTANCE! The explosion we have already witnessed in the cost of county government is just the tip of the iceberg ALREADY IN PLACE! Thanks to George Edwards' "salary grab" bill, and his quiet collusion with local officials, "You ain't seen nothin yet folks!"

How many people in this county got to vote on the horrendous across the board salary increases for county officials and workers? (You can bet the officials did . . . behind closed doors). How many people would like a chance to vote the increases up, or down?

Here's the way we do it: First we vote the rascals "OUT" in the coming elections. Second, we petition to a voter's referendum, Mr. Edward's salary grab bill. Third, we make sure Mr. Edwards knows what Party he's in (he's still trainable) in the future. Failing that, we run a "real" Republican against him next time out.

But REMEMBER! The surest way to return an unwanted incumbent to office is to split his/her opposition vote between two or more contenders. In the short time we have left, let's get together and designate a "Unity Candidate" for each major office; one individual we can ALL back to accomplish our primary goal of defeating the incumbent.

If you agree with me, honk your horn lightly as you drive past The Republican and the Courthouse. Here's your chance to say with one discreet little toot, "I'm mad as hell! And I'm not going to take it anymore!"

To the Editor:

Jennings Randolph Lake may be down, but not out. Contrary to popular belief, the water level at Jennings Randolph Lake is still high enough to enjoy boating and fishing despite the lack of significant rainfall over the last month. Excluding unforeseen circumstances, the lake level will be high enough to launch a boat at least through the Labor Day weekend.

Due to the warm weather, the fish are running deeper than normal, approximately 20 feet down. Although this makes the fishing a little more challenging, the walleye are still biting and fish up to 18 to 20 inches long are being caught regularly.

So don't give up. There is still a lot of summer left. Come on out to Jennings Randolph Lake and share it with us.

Sincerely,
N. Russell Newman, P.E.

To the Editor:

GFWC The Civic Club of Oakland, Md., Inc., wishes to commend the County Commissioners for their prompt attention to appointing a committee to explore how recycling can be implemented in Garrett County. The protection of the environment is of vital concern to our 85-member organization — so much so that three months ago we initiated our own interim recycling program. We arranged to have a pick-up truck at our meeting place and asked our members to bring their recyclable clear and green glass, tin, and aluminum cans in separate bags when they came to the meeting. We were amazed at our members response: in 20 minutes time not one, but two trucks were filled! It was so easy and members did not have to devote any extra time to the project.

Incidentally, our treasury is a little better off for the effort as well. We would encourage other organizations to initiate a similar project.

The residents of Garrett County are obviously concerned about the environment and we urge the County's Recycling Committee full speed ahead in setting up and implementing a county wide recycling program.

Sincerely yours,
Martha U. Jachowski

Grant County Receives Millions From VEPCO

Virginia Elcetric and Power Company, headquartered in Richmond, Virginia, sent the State of West Virginia the first installment on its $2.69 million 1990 real estate and personal property tax bill. The largest annual payment, $2,090,051, will go to Grant County, the site of the Mt. Storm Powers Station.

The Mt. Storm Power Station is the largest coal-fired power station owned and operated by Virginia Power and serving about four million people in Virginia and northeastern North Carolina. Mt. Storm's three generating units can generate more than 1.6 million kilowatts of electricity, as much in one hour as 160 average homes use in a year. The station generates about 13 percent of all the power used by the homes, businesses and industries in the company's 30,000-square mile service area.

The state will distribute the money among the counties in which the utility has equipment. Other West Virginia counties receiving part of the Virginia Electric and Power Company annual tax payment include: Jefferson County $206,770, Hampshire County $216,340; Hardy County $134,946, Pendleton County $17,645; and Tucker County $6,979. The remaining $16,809 will be retained by the State.

The $1.34 million check was sent to Glen B. Gainer Jr., state auditor. The second installment will be submitted by VEPCO by March 1, 1991.

New Hi-Y Center Dedication Slated At Camp Horseshoe

The Ohio-West Virginia YMCA expands its youth leadership development programs with the opening of the new Hi-Y Leadership Center at YMCA Camp Horseshoe, St. George, W.Va. The new center will be dedicated Sunday, September 2, at 2:30 p.m.

Dr. Sharon Lord, a former West Virginia Commissioner of Human Services, will be the dedication speaker. Dr. Lord was active in Hi-Y as a young woman and is currently active in supporting the YMCA's West Virginia Youth in Government program.

"This center will give us our first central headquarters for the many youth programs of the Ohio-West Virginia YMCA," said executive director David King. The new building will serve as home for the Hi-Y, YMCA Youth in Government, and YMCA Model United Nations programs available throughout the two states.

The new leadership center is just one step in an ambitious $3 million expansion planned at Camp Horseshoe, King said. Current facilities are being renovated and winterized. A new health center, conference center, maintenance building, and additional recreational facilities will be constructed. Approximately 10-15 jobs will be created by the leadership center and the expanded year-round use of Camp Horseshoe.

"The Ohio-West Virginia YMCA is unlike any other YMCA," said King. "We offer programs to every community in both states, direct our work entirely to youth, and focus on leadership development, citizenship, and volunteer school and community service. This approach has made us somewhat of a model among YMCA programs and we have youth attend from many other states at our summer leadership camps."

The organization could have located its headquarters anywhere in the two-state area. But King feels there were two reasons why Camp Horseshoe was chosen. "The board felt we could operate our camp and school year programs more efficiently from one site. In addition, Tucker County has always been good in the camp and we feel the expansion is a positive contribution to the area," he said.

To the Editor:

September 4 is the deadline for applying for an absentee ballot. Call the Board of Election Supervisors at 334-1962 if you or a family member is not going to be in the county on September 11. They will mail you an application. You may apply for an absentee ballot if you are 65 years of age, ill, or disabled.

Voting is a cherished right and privilege. Voting enables you to make your private, personal choice and voice your opinion in government, here in the county, state, and in America.

To the Editor:

Recently a deeply divided American Bar Association (ABA) rescinded its six-month-old endorsement of abortion rights.

The ABA's policy-making House of Delegates voted 200-188 to repeal a resolution that the nationwide lawyers' group had adopted in February by a more than two-to-one margin.

Repeal proponents said the about-face returned the organization to a neutral positive on the explosive issue.

Lawyers at the ABA's Assembly meeting in Chicago voted 885-836 in favor of repeal. Abortion opponents joined forces with those who supported neutrality.

By reversing its abortion rights stand, the association appears to have headed off the possibility of a referendum on the issue among all 360,000 ABA members nationwide.

ABA President John J. Curtin Jr., of Boston, who supported repeal, said he hoped there would be no more resignations from the association.

Curtin had said he would refuse to sign any legal briefs in which the ABA advocated abortion rights.

The abortion rights policy promoted 1,500 ABA members to resign in protest, costing the organization $300,000 in annual dues.

The policy also led to criticism by some, including Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, who said it created an impression the ABA might be biased in deciding whether to support judicial nominees.

The repeal of the pro-abortion policy was a big defeat for pro-abortion forces.

To the Editor:

It is my sad duty to report to my fellow Garrett Countians that we are all apparently living in a society closed, and tightly controlled by a small clique of men who are so secure in their "misuse" of authority that they have no qualms about blatantly trampling the rights of an entire community within "their" jurisdiction.

The residents of Shallmar, through their appointed representatives, of whom I am one, have been trying to bring charges against the parties responsible for the illegal and wanton destruction of their old town water system since late March of this year. We have been blocked at every turn by a politically oriented puppet of the local establishment, acting as a district court commissioner, and a states attorney whose words and actions are complete strangers to one another. Together, and I'm sure with at least the tacit concurrence of other "responsible" county officials — reaching into the highest echelons of our county government — they have concocted a totally ludicrous and reprehensible posture of not being able to find the necessary, and "surprisingly" elusive, "probable cause" to issue criminal charges for the crimes so obviously committed and amply described in the TWO sets of charging documents submitted by the Shallmar representatives; despite the fact that destruction of personal property was committed under the eyes of a 1st Sgt. of the Maryland State Police, without due process or a necessary court order, the 1st Sgt. having already expressed his opinion that the documents the perpetrators themselves presented, did not give them the authority to commit the acts they intended and subsequently carried out. That criminal trespass did not, in fact, occur during their actions, is indisputable, and breaking and entering of the systems valve house reduced the valving and piping therein to a shambles; all of which is covered in a written investigative report, conducted and authored Sgt. Tucker, of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and withheld from us to this point. As of August 27, Sheriff Van Evans personally assured me that in his opinion we are entitled to a copy of Sgt. Tucker's report, and that he would see to it that we were provided one.

And our "esteemed" protectors of our rights — and our laws — can't find "probable cause" to charge anyone! Perhaps the entire episode is a figment of our imagination. Then again, perhaps some people who have been effectively obstructing justice, to this point, are going to wish it WAS only a figment, for it is our intention to take our grievances to the September session of the Grand Jury, with the possibility of some new charges being included.

The above is a graphic example of why we need a clean sweep in the offices of our county government in the upcoming elections . . . they have become arrogant in their abuse of power and need to be shown what arrogance begets.

Ronald R. Rowan

To the Editor:

As you may know, the Big Brothers/Big Sisters is a program designed to provide adult role models and friendship for children and adolescents from single-parent homes. We have been working for nearly a year to begin a Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program here in Garrett County. With the help of the chapter in Allegany County and operating under their umbrella, we have been raising money so that we can begin our local program.

A while back, the national Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization held its annual fund-raiser: Bowl For Kids Sake. We held a local bowl-a-thon that day and were extremely pleased with the kind and generous support which the Garrett County citizens and businesses offered. The local organization raised nearly $7,000 and can now proceed with the next step which is to set up our office. Once this is done, we can then accept applications from youth who would like to be matched with a Big Brother or Big Sister and from adults desiring to volunteer a little bit of time to serve as a Big Brother or Big Sister.

In addition to all of the people who donated their time and dollars during the fund-raising activity, we especially would like to thank the corporate sponsors: The Loyal Order of the Moose (BPOE#2481); Potomac Engineering and Surveying; Mountainside Developers, Inc.; Oak-Mar; Video Connection; and B&R Machine Tool Corporation.

Once again, Garrett County can be proud of its efforts towards the provision of much needed services for our youth.

. . . Mtn. Fresh Succeeds

The Mountain Fresh Produce tailgate market is enjoying unprecedented success and popularity this season, with 19 producers at the market this past Saturday morning. According to Market Fresh Co-ordinator Pamela Roberts, Garrett County Extension Service, more space may have to be found for the many farmers bringing their produce to market. This is the third season for the tailgate market and producers are composed of farmers from the tri-state area. New this year is a sod farm operated by Adam Lucas Jr. The operation also includes "pick your own" and bulk sales. The group works in cooperation with and receives funding from the University of Maryland and West Virginia University Cooperative Extension Services, the Maryland Department of Agriculture and local government agencies and organizations. Mtn. Fresh Producers participate in a federal pilot program in conjunction with the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Women's. Infants', and Children's Supplementary Food Program (WIC) and, as such, accept WIC coupons for their produce. The market operates every Wednesday at 3 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Oakland town parking lot.

Miss America

sing the traditional "There She Is Miss America" theme song to all returning former titleholders as they once again walk Atlantic City's famous runway. At least 30 former Miss Americas are expected to return for the anniversary celebration. The oldest will be Miss America, 1933, Marian Beregon of Florida. Of course, Miss America 1990, Debbye Turner from Missouri, will preside over pageant festivities as well as crown the new Miss America.

Another tradition of the '20s and '30s helped inaugurate pageant activities. This past weekend all of the national finalists met in Philadelphia where they toured various historical sites including Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell, as well as the Franklin Institute and the Philadelphia Zoo. Monday morning the group of accomplished young women traveled by train to the nation's oldest seashore resort. The daily train service was recently re-established to help generate more casino traffic between Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Competition Events

Although actual competition doesn't begin until Sunday, this week has been filled with many activities including meeting with the news media, numerous receptions and social functions as well as many hours of rehearsals. Competition will take place in four different categories between Sunday and Thursday, Sept. 6, for each of the state representatives.

There will be private interviews as well as on-stage competition in talent, evening gown and swimsuit. Talent is the most heavily weighed of the categories, counting 40 percent of the score. Interview points make up another 30 percent; the remaining two areas each count for 15 percent of the score. Each judge gives every contestant a score based on a system of 1-10; therefore each young woman is competing only against herself.

Miss Maryland's competition schedule runs as follows: Monday, private interview; Tuesday, talent presentation; Wednesday, evening gown; and Thursday, swim suit. She will perform the same song she used to help her win the state title, "One, Two, Three," a song made popular by Gloria Estefan and the Miami Sound Machine.

Summary

Follow the excitement of the pageant as the week progresses. Next week we will feature an interview with Miss Maryland from Atlantic City. Good luck Kimberly Ann Grimm, Garrett County's own candidate for Miss America 1991!

About the writer: Gene Welk has worked with the Miss Maryland Pageant for nearly two decades. He has served in many capacities during that time including local pageant director, producer, as well as judge. He was a member of the judges' panel which named Virginia Cha as Miss Frederick, the first step to her being selected first runner-up to Miss America 1990. He has covered the Miss America Pageant as a freelance writer for various Maryland newspapers for the last four years.

To The Voters Of Garrett County:

As Garrett County grows, so grows the volume and complexity of the Office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

--The Maryland Administrative Office of the Courts reports that Circuit court case filings in Garrett County reached a total of 1,063 in 1989-90, up from 645 in 1977-78, when I began as a Deputy Clerk. This represents a 56% increase

DAVID K. MARTIN
Clerk of Circuit Court

--Trials, both jury and non-jury, have now reached 197 for the past fiscal year, up 42% in the last five years.

--Business licenses are issued by the Office of the Clerk of the Court. This year the office issued 947 business licenses, an increase of 40%.

--Deeds, mortgages and financing statements are filed and recorded in the Office of the Clerk of Court. The office recorded 6,480 of these instruments last year, up 41% in number since 1977. The revenue from recording these documents reached $854,596.17; thus, the office paid over $540,311.95 to Garrett County and $314,284.22 to the State of Maryland this year.

--The Office of the Clerk of the Court collected and disbursed to this County, to the State of Maryland and to local municipalities more than 1.41 million dollars in fiscal 1990, an increase of 170% since 1977.

--The Office of the Clerk of Court issued 763 marriage licenses and performed 391 marriage ceremonies in fiscal 1990.

The Office of the Clerk of Court requires a person that is experienced, capable and qualified. I believe that the 13 years I have served under Richard L. Davis and Clifford C. DeWitt have qualified me for this office.

I solicit your support and vote on September 11, 1990.

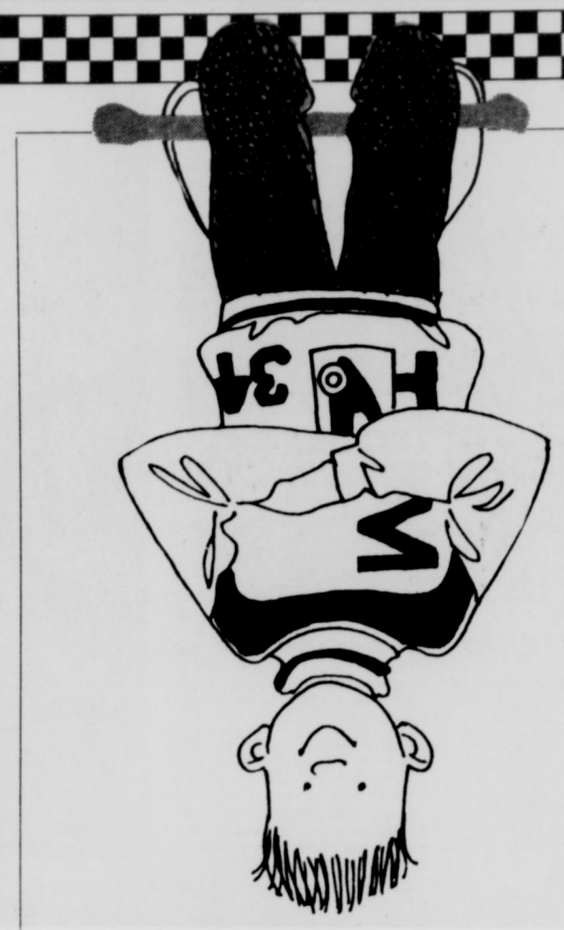
In the Kitchen



In September, the appearance of a new crop of superhero lunch boxes marks the opening of a new school year. Yet kids aren't the only ones carrying their lunches today. With the pressures of time, the pinch of budgets and concern about nutrition, a growing number of white collar workers are toting their midday meal — in anything from brown bags to briefcases.

To keep brown bag meals in line with the American Institute for Cancer Research's Dietary Guidelines, just follow a few simple tips:

•Eat of variety of foods each week (avoid a routine of nothing but tuna or peanut butter and jelly or any one item every day)

•Include foods with dietary fiber, such as fruits, vegetables and whole-grain bread.

•Limit the amount of high-fat foods, such as luncheon meats, butter, margarine and mayonnaise

It's also important for overall nutrition to watch the amounts of salt and sugar you consume. Choose low-sodium foods, such as fresh fruits and vegetables, lean meat and poultry, most often. Remember that beverages and desserts are often the worst culprits when it comes to excess sugar and fat at lunchtime.

WHOLE WHEAT APPLESAUCE CAKE OR CUPCAKES

½ cup oil
¾ cup granulated brown sugar
1 cup applesauce
1½ cups unsifted whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Oil and flour an 8-inch round or square baking pan, or muffin tins. Cream the oil and sugar together and mix in the applesauce and baking soda. Add flour and cinnamon, blending thoroughly. Pour the batter into pan, or make individual cakes in muffin tins. Bake at 375 °F. for 30 minutes for an 8-inch cake, about 20 minutes for cupcakes. Yield: 12 cupcakes or 18-inch pan.

CINNAMON NUTS

1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup boiling water
1½ cups walnuts or other nutmeats

Combine the sugar, cinnamon, cream of tartar and boiling water. Continue to boil until a candy thermometer registers 246 °F. Add the nuts and cool, stirring until the syrup sugars on the nuts. Turn out onto a flat surface. Separate the nuts and cool until dry. Store in a tightly covered container. Yield: About 1½ cups.

CRUNCHY CEREAL II

6 cups rolled oats (not quick-cooking)
1 cup wheat germ (untoasted)
1 cup sesame seeds (optional)
1 cup sliced almonds
½ cup honey
½ cup oil

Combine rolled oats, wheat germ, sesame seeds and almonds; spread evenly, to a depth of ½ to 1inch, in the bottom of a large baking pan (a jelly roll pan is good). Mix the honey and oil. (Heat gently if necessary to dissolve honey). Pour the syrup over the dry mixture. Combine thoroughly and place in oven at 225 °F. for approximately 2 hours, lifting the mixture with a spatula about every 20 minutes. Serve alone, or with fresh fruit and skim milk. Cereal keeps well in the refrigerator. Yield: 16 servings.

CRUNCHY CREREAL I

½ cups regular rolled oats (not quick-cooking)
½ cup coarsely chopped peanuts
½ cup sesame seeds
½ cup sunflower seeds
½ cup nonfat dry milk
½ cup wheat germ
¼ cup brown sugar, packed
¼ cup oil
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

In a large bowl, mix together the oats, nuts, seeds, milk and wheat germ. Combine brown sugar, cinnamon and oil, stirring until smooth. Mix with dry ingredients and spread mixture on a cookie sheet. Bake at 300 °F. for 1 hour, stirring every 10 minutes. Remove from oven, sprinkle with vanilla and allow to cool. Mixture keeps well if stored in an airtight container.

SPECIAL NUTS

½ cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg white
2 tablespoons water
2 cups nuts

Sift dry ingredients together into a small bowl. Combine egg white and water and beat slightly. Dip the nutmeats first in the egg white mixture. Roll them about in the dry ingredients lightly, keeping them separated. Place on an oiled cookie sheet and bake at 250 °F. about 1½ hours. Cool on the cookie sheet. Store in a tightly covered container. Yield: About 2 cups.

OATMEAL-CARROT COOKIES

½ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup margarine, melted
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup carrots, shredded
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup oatmeal
¼ cup wheat germ
½ cup raisins

In a small bowl, cream together sugar, margarine, egg and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add carrots and mix well. In another bowl, thoroughly stir together flour, baking powder, oatmeal and wheat germ. Stir the dry ingredients into the creamed mixture, fold in the raisins. Pour mixture into a vegetable-oil sprayed 9x9x2-inch pan. Bake at 350 °F. for 30 minutes. Let cool. Cut into bars or squares. Yield: 24 bars.

GINGER COOKIES

¾ cup margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten (or 2 egg whites or egg substitute equivalent to 1 egg)
¼ cup molasses
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon sugar

Cream the margarine and cup of sugar. Beat in the eggs and molasses. Sift the flour with soda and spices, and mix with the wet ingredients. Chill the dough. Shape into balls about 1 inch in diameter, roll in sugar and place 3 inches apart on an oiled baking sheet. Bake at 350 °F. 15 minutes. Yield: 24 2-inch cookies.

RAISIN-OATMEAL COOKIES

1 cup flour, sifted
½ teaspoon baking soda
1½ cups quick cooking oats
2 egg whites, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup brown sugar
⅓ cup oil
½ cup skim milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup seedless raisins

Sift together flour, baking soda and cinnamon. Stir in oats. Combine egg whites, brown sugar, oil, milk, vanilla, and raisins and add to flour mixture. Mix well. Drop batter a teaspoon at a time onto an oiled cookie sheet. Bake at 375 °F. for 12 to 15 minutes, depending on mixture desired. Shorter baking time results in a chewy soft cookie, the longer time in a crisp one. Yield: 3 dozen.

THE FRUITS OF OUR LABOR

As we anticipate Labor Day, we look forward to a well-earned day of rest, a day in which we may enjoy the fruits of our labor.

Perhaps a picnic is in your plans, or possibly a final trip to the lake to end this summer season. Whatever your plans, have a satisfying day, for you, the laborers, combine all occupations, both professional and nonprofessional, in order to keep the gears of our economy running smoothly, so that we might take pleasure in living in this great nation of ours.

This Sabbath Day, may we take the time to thank God for the strength of body and mind which he so richly bestows upon us each day. 1 Peter, 4:11 tells us that whoever renders service ". . . renders it by the strength which God supplies . . ."

OUR LEGACY FROM THE MEDICINE MAN

Who would ever think on entering today's streamlined pharmacy that many of the medicinals available there had their early beginnings with the medicine man? Of course, they have undergone many changes and refinements. In early days, Indians chewed on roots of certain plants in order to extract a "magic substance." This later evolved to a "more sophisticated" technique of cooking the roots for hours and then boiling down the resultant liquid.

Thousnds of years have passed since these earliest processes were begun. Our contemporary drugs may bear little resemblance to their crude ancestors. But, many of the basic chemical substances do date back to the medicine man.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HIDDEN AMONG THE BAGGAGE

September 2, 1990

Background Scripture: I Samuel 8; 10:17-27.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 72:1-11.

From the safety of our vantage point centuries later, we have a hard time understanding Saul. He had been annointed by the prophet Samuel to reign over Israel. Furthermore, Samuel had promised Saul that God would give him the gift of prophecy. The writer of I Samuel, God gave him us that "When he turned his back to leave Samuel, God gave him another heart and all these signs came to pass that day" (10:9). "Gave him another heart" means that God made a new man of him.

So, how then do we explain Saul's unwillingness to become the king of Israel? Why was it, when the lot fell first to his tribe, the Benjaminites, and then the family of Matrite—his family, and then himself, that he went into hiding? "Behold," came back the report, "he has hidden himself among the baggage" (10:22).

WHAT SAUL WANTED

One answer, of course, is that Saul did not feel that he was the right man for the job. He himself had first reacted with incredulity to Samuel's announcement: "Am I not a Benjaminite, from the least of the tribes of Israel? And is not my family the humblest of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then have you spoken to me in this way?" (9:21).

We can understand and appreciate his response to Samuel's first announcement of God's plan for him. But Samuel didn't stop with this announcement, he also went on to promise that God would give Saul the gift of prophecy and God made a new man of him. Surely, after these changes in his life, after seeing the lot fall specifically to him, he should have been able to overcome his doubts and responded to God's call. So why did he hide?

If Saul persisted in believing in his inadequacy after all God had done to persuade him otherwise, then it was because he continued to cling to his doubts and refused to accept the testimony of God. It took willpower and persaverance for him to hold on to his feelings of inadequacy. We must conclude that Saul persisted in thinking he wasn't up to it because he didn't want to be up to it. What may have begun as a response of humility ended up as one which was sheer arrogance. What was important to him was not what God wanted, but what he wanted or didn't want.

HUMBLE OR SELFISH?

Humility is one thing. Selfishness is something else. Our low estimates of our own self-worth are often more a matter of selfishness than humility. Actually, the point was not that Saul was a better man that he thought—although he was—but that doing the job did not depend totally upon himself and his own resources. God would make the different—the same kind of terms he offers us!

I want you to think back to a time when you responded negatively to someone asking you to take on a responsibility that would have been beneficial for someone in need—leadership of a group, initiative in a project, commitment to a certain task. What was the reason that you gave for saying "no"? Were you being honest, or were you merely joining Saul in hiding among the baggage?

The Miss America Pageant, the first and one of the most prestigious extravaganzas of its kind, will be celebrating its 70th anniversary when it is telecast live from Atlantic City, Saturday on NBC. Gary Collins will return for his ninth consecutive year as host with Miss America 1990 Debbye Turner, who will crown her successor.

Bert Parks to return to Miss America pageant

10-year absence comes to an end

By Anne Wheeler

Bert Parks returns a long-standing tradition to the 1990 Miss America Pageant, which airs Saturday, Sept. 8, on NBC.

Parks, who has been missing from the show for 10 years, will once again sing the popular refrain, "There She Is, Miss America," during the two-hour telecast.

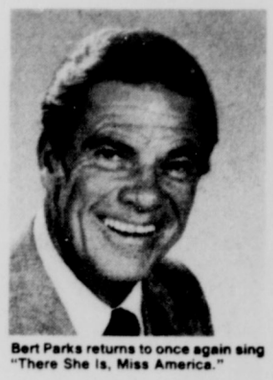
Although the pageant began in 1921, its television debut didn't come until 1954, when Lee Meriwether of San Francisco, Calif., was crowned Miss America of 1955.

Since its first telecast, the Miss America Pageant has always been broadcast live, although over the years the format of the show has changed a bit. However, according to Parks, its appeal has remained the same. "Basically this show is the biggest Cinderella story in America. You're rooting for the girl from your hometown to win, and when she does, you stand like she's royalty," Parks said.

Contestants and pageant organizers stress another aspect of the show these days, not just the idyllic qualities bestowed upon a Miss America. 1990 Miss America Debbye Turner, who will be crowning her successor on Saturday, became interested in the pageant for the scholarship money awarded to the winner and runners up. She is going to use her prize money to complete her veterinary studies at the University of Missouri.

Parks is a gifted performer who served as emcee of the Miss America Pageant for 25 years, beginning the second year of the televised pageant, in 1955. The very night the pageant was first aired, on ABC, Parks was hosting Two In Love on CBS.

Through the years he became so closely related to the pageant that many fans thought he hybernated from September to September. But that was not the case. As an actor, for example, he appeared on stage for 462 performances as the star of the Broadway hit The Music Man. He has also hosted such popular radio and television programs as Break The Bank, Stop The Music, Double Or Nothing and Giant Step, as well as making guest appearances in episodic shows.



Bert Parks returns to once again sing "There She Is, Miss America."

Parks' association with the Miss America Pageant, however, was his most consistent affiliation, but it was never one he took for granted. "I've never had more than a one-year contract in 25 years. Being the host of this gala event was fun when it all began for me in 1955," Parks said.

However the fun and tradition ended in 1980, when Parks was replaced by actor Ron Ely, then the next year by Gary Collins, who serves as emcee for his ninth consecutive year this year. Phyllis George, TV personality, businesswoman and Miss America 1971, will join Collins as a co-host.

When Parks left, gone, too, was the traditional song sung as the new reigning queen walked down the runway. But that should change this year as Parks is set to appear on the show, and render his version of the song at some point throughout the telecast.

He had initially been approached to be a judge for this year's pageant, along with actors John Forsythe, Shirley Jones, Nell Carter, Cynthia Sikes and Delta Burke, and columnist Larry King and author Sidney Sheldon. However, Parks said even all of his years of experience didn't quite qualify him for such a task. "I told them I couldn't do that," Parks said. "I never did pick the right one."

The king of comedy, Jerry Lewis, is sure to be in top form for this year's super spectacular 25th Anniversary MDA Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon originating in Los Angeles.

MDA Labor Day telethon marks its 25th year

Half-billion dollars raised helps patients

By Amy Schmidt

This week marks the 25th anniversary of the MDA Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon. After a 17-year run in Las Vegas, the telethon moves this year to Hollywood.

Once again Ed McMahon anchors the special. Co-hosting will be Leeza Gibbons of Entertainment This Week and talk show personality Sally Jessy Raphael.

King of comedy Jerry Lewis has been with the MDA for 40 years: "Each man must choose the cause closest to his heart. I've chosen mine. I want every father and mother in the world to have the joy of seeing their children free from the threat of neuromuscular disease," says Lewis.

The half billion dollars the telethon has raised in the last 25 years has gone a long way in helping those affected with MDA, including this year's poster child, Ashley Nichole Antolak.

Six-year-old Ashley has spinal muscular atrophy (SMA). As a baby, Ashley had trouble crawling and holding her head up. A blood enzyme test determined that something was wrong. When Ashley was three years old a doctor at an MDA clinic discovered she had SMA.

In the last year MDA-supported scientists announced a significant discovery in the treatment and cure for SMA. The landmark finding pinpoints the location of the gene or genes that cause the disease.

"Until this discovery, my husband Bob and I lived one day at a time. Now we realize that Ashley's future has brightened significantly," says Donna Antolak, Ashley's mother. "Scientists are well on their way toward understanding the genetic makeup of the disease that affects our little girl."

Ashley's duties as MDA's National Poster Child (she has even met with President Bush) have given the family strength and boosted little Ashley's morale.

"We're proud to serve as ambassadors of goodwill for MDA," says Bob Antolak.

Jack Nicholson surrounded by women in formative years

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I wrote to you last August. I have checked each week for my answers to Jack Nicholson's life and the movies he has starred in. Please give me his birth date, birth place, wives, children, brothers and sisters names. I know this is of general interest. —Mona Ayers, Petersburg, Penn.

A: You know the old saying, "better late than never." I am sorry it took so long, but it could be I never received your first letter. Jack Nicholson was born on April 22, 1937, in Neptune, N.J., to John and Ethel Nicholson. His father, a sign painter, left soon after his birth. He grew up surrounded by women, his mother and two sisters. Of the three women, only his sister Lorraine is alive today. He was married once, to actress Sandra Knight. They have a daughter, Jennifer, born in 1964. He also has a son by Susan Anspach, and more recently, a daughter by Rebecca Broussard. His films are too numerous to list here, but they include: The Passenger, The Shining, The Postman Always Rings Twice, Little Shop Of Horrors, Reds, The Trip, The King Of Marvin Gardens, Drive, The Missouri Breaks, Chinatown, The Last Tycoon and Batman.

Q: In the 1950s Admiral Thomas Dykes produced a program,* The Silent Service, *at Paramount Studios. It was about WWII submarines. Adm. Dykes passed away and his family and several of us in the Sub Vets have been trying to locate the old films. Do you think you can locate them? —Gerald Merwin, Palatka, Fla.

A: I suggest you write Yesteryear Video, Box C., Sandy Hook, CT 06482, or call 1-800-243-0987. They may be able to help you locate your film.

Q: I have heard several different stories about one of the precious children on* Full House, *Mary Kate Ashley Olsen, who plays Michelle. Is she "one" of a set of twins? And is Mary Kate Ashley Olsen the actual real-life daughter of one of the three main actors on the show? —Wanda Wells, Diboll, Texas

A: Michelle Tanner is played by twins, Mary Kate Olsen and Ashley Fuller Olsen. Their parents are not involved in the series.

SOAP TALK

Show's executives responsible for Emmy samples

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I would like to know who selects the film clips for the Emmy Awards. For the last 10 years Susan Lucci has been nominated for an award and she never wins. What I don't understand is why they show the worst film clips of her from All My Children. She has done much better work than what they show. I think someone does this deliberately. —Thank you for listening, Hattie Rand, Missouri Valley, Iowa

Dear Hattie: All My Children executives are responsible for submitting the film clips viewed for the Emmy Awards. Many critics like to speculate why Lucci has never won the coveted award for her portrayal of Erica Kane Montgomery, but the fact is nobody really knows why.

Dear Candace: I used to love watching Ryan's Hope. I was really upset when they took it off the air, mainly because I couldn't watch one of my favorite actors, Bernard Barrow, who played Johnny Ryan. He was one of the most sexy men on daytime. What is he doing now? Also, please tell me anything else you know about him. —Thanks, Betty in Conroe, Texas

Dear Betty: I hope I'm the first to give you the good news. Barrow can now be seen on the daytime soap Loving. He plays Louie Slavinsky, a sanitation worker who has fallen in love with Kate Rescott.

The veteran performer began his professional career as a child radio actor in the 1940s. He went on to act in theater, and then motion pictures. He had featured roles in Serpico, Rachel, Rachel, Glass Houses, Claudine and The Survivors.

Barrows has a Ph.D. in theater history from Yale University. He has been a member of the faculty for Brooklyn College since 1955. He recently retired from academia as professor emeritus.

He is a native New Yorker and was born and raised in Manhattan's Yorkville section. He continues to make his home with his wife, actress Joan Kaye.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748.

CBS engages in week-long quest for education crisis solution

By Amy Schmidt

The CBS special Project Education truly is a project. For one week (Sept. 2 through Sept. 7) the network will air seven-plus hours of special broadcast segments on Sunday Morning, 60 Minutes, The CBS Evening News, Nightwatch and a two-hour primetime special hosted by Charles Kuralt.

The subject is America's education crisis. According to one study, America's 13-year-old math students rank last among all industrialized nations. By the age of 15, Americans rank 15th among the 16 industrialized nations in scientific knowledge.

Says Joel Heller, the executive producer of America's Toughest Assignment, the two-hour primetime special airing Thursday, Sept. 6, "The deterioration of our nation's schools has the potential to do greater damage to this country than the national deficit. We cannot hope to compete as a nation if we continue to allow our most precious resource—the minds of our children—to fall short of their potential."

Neither the problem nor the solutions to it are new, says Heller: "The ideas for better education are already out there, but what's needed is a strategy for implementing them. That's what this CBS special is designed to do."

To implement these strategies CBS News has organized a national education conference Sept. 5 at Georgetown University in Washington. Education, business and political leaders will attempt to reach a consensus on methods to improve our nation's schools, such as training teachers, funding and setting academic goals.

Segments of the conference will then be broadcast on Nightwatch, Thursday, Sept. 6. A nationwide forum will also be held on Thursday. Teachers, students and community leaders at local CBS affiliates across the country will participate. Charles Kuralt will mediate.

State Explains Revised School Meal Program

The Maryland State Department of Education has announced revised income eligibility guidelines for free and reduced price meals and free milk. These guidelines will be in effect through June 30, 1991.

Entitlement to free and reduced price meals or free milk is determined by household size and income. A child from a family of four, for example, will be entitled to a free lunch and/or breakfast, (or where available, a free milk) if the household's current income is below $16,510. Last year the figure was $15,730.

Students this year will pay 20 cents for a reduced price lunch and 10 cents for a reduced price breakfast if, for example the income for a household of four is between $16,511 and 23,495. Last year's income range in that category was $15,730 to 22,385. The guidelines are used by schools, institutions, and centers participating in the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs, Special Milk Program, and Child and Adult Care Food Programs.

Except for split session kindergarten programs that do not have access to meals, schools that participated in the federally funded meal programs do not receive subsidy for milk. Separate servings of milk will only be available free to eligible students in schools that participate in the Special Milk Program and have elected the free milk option.

Application forms with a letter to parents will be sent to all families with children in school. Income information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining and verifying eligibility. No child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, age, handicap, national origin, or ability to pay. Persons believing they have been discriminated against should write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington D.C. 20250.

Federal regulations require counties to verify income information contained on three percent of all approved applications for free and reduced price meals. Applications to be verified will be randomly selected, and households will be notified by the school and told what type of documentation they will have to submit to prove their eligibility.

A copy of the current policy and complete income guidelines will be available in each school.

Persons requesting further information may contact Richard Buckingham, Assistant in Food Service, Garrett County Board of Education, P.O. Box 59, Oakland, Md. 21550; phone number 301-334-8917.

A complete policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Food Service Department at the Garrett County Board of Education. It is available to be reviewed by any interested party, according to a spokesman.

SEPTEMBER WELLNESS TOGETHER

On May 25, Smoke Stoppers was featured on ABC's 20/20 as a model quit smoking program. Over a period of several months, 20/20 studied a variety of programs, interviewed providers, and conducted follow-up studies of participants from three different types of cessation programs. In addition to Smoke Stoppers, they featured acupuncture and a "physician clinic" that provides one-on-one counseling along with injections behind the ears. The result of their study? The on-camera individuals that were tracked for the other programs failed and the Smoke Stoppers graduates were successful.

Join the next class of Smoke Stoppers by attending a free introductory class Monday, September 24, at 6:30 p.m., at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital board room. Call 334-2155 to reserve your place today!

Thank you for submitting your entries to the Wellness Together Health Stars Contest. We received over 75 nominations of people who have made significant health changes or organizations that have encouraged change. A selection committee will review the nominations and begin making the choices of the twelve health stars to be featured on our 1991 calendar. Keep up the good work.

September is National Colo-Rectal Cancer Awareness Month. According to the American Cancer Society, currently 130,000 American people get colo-rectal cancer. But with early detection and prompt treatment, three out of four colo-rectal cancer patients can not only survive the cancer but actually return to normal active lives. Talk with your physician and know the ACSD guidelines for colon and rectum screening.

- Colon and Rectum.
- Digital rectal exam every year.
- Stool slide test every year after 50 years old.
- Procto exam after two initial negative tests one year apart every three to five years after 50 years old.

Higher risk for colo-rectal cancer — personal or family history of colon or rectal cancer, personal or family history of polyps in the colon or rectum, ulcerative colitis.

The Wellness Together office has the ACS Colo-Rectal Cancer slide/tape presentation for the public. This includes a colo-rectal health check information sheet. If you would like to borrow these materials for a group presentation, please call 334-2155.

During the week of September 23-29, the American Heart Association will sponsor its Sixth Annual Food Festival event in grocery stores throughout the United States. Food Festival is a nutrition awareness event that teaches consumers how to adopt a more healthy diet, low in fat and cholesterol.

Former Students Of Sang Run School Convene

Twenty-three former students of the Sang Run School assembled at the Sang Run Community Park Sunday for a picnic and a get-together to reminisce about their school days of the past. The Sang Run School opened June 1903 and was closed June 1944.

Among those present was 88-year-old M. Ethel (Savage) DeWitt of McHenry.

Of the interesting stories told about the old school, the one about its closing revealed that consolidation of schools was upsetting to a community, just as it is today. As told, the county school board ordered the closing, but the students and their parents refused to listen. Instead of catching the bus for Friendsville, the students continued to attend their own school even though the teacher had been dismissed. Martin Savage, a former teacher at the school, came out of retirement and took on the job of teaching, without pay.

"After a month or so the School Board got tough," a reunion spokesman said. "The teaching material was removed and many of the books were thrown over the bank into the creek. A hasp and padlock were installed on the door. Even so, the students continued to assemble and Mr. Savage continued to teach, outside in the school yard. Finally the truant officer visited the parents and offered a choice — either get your children on the school bus or face legal action for non-school attendance. Only then did the Sang Run School cease to exist."

Former students attending the reunion were: Jane (DeWitt) Burnette, Doris (Friend) Rodeheaver, Beulah (Savage) Mickle, Juanita (Savage) Onese, Naomie Savage, Wilda (Savage) Snyder, Ellen (Frantz) Enlow, Baxton Hoye, Arnold Friend, Homer Friend, Edward C. DeWitt, M. Ethel (Savage) DeWitt, John (Jack) Hinebaugh, Elva (DeWitt) Frantz, Dale E. Rodeheaver, Kathryn Hoye, Freda (DeWitt) Austin, Ruth (Friend) Spiker, Harry DeWitt, Mary Ellen (Savage) Friend, Dorothy (Savage) Thomas, Anna Bell (Savage) DeWitt, and Stanley Savage.

The Southern High School Class of 1964 recently awarded a scholarship to Brain Burns, son of 1964 class member, Jackie (Ramsey) Phillips. Brian is an engineering student at Edinboro University in Edinboro, Pa.

This is the second scholarship awarded from a fund established by the class at its 25-year reunion. The recipient of the first scholarship was Mrs. Phillip's stepdaughter, Tina, who is a business major at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Friendsville Unit Bloodmobile Set For September 7

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will sponsor a bloodmobile at the Friendsville Fire Hall on Friday, September 7, from noon until 6 p.m.

Up to four individuals, including accident victims, surgical patients, leukemia patients and hemophiliacs can be helped from a single blood donation.

Persons who do not meet medical requirements to give blood are welcome and needed as volunteers, according to a Red Cross spokesman. With the exception of the Red Cross staff nurses, everyone serving at a bloodmobile is a volunteer. Those interested in assisting may contact Esther Benedict, chairman of the Friendsville unit, at 746-5744.

MVA Announces Amnesty Plan For Motorists

Maryland State Police and the Maryland Motor Vehicle Adminsitration (MVA) have announced an amnesty program for motorists avoiding vehicle excise taxes by failing to legally register and title their vehicle.

"It's a 60-day amnesty period from September 1 until the end of October," stated W. Marshall Rickert, administrator of the Motor Vehicle Administration. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service broadcast, Rickert called on motorists who are in violation of the state's registration and licensing laws to come forward.

"In the 60-day amnesty period, there is no prosecution and the funds will be earmarked for Maryland's developmentally disabled," added Rickert. The Motor Vehicle Administration estimates the average vehicle excise tax totals $300 per vehicle. Maryland law requires new residents to register and title vehicles within 30 days of establishing residency in Maryland. The penalty for failing to properly register and title a vehicle could result in a fine up to $1,000 once the amnesty period ends October 31, 1990. The Motor Vehicle Administration is reminding motorists to present a certificate of title (proof of ownership), an inspection certificate, and required insurance information at any full service MVA branch in order to properly register and title a vehicle.

The Motor Vehicle Administration, Maryland State Police and local law enforcement agencies will begin a comprehensive enforcement program to identify vehicles in violation of the state's registration and titling laws.

"There is going to be a major law enforcement effort," stated Rickert. "Police will attempt to notify vehicle owners to take advantage of the amnesty program," Rickert added.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service radio broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Safety Traffic Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Portions of this program are carried on the Maryland State Police Newsline, (301) 653-4275.

Alcohol Awareness Training Deadline September 1

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said more than 3,500 people in the past year have taken one of the approved alcohol awareness courses to comply with a state law that requires the licensee or an employee of an establishment that serves alcoholic beverages for on-site consumption to complete alcoho awareness training by this Friday, September 1.

The comptroller ha approved 15 alcohol awarenes training programs that can be used to meet the requirements of the law.

"Alcoholic beverage licensees who have not completed the training should contact the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division at 974-3314 to get a list of the approved courses and their sponsors," Goldstein said.

The law that mandated the alcohol awareness training requirement went into effect July 1, 1989, and requires a licensee or designated employee of an establishment authorized to serve alcoholic beverages for on-site consumption to receive training in alcohol awareness from a course approved by the state comptroller.

"Fraternal and veterans' service organizations that operate bars and lounges should be aware that this law also applies to them," Goldstein said. "The programs provide training on the physiology of alcohol, on serving alcohol in a way that minimizes intoxication, and on stopping service before the customer is intoxicated."

Penalties for noncompliance include a first offense fine of $100. Subsequent offenses carry a $500 fine and/or suspension of liquor licenses. Local liquor boards will monitor compliance. Off-premise licensees are exempt under the law.

Billy Graham Film Showing Scheduled

CAUGHT, the newest film from Billy Graham's World Wide Pictures, will be shown on Sunday, Sept. 9, at 6:30 p.m., at the Ferndale Baptist Church.

The true-to-life dramatic story features an 18-year-old American, Tim Devon, who goes to Amsterdam in search of the father he has never known. His mother reluctantly admits he was born illegitimately out of a college romance between her and a Dutch exchange student.

In this city, far from his home, he slips into the self-destructive drug culture, but is encountered by a Christian, Rajam Prasad, who shares "Christ's message of love, hope and forgiveness in a way that Time could not ignore."

Of the film Billy Graham said, "CAUGHT is certainly the most outstanding film yet produced by World Wide Pictures."

Library Delegates To Meet Next Month In Towson

Delegates and alternates will gather for three days of seminars and work sessions to help determine the future of Maryland libraries at the Maryland Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services, Sept. 23-25, at the Sheraton Towson Conference Hotel in Towson.

The goal of the conference is to promote the expanding role of libraries as the central source of information for democracy, literacy and economic development in the state. The 202 delegates and 38 alternates, representing citizens, library and educational board members, government officials and professional librarians from Western Maryland to the Eastern Shore, will focus on library issues related to providing Marylanders with "equal access to information," the conference theme.

Citizens have submitted more than 200 "issue statements" for discussion at the conference. The issue statements cover a wide range of topics, from the need for more bilingual librarians, to improving library services to inmates, to holding a "library lottery for literacy." Delegates and alternates held numerous "speakouts" and other public forums in their communities during the spring and summer to gather local input. This information will serve as the basis for their discussions. On the final day of the conference, delegates will vote on five key resolutions for the future of Maryland libraries, which will be presented to Gov. William Donald Schaefer and sent to the White House Conference on Libraries and Information Services, July 9-13, 1991, in Washington D.C.

This is the second state conference on libraries to be held in Maryland. Delegates at the first Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services, in October 1978, passed 99 resolutions. Their recommendations resulted in increased library networking and resource sharing, long-range planning for library services, better access to libraries for the handicapped and other library improvements statewide.

To provide input on library services to conference delegates, citizens can call the Division of Library Development and Services at the Maryland State Department of Education, (301) 333-2117.

Silent Partner To Be Employed By State Police

Maryland State Police will soon be using a mobile audio-video recording system as part of an experimental program designed to enhance patrol performance and trooper safety during traffic stops. The system features a small video camera which in mounted on the windshield of the patrol car and a four-inch monitor that displays time, date, and tape counter on the screen. The video system also records audio using a wireless microphone that is worn by the trooper. The system is called Silent Partner and is manufactured by Mobile Vision Incorporated of New Jersey.

"This experiment will provide an opportunity to evaluate the advantages of automatic video equipment in the patrol car," stated Colonel Elmer H. Tippett, Superintendent, Maryland State Police. "We are particularly interested in the use of this equipment to enhance the safety of our troopers."

The Maryland State Police are among several law enforcement agencies which are evaluating the use of camera equipment in patrol vehicles. The devices have been successfully used to record events surrounding traffic stops for various traffic law violations including driving while intoxicated. The video equipment can also be used to photograph accident scenes where investigators are gathering critical evidence and information.

The experimental use of the audio-video equipment will be limited to troopers who have been provided technical instruction on the operation of the equipment. Any videotaping performed during the experimentation will be used exclusively by the Maryland State Police for internal evaluation only.

It will be held on 3 consecutive Tuesdays from October 9 through October 23 from 6:30-9:30 p.m. at the McHenry campus.

"Fundamentals of Management Supervisors" will be valuable for the new or the experienced supervisor or manager. ALL GARRETT COUNTY VOTERS

We are fortunate in having so many dedicated women in Garrett County who generously serve and work, both politically and socially, for the common good of all citizens. One such woman is Brenda Butscher whose past record of serving our people is outstanding. Over the last decade she has proven her ability to serve as a County Commissioner, the position she now seeks. She has demonstrated her ability to execute the duties of that position in an exemplary manner and will no doubt do so with equity and fairness to all citizens regardless of their standing in the County.

It is my concern that because she is a woman she is being put down. It has been stated by some that only men should be in the Commissioners' office. Such statements are just unfounded rhetoric. Women commissioners serve with creditability and distinction in other counties in Maryland, as Brenda Butscher will so serve Garrett County.

Any candidate for the office of Commissioner should be rated on their qualifications to serve and their stand on the specific issues confronting our county. If you will do this, you will find Brenda Butscher to stand head and shoulders above her competitors.

Extended WIP Sign-Up Dates Are Announced

Private, non-industrial woodland owners who manage their forest land may apply for financial assistance through the Woodland Incentive Program (WIP). The time period for accepting applications has been extended to Wednesday, October 31. WIP is administered by the Department of Natural Resources-Forest, Park and Wildlife Service (DNR-FPWS).

Landowners with 10 to 500 acres, who agree to maintain the forestry practice for 15 years, are eligible to apply for this cost-share program. WIP can pay up to 50 percent of the costs associated with forest management, not to exceed $5,000 per year. Landowners may not have applied for, received approval for, or be receiving federal cost-share assistance for the same forestry practice for which assistance is sought.

WIP is funded by money generated from transfer taxes on the sale of woodland in Maryland. It is not a new tax but a reallocation of funds already being received by the state. WIP was created by legislation to financially assist forest landowners in continuing to manage their forests. Maximum annual funding for the program is $200,000.

Applications for WIP will be accepted by DNR-FPWS county or regional foresters at regional forestry offices. To apply, a landowner must submit an application, including a forest management plan, to project foresters.

The address of the local DNR regional service centers is: Western Region, Route 8, Box 22, Naves Crossroads, Cumberland, MD 21502, 301-777-2134.

State Police Issue Labor Day Holiday Message

Maryland State Police are delivering a Labor Day holiday message to motorists — reduce speeds and obey the posted speed limits to save lives, energy, and money.

"In addition to saving lives, reducing speeds can save an average motorist up to two gallons of gasoline per tankful," stated Colonel Elmer H. Tippett, Superintendent, Maryland state Police. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly pubic service broadcast, Colonel Tippett urged motorists to obey all posted speed limits.

"For every ten miles per hour over the limit, fuel efficiency can drop 10 to 15 percent," stated Tippett. "If evey motorist obeyed the 55 mile per hour speed limit, Maryland could save an estimated 6.3 million gallons of gasoline annually."

The estimated fuel savings are based on fuel efficiency data provided by the Maryland Department of Transportation's Office of Transportation Planning. A recent survey of highway mileage data indicates that seven billion of the forth billion vehicle miles travelled annually in Maryland are in excess of the state's 55 mile per hour speed limit.

Governor William Donald Schaefer has asked the governors of seven northeastern states which also have the 55 mile per hour speed limit to join Maryland in protesting soaring gasoline prices. In letters to the governors of Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Rhode Island. Governor Schaefer appealed for compliance with the 55 mile an hour speed limit as a show of unified oppositions to the recent round of gasoline price hikes.

HELP YOUR CHILD GET READY FOR SCHOOL

The approach of a new school year can be an exciting unnerving, even an intimidating experience for children — especially those who are entering kindergarten or first grade. Although many children have already been cared for outside their home — in day-care centers, play groups and nursery schools — entering a "real school" is still a major event in their lives.

"Preschools and day-care centers generally are geared to give children at least some of the individualized, personal care they receive at home," explains Dr. Billie Frazier, a human development specialist with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service. "Kindergarten, on the other hand, is part of an institution designed to help children meet the requirements of society."

Although a happy preschool experience may help promote a comfortable transition into kindergarten, it isn't a guarantee.

To help children successfully make the transition from home or day-care center to school, Dr. Frazier offers the following advice:

*Don't make the beginning of school a topic of daily conversation during the summer, but be willing to honestly answer your child's questions. You may want to read some good books about school and share stories about the "old days" when you went to school.

*Treat going to school as part of the normal course of events something that is expected. Don't give the impression that there is any choice about whether or not to attend school. Explain to your child that everyone has a job; your job is going to work every day, his or her job is going to school.

*Don't allow older children to frighten or tease younger children with tales of how awful school is.

*If you work, try to make special arrangements that allow you to be home the first day or two when your child returns from school. If this isn't possible, find other ways to give a little extra attention, such as calling your child at home after school or making plans to do something together when you get home.

*Make sure your child understands any transportation plans and arrangements for before or after-school care if you work.

*Help your child learn his or her whole name, address and telephone number and what to do if you get home late. Practice basic skills, such as tying shoes and getting dressed.

*Don't try to force your child to be thrilled about going to school. It is natural for children not to be ecstatic about giving up a comfortable environment for uncertain territory.

*Let your child know what you will be doing while he or she is at school. Mentioning concrete taskes, such as laundry, vacuuming, writing a report or going to a meeting, can be very reassuring to children.

*Plan ahead for any changes to daily schedules, adjusting meals and bedtimes as necessary; implement the new schedule a month before school starts to give you and your child time to get used to it.

*Make arrangements to pay a visit to your child's teacher and classroom before school starts, so he or she will know where to go.

*Plan to attend meetings and social events for teachers and parents. Get involved in your child's education.

Despite the best planning and reassurances, there is always the chance that your child may balk when it's time to go to school.

"That's when you have to grit your teeth, control your protective instincts and push," says Frazier. "Usually, the hardest part is the actual moment of separation. Most children recover quite quickly after that."

By being supportive, interested and patient, she adds, parents can help children overcome their initial fear or uneasiness within a few days.

As youngsters become comfortable in their new surroundings, develop trust in their teachers, make friends, and discover that some fun and interesting things happen in school, they'll look forward to going to school and forget they were ever afraid.

VOTERS' GUIDE

Primary Election, September 11, 1990

This Voters' Guide has been published through the cooperative efforts of the Garrett County League of Women Voters and The Republican Newspaper as a service to all registered voters who will be called upon to make important decisions on September 11 in the Maryland Primary Election and again on November 6 in the General Election.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization which works to promote political responsibility through the informed and active participation of citizens in their government. The League does not support or oppose any political party or candidate.

The biographical information and answers to questions in this guide appear EXACTLY as submitted. Corrections in spelling and grammar were not made by The Republican staff. Those answers that exceeded 50 words were cut off at that limit.

Citizens may vote in the Primary Election only in the party in which they are registered.

A sample ballot will be published in this newspaper next week. One is now available at the League of Women Voters office at 203 Alder Street, Oakland. They will also be posted at each polling place.

Experience

I believe my background, education , and experience have well-prepared me to meet the challenges of county government for the next four years. I have served the people of Garrett County as a full-time county commissioner since 1982. Prior to being elected, I was employed for four years in the field of primary and secondary education as both a teacher and an administrator.

Answers

1. Sound fiscal management of tax dollars must continue to be the top priority of county government. Secondly, we must maintain a healthy business climate which provides for economic growth, a broadened tax base, and better employment opportunities for our people. Our ability to fund basic services hinge on these factors.

2. Our committment to education is demonstrated by the fact that we have been able to significantly increase funding each year for the past eight years, thanks to a growing economy and expanding tax base. I remain firm in my committment to education and the economic growth needed to fund it.

3. Maintain sound fiscal management in county government and a positive atmosphere for business expansion; utilize new revenues to improve quality of life and promote Garrett County as a wholesome place to live, work, and play; continue to recruit compatible manufacturers like Bausch & Lomb, Phenix Technologies, and Garrett Optical.

4. I oppose county-wide zoning because zoning has been adopted in the more densely-populated areas; development in the more rural areas would be the least restrictive, thereby making the regulations of little effect. This would unnecessarily compromise the rights of property owners and create another bureaucracy to complicate our lives.

I would strive to recruit businesses that could provide opportunity for higher wages and a quality work envoirnment. B. Effective and efficient distribution of county revenues. The appropriation

2. I would support higher funding. I would analize all facets of the education budget to be satisfied that the funds were being used in the most efficient manner. I would be sure that the total county budget was at its peak efficiency. Then, I would do what I would have to do.

3. I would involve myself in the visitation and solicitation of prospective businesses that could improve the employment opportunity of Garrett County's people. I would plan and monitor all development; support controls that protect property owners from fraud and shoddy workmanship. I would work to achieve a proper building code for Garrett County.

4. Yes, zoning is important to insure quality development. This can protect the best interest of all Garrett County people. I would respect the rights of property owners in the writing of these zoning laws to allow as much freedom from restriction, as possible.

Answers

1. Developing and maintaining a First Class education system with a new spirit of cooperation between the Board of Education and the County Commissioners. The development of business and industry which is compatible with the character of Garrett County and will complement and enhance the existing economic makeup of the county.

2. I am definitely in favor of increasing funding for the schools as long as the increase is directed toward improving facilities and direct pupil contact personnel (i.e. teachers, aides, counselors, etc. The first source of funding would be a reallocation of existing resources. The last resort, an increase in the tax rate.

3. The development of an education system which we can "brag about" will help provide the kind of environment for business and industry which will make Garrett County competitive with its neighbors in Western Maryland. Economic incentives should be used to attract new business and industry.

4. I favor immediate zoning for potential development and enterprise areas. I feel that the zoning of the entire county should procede at a slower pace with sensitivity for the housing and business requirements of all of our population. Zoning should provide a rational plan for the continued growth of Garrett County without penalizing existing land owners.

Garrett County Government is directed by the Board of Commissioners, comprised of three commissioners, one elected from each of the three commissioner districts by all county voters. The salary for each commissioner in 1991 will be $20,500 per year.

Commissioner District I includes southeast Garrett County and thus Bloomington, Bittinger, Deer Park, Kitzmiller, Swanton, and Mt. Lake Park. The winner of this race will be unopposed in the general election.

GEORGE J. BRODAK
Education

As a young teenager, I had to leave school and work to help support my family. I worked on a family farm and held many other jobs, working as a coal miner, laborer, and radio announcer, to list a few. I also served in the military. These experiences gave me a strong sense of responsibility and helped me to grow up. But, I was never able to return to school. Because my schooling was cut short, I appreciate the importance of education. As an independent businessman, I have always valued education and encouraged others to finish school.

Experience

I believe that my experience as a businessman is excellent preparation for managing county government. I know what it means to meet a payroll, how to control costs, how to manage people, and how to offer services. To be successful in business, you have to meet the needs of your customers. Government should meet the needs of the people. I have lived and worked in Garrett County for more than 20 years and understand the problems and potential we have. Because I have not held public office before, I can bring new and fresh ideas.

Answers

1. Efficiency is one major concern. The people deserve the maximum return for their taxes, which means eliminating waste, improving effectiveness, and measuring the return on all programs. A second concern is planning for the future so we can stimulate growth, improve our schools, and use our resources wisely.

2. I propose three strategies to increase funding for education. First, make more of the budget available by instituting cost controls. Second, focus budget support on items directly related to instruction and reduce commitment to non-teaching activities. Third, actively seek external funding (government, private foundations) for support of specific programs.

3. I would commission a "community assessment" and a "needs assessment" of the business community by an independent group (ie. university graduate students) to identify needs and strengths. I would create a Master Plan, strengthen the Promotion Council, eliminate "bounty" payments, and actively recruit environmentally sound manufacturing businesses.

4. I support a complete review of the current zoning laws to make the codes more responsive to people's needs. Zoning is the best way to protect the environment, protect the rights of property owners, manage growth and stimulate economic development. I also support a review/appeal process to review decisions.

1. I am running for commissioner because of my concern and love for Garrett county. Since I would be representing all the peole, all issues are equally important. I am concerned with education, county roads, property rights, developers, taxes, commissioners salary, and the lack of an "Open Government" policy.

2. Education is important. A good school system attracts industry. We must make the present funding do the most for teachers and classroom supplies. If more funding is needed, I would be in favor of using the current surplus or take money from another project that is less important.

3. By this question, I assume you mean beneficial growth for all the people. The only way to do this is with new leadership doing feasiblitity studies cost analysis, and market surveys. Hopefully, we could use our three industrial parks and our natural resources.

4. I am opposed to zoning for all of Garrett County. Before I would support zoning for any area in Garrett County there must be compelling reasons for such zoning which are substantiated and agreed to by specific area.

A) Economic development — We must continue to improve our transportation avenues, roads, bridges, and the airport. Economic development expands our tax base and provides employment. We must preserve the natural beautyof the county to continue to attract visitors; B) We must continue to improve our educational system.

2. I favor and have continually supported increased funding for education. The Board of Education must demonstrate fiscal responsibility so that funding is utilized to the greatest potential. Funding emphasis must be directed toward instructional salaries and materials.

3. Maintaining a workable balance between economic development and preserving our natural resources. Continue working to stabilize employment, maintaining an affordable tax structure, and providing a positive business climate that is condusive to attracting working capital into our economy.

4. Oppose. However, I recognize the need to restrict certain types of functions to designated areas. Municipalities are zoned, which encompasses 60% of our population. Deep Creek Lake water shed is zoned. 21% of Garrett County land is state owned and regulated. Agricultural preservation districts and wetlands are restricted.

County Elective Offices

There are 26 county elective positions to be filled. Of these, those positions which are uncontested are for County Commissioner District 2, Treasurer, State's Attorney, Register of Wills, Sheriff, and Board of Education District 1.

Board Of Education

NOTE: The names of the candidates for the Garrett County Board of Education will NOT appear on the primary ballot because there are no more than two persons in each district seeking a seat on the board. They will appear on the general election ballot in November, when three candidates will be elected to the five-member board. Incumbent Mikal McCartney Moomau will run unopposed in District 1; Mary Wachter is challenging incumbent Beverly Sines Murphy in District 2; and Bryan S. Paugh is challenging incumbent Charles Teets in District 3. The election is non-partisan.

The voters of Garrett County have elected school board members from each commissioner district since September 14, 1982. Present members not up for election this year are Carol Clark and Rodney Durst.

QUESTIONS FOR CANDIDATES

1. Why are you seeking a position on the Board of Education?
2. How do you perceive the responsibilities of the Board of Education in relation to the responsibilities of the Superintendent of Schools?
3. Recently there has been a substantial difference of opinion and understanding of facts between the Board of Education and the Board of County Commissioners regarding the renovation of Southern High School. What do you believe needs to be done to develop a better rapport between the Board of Education and the county Commissioners?
4. Many of our public schools now need renovation or replacement. Knowing the funding difficulties of the past, how would you recommend this problem be dealt with?

1. I have been a Board member for three and one half years. I have been very interested in assessing the needs of the school systems for setting short and long range goals. I have a strong interest and commitment to continue on the Board to realize some of these goals.

2. The Board of Education is responsible for establishing the policies and procedures that govern the school system. The Superintendent of Schools, working with his staff, is responsible for carrying out the policies and procedures.

3. To avoid misunderstandings of facts, oral discussions, commitments and/or agreements that transpire between the School Board and County Commissioners I would recommend an appointed staff member record the minutes of any meetings. These minutes should be approved by both parties and become public record.

4. The needs assessment proved community schools work best. State funding available is for larger, consolidated schools. For answers to this dilemma the School Board commissioned an expert study of the southern elementary schools assessing renovation/replacement status. Funding for this study was cut from the budget by the Commissioners.

1. I am seeking re-election to the Board of Education to continue pursuing my goal of providing quality education for all Garrett County youth. This investment of my time and the wise use of tax dollars allow a better future for the County's youth of today who will be its adults of tomorrow.

2. The responsibilities of the Board of Education are to set goals, to formulate policies to implement these goals within the framework of State and federal laws and by-laws, and to abide by these policies. The responsibility of the superintendent is to implement these goals and policies through administrative procedures.

3. I believe there MUST be better communications between both boards which could be effected through regularly scheduled meetings consisting of both boards sitting together, discussing and reaching common conclusions about mutual concerns; and recording these conclusions through officially written and published minutes.

4. Since the Board of Garrett County Commissioners has fiscal control, this Board should set aside an Investment Revenue Allocation for Education (IRA for Education) each year in the County Budget which could be used for building projects and renovations of buildings as they are needed in the Garrett County Public School System.

I am a very involved parent of four children attending three schools in Garrett County. I am a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, assistant Cub Master of the Pack 80 Cub Scouts, and a member of the Northern Athletic Boosters Association. My experience lies in my active participation in all aspects of my children's education. Most importantly, I am a communicator, willing to listen. Our children are our future, and it is my desire to see that every one of them is offered the very best.

Answers

1. I believe the top priority of Garrett County should be our youth and their education. If we lose sight of that, any other accomplishments would be of little value. I am dedicated to doing everything within my power to see that our children are offered the best possible education.

2. The ultimate decision-making should be by the Board, considering input from the Superintendant and others informed in matters at hand. They are elected to uphold the responsibility of seeing that all students receive quality education and fair treatment. The Superintendant must oversee other administrators and teachers, answering in turn to the Board.

3. Our officials must be willing to listen to and work with one another. The Board cannot fulfill its purpose alone — if the members cannot reach mutual understanding with the Commissioners, our students will ultimately suffer the consequences. Without communication, the muddled mess of the S.H.S. renovation will undoubtably be repeated.

4. Certainly we have learned from past mistakes. Again, the answer lies in open communication and willingness to cooperate between those elected to make the decisions regarding renovation. Common sense tells us that the funds made available set the guidelines as to what can and cannot be accomplished.

1. While serving on the Board of Education I have pushed for many new programs and procedures aimed at improving the quality of services our students receive and see these programs now emerging. I feel I have more to offer to the students and would like to continue to serve them.

2. A Board member should serve as a conduit from the public they represent to the superintendant providing information on public concerns, not trying to do the day to day administration of the system. The Board's principle function is to set policy. It is the superintendent's responsibility to administrate.

3. I think that the only solution to better rapport between the two Boards would be using total honesty. As evidenced there are considerable differences of opinion at times. Rather than keeping these differences private or spreading them through the press, an honest and open airing of these differences is needed.

4. All of our schools are in need of attention whether due to physical condition or size of enrollment. We need to establish a local, yearly funding obligation that can be utilized for this problem rather than waiting, as has been done in the past, until the problems require drastic action.

Central Committees

The Democratic and Republican parties will elect their county central committees in the Primary Election, September 11. These committees work with the national and state party organizations through the state central committees to support and promote (a) party policies in the county and the state, and (b) national candidates on the local ballot. These committees comprise the county organization and, as such, (a) promote party policy as it applies to county issues, (b) try to ensure that the party has a slate of candidates to represent it in primary elections, and (c) support those party candidates who are successful in reaching the ballot for the general election. These committees also work with the Governor's office by submitting names for appointive office. Each committee is composed of six members; therefore, voters are asked to vote for as many as six candidates.

The candidates for Democratic Central Committee are: George E. Brady, Donald H. Fratz, Charles P. Nolan, Bruce B. Opel, Theodore Raynovich, Sr., Ruth H. Ryan, Spencer R. Schlosnagle, and Harold D. I will support grants based upon need to jurisdictions without an adequate tax base, particularly for education and transportation, so that all Maryland will get a fair shake. I do not consider the piggyback tax fair game for state revenue needs. And I will not raise taxes.

2. I support abortion for the life of the mother, rape, incest, or gross genetic deformity, and also support medicaid funding in those instances. Further, I believe the question must be put to referendum, following consideration by the legislature. I challenge Governor Schaefer to debate this sensitive topic.
3. The Chesapeake Bay Summit Agreement is a good start, but we must be certain that it is adequately funded, without question, or its goals of reducing nutrients into the Bay will not be met. I would expand it by covering chemical and other runoffs, and negotiate with neighboring states accordingly.
4. This legislation is a shambles. I would put limitations on PAC Contirbutions, and I would strictly limit contributions from one campaign to another. It is a scandal that funds contributed by taxpayers for this gubernatorial election since 1974 have been frozen in the legislature by Governor Schaefer.
5. The main priority is to get the state's finances back under control. My Lieutenant Governor will assemble all department budgets with an eye towards economy, ending duplicative positions, and waste. Then we can reprioritize Maryland's needs for people - not costly stadiums. High on our list will be hospitals, and elementary education.

1. As Chairman of the Military Personnel & Compensation Subcommittee, I introduced employment transition legislation aimed at the 120,000+ military personnel affected by troop draw-downs and defense cuts. I favor an extension of the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit to encourage employers to hire economically disadvantaged workers. I support federal trade assistance

2. I oppose federal funds for abortion.

3. I am a cosponsor of H.R. 13 to reform federal campaign finance laws. I would support a reduction in the maximum amount that a PAC may spend in an election, incentives to limit overall spending, and the elimination of "soft money." I would not support the use of taxpayers' dollars to subsidize political campaigns.

4. In 1986, I supported the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit reduction law. We must adhere to those deficit limits established under Gramm-Rudman. I have supported cuts in defense spending required to meet these targets and anticipate that I will support further reductions in both defense and domestic spending. I voted in favor of the Balanced Budget Amendment.

5. I have a proven record of problem-solving, job creation, accessibility and leadership. I have a track record of working well with both the House Leadership and the Administration. If we are to solve the problems facing this nation, we must move beyond parisan bickering and address the issues.

1. It would be my legislative goal to provide every American employment, Unemployed, homeless and returning military can be employed rebuilding our country's infrastructure similar to the CCC and TVA programs in the 1930's. Welfare recipients should be given job training, and offered employment. Anyone who refuses satisfactory work would lose benefits.

2. I believe each woman should have the choice to have an abortion. I would support legislation to protect this right for all women. I believe we must also provide birth control information, and education to our young to help them avoid unwanted pregnancies.

3. Every candidate would be limited to one dollar per registered voter in that area. Donations would be allowed from individuals in the district, and all PAC money would be eliminated. At present incumbents win 99% of all congressional elections with my program non-incumbents would have a competitive chance.

4. I would cut the $300 billion dollar defense budget, reform the 1981 tax reform bill by raising the tax rate on the wealthiest Americans who recieved cuts in 1981 and reinstating the deductions for middle and lower class Americans. I would impose tarriff's and quota's on all nations who impose them on us.

5. During the 1980's the only people who benefitted were those making over $200,000 per year. I will work for the working people, seniors, disabled and less fortunate Americans. Every Democratic group and club is endorsing my campaign, while my opponent is rated more conservative then Jesse Helms by Congressional Quarterly.

Local Students Receive Honors At Hood College

Three local students earned honors at Hood College, Frederick, during the annual Convocation ceremonies marking the beginning of Hood College's 98th academic year.

Misti L. Ridenour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Ridenour of South Charleston (formerly of Oakland), was named a Hood scholar for the second time.

Ridenour is a member of Mortar Board Senior Honor Society, will serve as chair of the commencement committee, and holds a Presidential Leadership Award in recognition of her proven leadership ability.

Melanie N. Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Barr, Mountain Lake Park, member of the class of 1993, was also honored.

Barr is the recipient of the Chemistry Achievement Award, Beta Beta Beta Freshman Award, pianist for the sophomore class, and academic judicial council representative.

The third local student receiving honors was Leigh Knotts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knotts, Kitzmiller.

Knotts, member of the class of 1991, was named a Hood Scholar, Phi Kappa Phi and Mortar Board honor societies, and recipient of a Beneficial-Hodson Scholarship.

All three students are graduates of Southern Garrett High School, Oakland.

Convocation honors were earned by 102 Hood students, with 28 named Hood Scholars. Students must earn at least 24 credits with a 3.5 grade point average or better during the 1989-90 academic year, with the average based on a 4.0 scale.

Hood College Scholars are those students who have earned convocation honors for two consecutive years.

State Honors Local Dept. Of Social Services

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer recently presented the Garrett County Department of Social Services with two maintenance excellence awards, one for fiscal year 1989, and one for this year, at an awards ceremony held in Annapolis.

Phillip Davidson, owner of the local DSS office, also received two awards for maintaining a superior office facility.

Garrett County was one of five social service offices in Maryland to receive the maintenance excellence award, the state's highest honor for office facilities. The awards are presented annually as part of Governor Schaefer's new program, "Operation Upkeep," was born from Schaefer's philosophy that Maryland citizens have the right to work and be served in clean, efficient and pleasant surroundings.

The 1990 awards were based on a Department of General Services inspection of the states' 572 leased office spaces throughout Maryland. Roberta Baker, facility manager for the local department, traveled to Annapolis to receive the award from Governor Schaefer.

Director of the Garrett County DDS office, Robert Shaffer, stated that his department has "an excellent working relationship" with their landlord, Davidson, and the custodial staff, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Saunders. He also credits the local office staff with taking pride in the appearance and maintenance of their individual office spaces.

The DDS building was totally redesigned and refurbished by Davidson in 1987, and Shaffer reported "the floor plan has been ideal, and enables the department to function in a highly efficient manner."

Shaffer added, "Mr. and Mrs. Saunders have been doing a very conscientious job of keeping the office facility 'ship-shape' over the last three years."

To The Citizens Of Garrett County:
This is NOT a political announcement.

WHAT IT IS, IS A SINCERE THANK YOU FOR MAKING WFRB GARRETT COUNTY'S MOST LISTENED TO RADIO STATION. SINCE WE CANNOT WRITE YOU A PERSONAL LETTER, AND SINCE WE KNOW THAT THE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER REACHES PRACTICALLY EVERY HOME IN GARRETT COUNTY, WE HAVE DECIDED ON THIS METHOD OF COMMUNICATION.

We would also like to inform you that WFRB AM has expanded its programming by presenting a very controversial talk show at 12:05 p.m., Monday through Friday. You may hate him, you may love him, but you will listen to him. RUSH LIMBAUGH is the nation's most listened to talk show host. He is now on nearly 300 stations, and what he deals with will make you sit up and take notice. Subjects such as the Middle East crisis, the equal rights movement, abortion, animal rights, promiscuity. No subject of current interest is outside his domain. He tells it as he sees it, along with a generous sprinkling of humor, fun and satire.

If you crave for something different in radio programming, then be sure to catch RUSH LIMBAUGH, Monday through Friday, only on WFRB AM 560. He may be right, he may be wrong, but he will stimulate your thought processes to the limit.

Again, thank you for making WFRB Garrett County's number one, and most listened to, station.

State Police Issue13,500 Speeding Tickets

The Maryland State Police "Clickit and Ticket" speed enforcement patrols have issued more than 13,500 tickets for speed approaching 80 miles per hour or higher. The tickets are among the 85,473 speeding citations issued to motorists statewide for violating Maryland's 55 mile per hour speed limit.

"Since the beginning of Clickit and Ticket in March, enforcement of the 55 mile per hour limit has been aggressive and strict," stated Lieutenant Colonel Roland H. Hayman, chief, Field Operations Bureau. "In addition to the citations, troopers issued 32,251 warnings. Our goal is to enhance the highway safety for all motorists on our highways."

Maryland State Police issued 66,641 speeding citations for speeds between 66 and 75 miles per hour. There were 4,733 citations issued for speeds up to 65 miles per hour. The citation totals are contained in a report on the Clickit and Ticket program prepared by members of the Traffic Operations Section of the Field Operations Bureau.

The intensified speed enforcement effort is intended to reduce the number of speed related deaths, injuries, and accidents occurring on Maryland highways. According to data compiled by the Maryland State Police Records Division, approximately one-third of all highway deaths in Maryland last year were speed related.

Cost Of Speeding Ticket Increasing

The cost of a speeding ticket in Maryland has nearly doubled for motorists cited at speeds between 20 and 29 miles per hour above the posted speed limit, according to the Maryland State Police. The $50 fine has increased to $105 as part of a two point penalty. Motorists cited for speeds of 30 to 39 miles per hour above the speed limit face a fine of $255 and a five point penalty. The penalty for speeds of 40 miles per hour or more above the limit total $505 and five points.

Maryland State Police will deploy members of the Special Traffic Enforcement Unit to enforce all speed limits during the long Labor Day holiday weekend. State Police will be equipped with radar and VASCAR, a computerized speed device used in a speed enforcement initiative entitled "Clickit and Ticket," an intensified focus on the state's 55 mile per hour highways.

"These holiday enforcement patrols will strictly enforce our speed laws in a concerted statewide effort to reduce the number of speed related deaths, injuries and accidents occurring on Maryland highways," stated colonel Elmer H. Tippett, Superintendent, Maryland State Police. The Central Records Divisions estimates one-third of all highway deaths in Maryland last year, were speed related. Last year, five people died in motor vehicle collisions on Maryland highways during the long Labor Day holiday weekend.

EAST GERMAN TO VISIT SCHOOLS — As a result of a long-time friendship and the removal of the Iron Curtain, Detlef Redmann, a teacher of high school English in East Germany, will be visiting Garrett County schools during the month of September. Albert Ringer, Assistant Superintendent in Curriculum and Instruction for the G.C. Board of Education, befriended Redmann over twenty years ago while touring Europe. The East German comes from Furstenwalde, located thirty miles east of Berlin. Redmann participates in a state advisory committee for teachers of English which organizes in-service activities for the teachers throughout East Germany. He is also an avid sailor, and according to a spokesman, hopes to sample the sailing on Deep Creek Lake. Above, Redmann (center) presents Furstenwalde's coat of arms to Mrs. Beverly Murphy, president of the G.C. Board of Education. Shown on the right is Albert Ringer.

"9 to 90" — What does it mean? Have you seen the 9 to 90 Turtle? (No, not the Ninja Turtle.) You have probably wondered what it is all about, if you are not familiar with the Homemakers' programs. Well, it is the annual "9 to 9 for 9 to 90," meaning a full day (9 a.m. to 9 p.m.) of 1-hour classes at the Garrett Community College for all ages (9 yrs. to 90). A charge of $2 to cover supplies, mailings, etc., will admit you for the whole day. And it is all sponsored by the Garrett County Homemakers, Maryland Extension Service, and GCC.

Now that the fair is completed and September is almost here, it is time to get ready for school, fall, and holidays. Homemakers of all ages are affected by the school system, whether it be through children of their own or grandchildren. What better time to start than September? That is why Homemakers have made it a tradition to go back to school, too. You can learn a lot in one day, be it a refresher course or a new subject. Won't you join us?

Some of the class titles are: Positive Parenting with Dr. Yura; Children's Portraits by Judy Wilt; Alzheimers Speaker, Mr. G. Kirkland; Design a Bathroom with Casselman Lumber Co.; Breakfast Breads with Teresa Feather; Water in Your Diet with Dr. Tamera Vega; and Make a Pantry Basket with Jane R. Wagner.

Other classes offered will be Living Will and Power of Attorney by Irmgard R. Koscielniak; Humor — Your Best Medicine, also by Koscielniak; and Natural Toxins and Pesticides in Foods with Dr. Mark Kantor. A complete class schedule is available at the extension office. To find out more about them, call the office at 334-1990.

Coming up on the Homemakers' calander is the annual Achievement Day and Christmas workshop. Plans are being made and a host club is still needed for both of these activities. If any Garrett County Homemaker club would like to participate in any way with these two activities, please call the Extension Office today.

A quilt made by the Bittinger Homemakers will be given away at the Christmas workshop held in November. The design is called "Improved 9 Patch" and is a queen size. This fund raiser will benefit the Homemaker Council Quilt Documentation Project. Watch for the display of this beautiful blue and white quilt in the Extention Office window, and get your chance to win it from a Homemaker or the Extension Office. Chances are $1 each.

Student Activities Coordinator At GCC Named

A new coordinator of student activities has been named at Garrett Community College, according to Manning Smith, director of student services. Lou Ann McDonaugh, Fort Hill, Pa., recently assumed that position.

Ms. McDonaugh holds a B.S. from California University of Pennsylvania and has worked as a home-based teacher in the Head Start Program in Cumberland since 1986. She also taught second grade in Butler (Pa.) schools and was a substitute teacher in the Turkeyfoot Valley School District.

In her new job she has a goal of getting as many students involved in activities as possible.

"I plan to find out what they want," she stated, "and to provide not only activities at the college, but field trips and other off-campus events. We will work closely with West Virginia University and Frostburg State University to get GCC students to some of their activities."

In addition to dances, picnics and other activities sponsored by the Student Government Association, she plans to have weekly movies, pool and chess tournaments.

Ms. McDonaugh will be at the college four evenings a week to provide services for late afternoon and evening students.

Her leisure time activities include family camping trips with her husband and eight-year-old son.

GCC Names Two New Coordinators

Jo Ann Vent

Debbie Zimmerman

Two new coordinators for the satellite campuses of Garrett Community College have recently been named, according to Joan B. Crawford, director of enrollment development. Jo Ann Vent will coordinate college offerings in the Grantsville area, and Debbie Zimmerman will assume this function in the Crellin area.

The coordinators will serve as liaisons between the McHenry campus and the satellite campuses, provide services for students and instructors, take registrations at the first class meeting, publicize courses in their community, and obtain ideas for new courses from their constituents. For each satellite campus, there will also be an advisory committee comprised of community persons who will meet periodically with the coordinator.

Mrs. Vent is a resident of Grantsville who is employed by the Garrett County Board of Education as a career employability teacher. She holds a B.S. degree from West Virginia University and has done graduate work at the University of Maryland. Her husband, Tom, is football coach and teacher at Northern High School, and her daughter, Jaime, is a student at Northern High School.

Of her role as coordinator, she said, "There is definitely a need for more educational opportunities in the Grantsville area, and I hope this will be a starting point."

Two college 3 credit courses have been scheduled for the fall semester: Basic Accounting on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5-6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville Elementary School, and introduction to Computers on Monday, from 5-8 p.m., at the Rt. 40 School.

Mrs. Zimmerman, resident of Crellin, is mother of three children: Rachel, Matthew, and Robbie, who attend Crellin Elementary, Southern Middle, and Southern High Schools, respectively. She is a graduate of Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., and has done substitute teaching in Garrett County schools. She is active in the PTA and in the Crellin Assembly of God Church, where she is teacher of Missionettes. Her husband, George, a graduate of GCC, is a forest ranger.

Of her new coordinator role, she says, "I am really glad for this educational opportunity coming to Crellin, and I hope that many people will take advantage of it."

Two courses scheduled for the fall semester at Crellin Elementary School are Principles of Accounting II on Tuesdays, from 6:30-9:30, and Human Growth and Development on Mondays, from 6-9 p.m.

Hospice Schedules Classes To Help Cancer Patients

Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., announced this week that Hospice along with the American Cancer Society will sponsor an "I Can Cope" program. This eight-week program will be held on Monday evenings beginning September 10, in the Board Room of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The classes are designed to help patients who have been diagnosed with cancer, their families and friends. Butscher stated that hospice caregivers are urged to attend, but the sessions are open to the general public. "Anyone interested in learning more about dealing with cancer should come to these classes." Topics for the classes are: Living with Cancer; Learning More About Cancer; Dealing with Daily Health; Understanding Your Emotions; Enhancing Self Esteem and Sexualilty; Keeping Active in Mind and Body; and Identifying Support Systems and Resources.

According to Butscher, professionals from the community will be presenting the classes. Some of the speakers will be Margaret Kaiser, M.D.; Ann Sherrard, R.D.; Jean James, Counselor; Jackie Snelson, R.N., M.S.; Cathy Chapman, R.N.; Cindy Kelly Haywood, Unit Executive Director, American Cancer Society; and Pat Carney, Dept. of Social Services.

Info Available For Employers Of Guardsmen

In the event Maryland reservists and national guardsmen are ordered to active duty as a result of the Persian Gulf crisis, they and their employers can seek information and guidance on jobs rights by calling a member of the Maryland Committee for the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve.

For many years the Department of Defense has had state committees in place to help both the employer and the reserve member of the Armed Forces.

The Maryland Committee for the Employer support of the Guard and Reserve is made up of business and military leaders who volunteer their services to assist guard and reserve members of all the armed services or their employers to resolve any problems.

This committee is available to arbitrate difficult situations on an objective and impartial basis. A representative is assigned to each armory and reserve training center and is qualified to assist the military member or the employer.

This function takes on added importance since the President approved reserve call-ups the Persian Gulf Crisis. This contingency has been anticipated through Title 38 of the U.S. code and protects the interest of the employer and the reserve member.

The employer is not required to pay the employee while on active duty, although many businesses and government agencies have policies that allow for full or partial payment during a limited absence. The reservist's employment is guaranteed upon return from active duty to include any increases that have taken place while serving in the armed forces.

The returning employee must be given the same or equal position. Fairness to all parties is the basis of federal laws governing this situation.

If problems occur, representatives may be contacted through unit armories or reserve training centers, or by writing ESGR, Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, Maryland 21201-2288.

State Conservationist Norman Berg Receives International Honor

The Soil and Water Conservation Society (SWCS) presented its highest honor, the Hugh Hammond Bennett Award, to Norman A. Berg of Severna Park.

The award was presented to Berg by SWCS President Richard L. Duesterhaus of Vienna, Virginia, at a banquet concluding the Society's 45th annual meeting held in Salt Lake City, Utah, last week.

The Hugh Hammond Bennett Award, named after the "Father of Soil Conservation" in the United States and a founder of SWCS, is the Society's most prestigious award. It is given to no more than one individual annually in recognition of distinguished service and international accomplishments in land and water conservation.

Berg, who serves part time as the Washington, D.C., representative for SWCS, was recognized for his achievements in furthering a conservation ethic on both the national and international levels for nearly 50 years.

Berg began his long career in soil conservation in 1941 as an adult vocational agriculture teacher in Minnesota. He soon joined the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service, however, serving initially as a soil conservationist in Idaho beginning in 1943. Later he was named assistant state conservationist for SCS in South Dakota and then in 1960 moved to the agency's national headquarters in Washington, D.C., first as the assistant to the administrator and then as deputy administrator for field service.

During his years in the nation's capital, Berg chaired the U.S. Section of the Great Lakes Reference Group for the International Joint Commission (United States and Canada) from 1972 through 1978, served a four-year term on the General Administration Board of USDA's Graduate School, and was a member of the Graduate School's faculty for more than 25 years.

After serving as both associate and deputy chief of SCS, Berg was appointed chief of the agency in 1979. During his tenure as chief, he established an International Conservation Division within the agency; represented the United States at the Organization for Economic Development in Paris on peri-urban land use issues, which focused on the importance of planned growth and the value of agricultural land; and represented USDA in a joint study of migratory bird habitat that was conducted by the United States and Canada to preserve wetlands. Berg also represented the United States at numerous international conferences and acted as consultant and advisor on conservation issues to representatives from China, Brazil, and Australia.

Following his retirement as chief in 1982, Berg became a senior advisor to the American Farmland Trust, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the protection of Agricultural land. He still holds that position. He also is a member of the governing board for the Anne Arundel Conservation District in Maryland and serves as treasurer of the Natural Resources Council of America.

As the Washington, D.C., representative for SWCS, Berg played a key role in a conservation coalition that promoted enactment of the historic conservation provisions in the Conservation Title of the Food Security Act of 1985. He also has assisted in an on-going evaluation by SWCS of USDA's implementation of those provisions. In recent months, Berg has represented SWCS in the deliberations taking place in Congress on the conservation provisions to be included in the 1990 farm bill, which is expected to be enacted later this year.

Berg is a charter member of SWCS. He was named a Fellow of the Society in 1963 and helped to start the Idaho Chapter of SWCS. He also has been a member of the Old-Line and Washington, D.C., Chapters of SWCS for several years.

Berg has received many honors over the years, including USDA's Distinguished Service Award in 1973 and the National Wildlife Federations's Conservation Award in 1980. He also was among the first individuals to receive the Presidential Rank Award in 1980, a recognition from the president of the United States for meritorious executive service.

Berg received a B.S. degree in agriculture from the University of Minnesota in 1941 and an MPA degree in public administration from Harvard University in 1956.

SWCS is a private, nonprofit association dedicated to promoting the wise use of land and water resources. The organization has nearly 13,000 members in the United States, Canada, and 90 other countries.

The theme of this week's annual meeting was "Water Futures."

Like other independent businesses, many U.S. farms are incorporated. Of all incorporated farms, 88 percent were family-held in 1982 (based on the latest census information).

Soil Conservation Dist. Supervisor To Be Appointed

Nominations for an appointment to the Garrett County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors are being accepted by the Maryland State Soil Conservation Committee, according to a spokesman.

The appointment will be for a term to expire October 20, and will fill the expired term of Harry Hummel, who is eligible for reappointment. Nominations should be sent to: State Soil Conservation Committee, Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Md. 21401.

Any interested individual or organization may submit a recommendation. Nomination forms are available at the office of James W. Simms, Extension Agent and Secretary to the Board of Supervisors, 202 S. Third St., Oakland, Md. Forms may also be picked up at the Soil Conservation District Office, Courthouse, Room 355, 204 South Third St., Oakland. Nominations should be received by the State Soil Conservation Committee by September 14.

A supervisor must be a resident of the district. District boundaries are the same as county boundaries. Anyone recommended should be able to attend monthly meetings of the Board of Supervisors, and have a knowledge of and a sincere interest in proper land use and the conservation of soil, water, and related natural resources.

U. S. Cattle Numbers Unchanged

All cattle and calves in the United States as of July 1, 1990, totaled 108.9 million head, virtually unchanged from the July 1 level of both a year ago and two years ago. This is the second consecutive year the inventory level has shown a small increase in number. All cows and heifers that have calved, at 44.4 million, were up fractionally from 44.3 million on both July 1, 1989, and two years ago. The 1990 calf crop is expected to be 40.0 million, down fractionally from 1989 and one percent below 1989.

Farm Expenditures Up Nearly 5 Percent

U.S. farm production expenditures totaled $124.1 billion in 1989, up 4.9 percent from $118.4 billion in 1988. Expenditures were higher for all major categories except farm and land improvements which decreased 6.3 percent and fuel which declined slightly. Farm services including rent, the largest 1989 expenditure by farmers at $26.7 billion, accounted for 22 percent of the Nation's production expenses. This level was 0.7 percent above 1988. Feed expenses totaled $18.2 billion and accounted for 15 percent of the U.S. total. Average expenditures per farm were $57,478, an increase of $2,522 from last year.

Hosts Sought For Central European, Soviet Ag Experts

The Maryland Department of Agriculture is looking for families and agricultural production, processing and distributing businesses to host visitors from Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania, and the Soviet Union for internships designed to demonstrate how American agribusinesses work.

"After Governor William Donald Schaefer's Trade Mission to Central Europe and the Soviet Union we are expecting agricultural visitors from this region to come to Maryland to learn how our free market economy works," said Robert L. Walker, Deputy Secretary of the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

"For any family or business deciding to host one of these visitors, this will be a tremendous opportunity to both teach and learn. The goodwill that comes from these exchanges is invaluable," Walker said.

According to Walker, the department hopes the visits will begin in the fall and last into next year.

"The hospitality of Marylanders has been outstanding in hosting Soviet farm students the last two summers, and I expect this to continue as these agricultural specialists and managers come to the United States," said Walker.

Any family or business wishing to host one of these visitors should contact Robert L. Walker, Deputy Secretary, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, Telephone (301) 841-5882.

Farm Bureau Says Common Sense Is Needed In Fed. Wetland Regs

It is "high time" to inject common sense into federal wetland regulations, American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner told a federal task force on wetlands at a hearing in Peoria, Ill. on Monday.

Under present rules, many farmers face penalties for farming traditional acres claimed and cultivated by their ancestors. New wetland regulations threaten farmers across the United States. Under strict interpretation of wetland regulations, farmers could even face penalties for cultivating small potholes in otherwise dry, productive upland fields, Farm Bureau contends.

"It makes little sense to divert a highway through a stand of century-old oak trees to avoid a cattail marsh, or to increase development pressure on prime farmland to avoid a wet spot in a cornfield," Kleckner stated. "A policy that ignores the varying functions and values of wetland areas at the expense of equally valuable uplands and private property rights breeds contempt and will be counterproductive."

The problem stems from a "180-degree shift" in wetlands policy that farmers had obeyed for generations. Today, the Administration is pursuing a policy of no net loss of wetlands, but that policy lacks a clear definition of what a wetland is and which wetlands are worth preserving, Kleckner explained. In the past, Kleckner said, "draining swamps to produce a bountiful food supply was considered good. Fewer mosquitoes were considered better than more mosquitoes. Less flooding was superior to more flooding. These concepts were part of a public-policy consensus.

"Now, the loss of that consensus has led to hasty, rigid and arbitrary regulations enforced by a quagmire of four separate federal agencies — the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Environmental Protection Agency, the Corps of Engineers and the Soil Conservation Service (SCS). Too many government agencies stirring the wetlands pot have turned a general environmental goal into a farmers' nightmare," the farm leader said.

The current definition of "wetland" is based solely on soil type, assuming if wetland-type soils are present, it also can be assumed that water and wetland-type plant life also would be present under "normal" conditions. That regulatory definition takes in about 60 million acres now under cultivation that are called "prior-converted wetlands."

"This regulatory sleight of hand was performed without any economic assessment, public review or landowner comment," Kleckner said. "Wetlands should be defined in statute, not rules, in such a way that they can readily be identified by the average citizen."

Farm Bureau believes "wetland" should roughly be defined as any naturally occurring area wet enought to consistently maintain plants that grow in water or soils deficient in oxygen due to water content.

DAIRY GOAT SHOWMAN — Rachelle Tusing was the winner of the Dairy Goat Champion Fitting and Showing Trophy at the Garrett County Fair. The trophy was sponsored by the Frank Hutzel Family.

This falls in line with a 1988 Corps of Engineers' definition saying explicitly that wetlands are marshes, bogs or truly aquatic areas.

Compounding the issue, Kleckner explained, is the use of old data that reflects a higher rate of wetland conversions before swampbuster provisions of the 1985 farm bill. Since swampbuster — a provision which makes farmers converting true wetlands ineligible for farm program benefits — EPA studies have shown that wetland conversion has virtually ceased.

Kleckner told the task force 80 percent of currently-deemed wetlands are in private hands. Property owners restricted from using their land should be justly compensated under terms of the 5th Amendment's private property rights clause. He also encouraged the task force to institute plans for wetland incentives.

"Our property is being effectively confiscated through federal wetland regulations without compensation," Kleckner testified. "If, for some public good, wetland use is regulated, we will fight to have our members justly compensated. The public should bear this expense, not just the private landowner."

Even with compensation, however, a "wetlands" designation alone should not technically qualify that area for preservation at the expense of prime agricultural land, forests or other beneficial resources, Kleckner testified.

Because of varying wetland functions such as groundwater recharge and wildlife diversity, wetland designations ultimately should hinge on evaluations to discover if an areas' societal worth is at least greater than non-wetland areas, Farm Bureau believes.

The Peoria task force meeting was the second in a series of six wetlands meetings across the nation. A similar meeting was held August 17 in Bismarck, N.D. The four other meetings include: August 27, New Orleans; September 5, Olympia, Wash.; September 7, Anchorage; and September 17, Providence, R.I.

Representing Farm Bureau's views at the Bismarck meeting were Richard Kjerstad, vice president of the South Dakota Farm Bureau, and Monty Burke, president of the North Dakota Farm Bureau.

"With the rapid switch in national policy, from one considering wetlands a nuisance, to one giving them the hightest priority of all natural resources, it would appear that an accurate or reliable information base does not exist," Kjerstad testified at the earlier hearing.

In a post-meeting news conference, Burke said wetlands and their functions differ from state to state and that any federal wetlands mandate should take the diversity into consideration.

"What is agriculturally important to the North Dakota wheat farmer may not be important to a Louisiana rice grower, an Alaskan fisherman, or a Maine dairyman," he told reporters. "Any policy made on this issue should address each state's unique wetlands situation and allow them to adopt and interpret laws and regulations."

Number Of Farms And Land In Farms Continues To Decline

Maryland had 15,200 farms in 1990, three percent fewer than the 15,600 farms for 1989 and a 13 percent decline from the 17,500 farms in 1980. Land in farms for Maryland at 2,250,000 acres is two percent fewer than in 1989 and 18 percent fewer than the 2,750,000 acres in farms in 1980. The average size farm in Maryland at 148 acres is 11 acres below the 157 acre average size farm in 1980.

Corn Rootworm

Now is the time to survey for the Adult Beetle Corn Rootworm. The Western Corn Rootworm Beetle (most damaging) is yellow to tan in color with three black stripes running down the back. The Northern Corn Rootworm is yellowish to pale green. You should check each corn field in several locations. If the average count exceeds two per plant, then a soil insecticide is recommended if the field is to be planted with the corn next year. CHECK NOW!

Estimating Yields of Corn Silage

1. Select an area that will represent an average of the corn field.
2. Determine inches between corn rows.
3. Width between corn rows: 42", 40", 38", 36", 34", 32", 30". Row length to cut (1/2000 acre) 6'3", 6'6", 6'10", 7'3", 7'8", 8'2", 8'8.5".
4. Starting midway between two plants, cut to row length indicated in table above.
5. Weigh corn harvested. Make sure scales are fairly accurate.
6. Weight of corn in pounds = Tons silage per acre.
7. Repeat in five acres than average pounds.
8. Example:

Your silage corn in plants on 32" rows. You cut 8 feet 2 inches of row length which weighs 18.5 pounds. This is equal to 18.5 tons of green silage per acre. Remember, this is the yield as of today. If green, it will dry down.

Maryland Students' SAT Average Scores Second Highest In Nation

Fifty-nine percent of the students in Maryland's high school class of 1990 took the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), and the state average score is second highest in the nation among states with over 50 percent participation.

Average state SAT scores were 430 on the verbal test and 478 on the mathematics test. The combined score of 908 was eight points above the national average of 900 on the two portions of the test.

The College Board, which administers the SAT, released the scores Tuesday.

Scores in Maryland and in the nation declined this year. The state's average scores were down a total of six points, four on the verbal test and two on the math test. Nationally, average scores declined by three points.

State School Superintendent Joseph L. Shilling in April proposed a major new initiative, "Success for All Students", to boost achievement of Maryland students. The State Board of Education has approved the program's 10 state goals and some of the major strategies to reach the goals.

"Success" program strategies proposed include comprehensive programs in science, mathematics and technology, including expanding the Governor's Academy for Mathematics, Science, and Technology; expanded pre-kindergarten programs for disadvantaged children and mandatory kindergarten attendance for all children; and a longer school year.

The program also incorporates the Maryland School Performance Program under development since last December. Under the program the State Department of Education is developing new criterion-referenced tests to pinpoint what students are and are not learning and a system for holding school systems and schools accountable for student outcomes, achievement in basic subjects, attendance, and graduation.

In releasing the scores, the College Board noted that "the most significant factor in interpreting SAT acores is the proportion of eligible students taking the exam—the participation rate. In general, the higher the percentage of students taking the test, the lower will be the average scores."

The 59 percent participation rate for Maryland students is the 11th highest in the nation.

Black students represented 20 percent of the Maryland students who took the test, compared with 10 percent nationally. Black students in Maryland achieved average scores of 357 on the verbal test and 387 on the math test, outscoring black students nationally by seven points.

Maryland students outperformed their national counterparts in these other areas as well:

Achievement test scores — Six percent of Maryland students scored in the top range (700-800) on these tests compared with 4 percent nationally. Thirty percent of Maryland students and 24 percent of students nationally scored 600-699. The tests are subject area tests given by the College Board.

Also, a higher percentage of Maryland students earned top scores on the achievement tests in English composition, literature, American history, European history, advanced mathematics, biology, chemistry. physics, and modern languages.

Test of Standard Written English — Sixteen percent of Maryland students scored a 55 or higher on this test, compared with 14 percent nationally.

Fire Protection Ordinance
I believe that the buyers in developments where the access is extremely difficult should have fire hydrant systems and water storage facilities. Without these systems there is not much chance of saving those dwellings. We must act to protect the buyers of new homes or condos. We must also develop a building ordinance and see it implemented as soon as possible. We cannot continue to allow this "buyer beware" attitude to exist.

The Lowest! New Car Financing
10.4% APR
Whether you have your eye on a van for the family or that sporty two seater just for fun, One Valley Bank wants to see you behind the wheel.

The most important thing on your mind when you purchase a new auto is "What will my monthly payment be?" We can make your monthly payment more affordable with a fixed 10.40% annual percentage rate on a new 1990 or 1991 auto. Our 10.40% Annual Percentage Rate applies to any make or model and any term all the way up to 48 months and $20,000. For Example, if you borrowed $10,000 for 48 months at 10.40% your monthly payment would be $255.55. For 60 month loans the rate is 10.90% APR, and your monthly payment would be $216.93 for a $10,000 loan. If you automatically deduct your loan payments from your OVB checking or savings account your interest rate will drop even lower to 9.90% or 10.40% depending on the length of your loan.

"I was very concerned over my 'floppy ear' until I learned it was aerodynamically superior! I understand there's a long standing adage in the horse industry. . .

'I never saw a flop-eared horse that couldn't run!'.

I've heard there's even been champions with flop-ears. I invite you to see my ear along with everything else that's as it should be. Don't miss out on a good thing!"

The Wood was run for the 66th time on April 21, and it certainly will not produce the favorite in Kentucky, with that honor going to either Summer Squall or Mister Frisky. But Wood winner Thirty Six Red is going to have an awful lot to say about the outcome of a race run at 1¼ miles.

When B. Giles Brophy's three-year-old by Slew o' Gold out of Heartbreak, by Stage Door Johnny, took the one-mile, $304,000 Gotham Stakes (G2) two weeks earlier, some wrote the race off as a fluke because the winner had caught a speed-favoring racetrack.

That opinion carried over into the

2-YEAR-OLD RAIDERS

First-year sire Pancho Villa leads the way.

GAINESWAY TODAY

SON OF ICECAPADE TO STAND AT GAINESWAY

Classic Winner Izvestia is Good News for Kentucky Breeders

Graham Beck's Gainesway Farm is the proud new partner with Bud and David Willmot and their 32-time Sovereign Award-winning Kinghaven Farms of Canada on the multi-classic winner Izvestia. The 3-year-old Icecapade colt will continue to race through his 4-year-old season before retiring to stud at Gainesway.

Izvestia has now won six straight races and earned $570,551. His 6 1/4-length Prince of Wales, Can-I, win followed a 13-length victory in the first leg of Canada's Triple Crown, the Queen's Plate, Can-I. Izvestia set new stakes records in both events. The Breeders' Stakes, Can-I, on August 19 will offer Izvestia a shot at Canada's Triple Crown.

With his natural speed and likeness to his sire, Icecapade, Izvestia seems a natural. Icecapade has proven a tremendous success as a sire of sires with sons like:

- WILD AGAIN, currently America's LEADING second-crop sire with 36 winners and over $1,600,000; and
- CLEVER TRICK, the LEADING freshman sire of his year by winners with an amazing 18.

HEADLINER: The Kinghaven Farm's Izvestia, the leading contender for Canadian Horse-of-the-Year honors in 1990, winning the Queen's Plate by 13.

TRIPLE THREAT

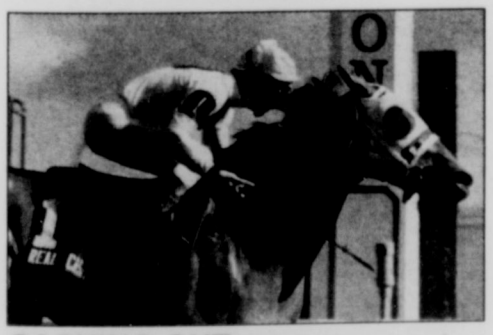
Izvestia has won the first two legs of Canada's Triple Crown.

Through the first 12 days of the 1990 Saratoga meeting, the Gainesway sires Bates Motel (2), Key to the Mint (2), L'Emigrant (2), Dr. Carter and Lyphard have been represented by eight winners.

French Rivers

At the tender age of 14, Irish River threatens to become France's leading broodmare sire after PRIOLO's victory in the $290,190 Prix Jacques Le Marois, Fr-I, on August 12 at Deauville.

Earlier this season, Priolo, owned by Ecurie Skymarc Farm, had captured the $195,452 Prix Jean Prat, Fr-I, while Khaled Abdullah's SANGLAMORE gave Irish River his first classic winner as a damsire in the $725,425 Prix du Jockey Club (French Derby), Fr-I.



CASHING OUT: W. T. Young and D. Wayne Lukas' REAL CASH propelled his sire, Tank's Prospect, to second place in 1990 among second-year sires with this win in the Grade II American Derby.

Monday, September 10
Barn 12

She represents a proven nick — SUMMER SQUALL, STORM CAT, SECRETO, and CHIEF'S CROWN are all from the NORTHERN DANCER sire line and out of those wonderful SECRETARIAT mares! This March 13 filly is out of a winning half sister to graded stakes winner PRINCILIAN. Second dam is a Grade 1-placed half sister to group winner PARIS REVIEW, JOANS PARIS (dam of MUSTIN LAKE [G3] and PIRATEER), etc.

#1324.
ARCTIC TERN

LADY OF THE LIGHT, by THE MINSTREL

Wednesday, Sept. 12
Barn 40

This mature filly (March 7) represents not only the SEA-BIRD — NORTHERN DANCER nick, but she's also out of an unraced half-sister to multiple Grade 1-winning millionaire filly SABIN and English group-winning filly FATAH FLARE. In fact, her 2nd dam, BEACONAIRE, and her 3rd and 4th dams are all major stakes winners. This is the immediate family of great race fillies LIFE'S MAGIC (twice champion), MISS OCEANA (G1), MAGIC OF LIFE (G1), KITTIWAKE, etc.

SIRES OF MID-ATLANTIC-BRED WINNERS

For Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia

Following are sires of Maryland-, Virginia-, and West Virginia-bred winners to win an allowance, stakes, overnight handicap, maiden, or maiden claiming race in North America from July 1 to August 19. Two separate lists are presented for each state: sires of winners of allowance, stakes, or overnight handicaps; followed by sires of winners of maiden or maiden claiming races. The lists are presented alphabetically by sire, with the name of the dam of the winner immediately following. In parentheses is the number of current-year starters in North America for the sire, followed by the sire's total number of individual winners in 1990, regardless of state where bred. The name of the winner is in light face capital letters (bold face capital letters if the win came in a stakes race), followed by the winner's sex, age, name of racetrack (abbreviated), and date of race. The class of the race in which the victory took place immediately follows. Abbreviations used for class of race are similar to those used in the Daily Racing Form: Alw—allowance; Hcp0—overnight handicap; names of stakes races are spelled out, with the grade of the race, when applicable, in parentheses; Mdn—maiden, special weight or allowance; and M—maiden claiming, with claiming price immediately following (for example, M10,000 would be a $10,000 maiden claiming race). Class of race is followed by the distance of the race, expressed in furlongs and fractions of furlongs, followed by first-place money earned by winner.

LIQUID FAT AND THIAMIN FOR QUICK ENERGY

Many universities have shown recently through controlled experiments that adding fat to the ration of an equine athlete improves the performance of that horse significantly. The addition of fat as an energy source lowers the heart rate, decreases the lactic acid build up in the blood, increases packed cell volume and so delays the onset of fatigue in the performance horse.

The principle ingredient in our liquid fat product, Enerjet, is fat in the form of corn oil that has been refined, deodorized and dewaxed. It is very stable, does not become rancid. The second ingredient in Enerjet is thiamin hydrochloride, 1000 milligrams per pound, to keep the horse calm during the period of nervous stress before a performance. The third ingredient is a flavor extract that makes Enerjet very palatable to horses. Just pour over the feed for best results.

Buy Enerjet from your Formula 707 dealer, $17.10 for one gallon; $51.35 for a case of 4 gallons; or send check to the manufacturer. For MasterCard, Visa, or Discover orders phone 1-800-525-8601.

REGIONAL GENERAL SIRE LIST

By Current Earnings
For Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia

Following are lists of leading active Maryland-, Virginia-, and West Virginia-based sires of runners in 1990 by current year progeny earnings. Statistics, except for Superior Runners, are for racing in North America, England, Ireland, and France. Statistics are as follows: Crops (C)—lifetime; Foals (Fls)—lifetime; Starters (Strs)—current season starters; Winners (Wnrs)—current season winners (with percent winners from starters); Superior Runners (Sup Rnrs)—current season superior runners (with percent superior runners from starters); Stakes Winners (SWs)—current season SWs (with percent SWs from starters); Earnings—current season progeny earnings; Leading Earner (Earnings)—current season leading runner for sire, with current year earnings; Average Earnings per Runner (Avg/Rnr)—current season for runners; Earners of $25,000 or more (Earners $25M)—runners which have earned $25,000 or more in current year (with percent earners of $25,000 or more from starters); Sire Production Index (SPI)—cumulative lifetime; National Rank (Ntl Rank)—where sire would place nationally among all sires. The SPI is based on the Standard Starts Indexes (average earnings per start, compiled separately for colts and fillies) for all North American progeny of a sire. These statistics are used to compile a weighted average for a stallion which can be used to compare the sire with other North American sires. Any active stallion with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters which has an SPI above 2.15 is in the top 5% of all stallions (with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters). A sire must be represented by three or more crops of racing age for the SPI to be included. A Superior Runner is any runner in North America with a Standard Starts Index above 3.64 with a minimum of three lifetime starts. Sires represented by their first crop of foals to race in 1990 are preceded by the symbol ♦.

North American statistics are complete through racing of August 17, 1990; England, Ireland, and France through August 12.

SIRES OF KENTUCKY-BRED WINNERS

Following are sires of all Kentucky-bred winners to win a recent allowance, stakes, overnight handicap, maiden, or maiden claiming race in North America. Two separate lists are presented: sires of winners of allowance, stakes, or overnight handicaps; followed by sires of winners of maiden or maiden claiming races. The lists are presented alphabetically by sire, with the name of the dam of the winner immediately following. In parentheses is the number of current-year starters in North America for the sire, followed by the sire's total number of individual winners in 1990, regardless of state where bred. The name of the winner is in light face capital letters (bold face capital letters if the win came in a stakes race), followed by the winner's sex, age, name of racetrack (abbreviated), and date of race. The class of the race in which the victory took place immediately follows. Abbreviations used for class of race are similar to those used in the Daily Racing Form: Alw—allowance; Hcp0—overnight handicap; names of stakes races are spelled out, with the grade of the race, when applicable, in parentheses; Mdn—maiden, special weight or allowance; and M—maiden claiming, with claiming price immediately following (for example, M10,000 would be a $10,000 maiden claiming race). Class of race is followed by the distance of the race, expressed in furlongs and fractions of furlongs, followed by first-place money earned by the winner.

GENERAL SIRE LIST

By Current Earnings

Following is a list of leading sires in 1990 by current progeny earnings. Statistics, except for Superior Runners, are for racing in North America, England, Ireland, and France. Foreign-based stallions represented by North American runners are included. Statistics are as follows: Crops (C)—lifetime; Foals (Fls)—lifetime; Starters (Strs)—current season; Winners (Wnrs)—current season; Stakes Winners (SWs)—current season; Superior Runners (Sup Rnrs)—current season; Top Earner (Earnings)—current season; Progeny Earnings—current season; Average Earnings per Starter (Ave/Str)—current season; Median Earnings per Starter (Median/Str)—current season; Sire Production Index (SPI)—cumulative lifetime. The SPI is based on the Standard Starts Indexes (average earnings per start, compiled separately for colts and fillies) for all North American progeny of a sire. These statistics are used to compile a weighted average for a stallion which can be used to compare the sire with other North American sires. Any active stallion with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters which has an SPI above 2.15 is in the top 5% of all stallions (with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters). A sire must be represented by three or more crops of racing age for the SPI to be included. A Superior Runner is any runner in North America with a Standard Starts Index above 3.64 with a minimum of three lifetime starts. Sires represented by their first crop of foals to race in 1990 are preceded by the symbol ♦.

North American statistics are complete through racing of August 23, 1990; England, Ireland, and France through August 18.

JUVENILE SIRE LIST

By Current Earnings

Following is a list of leading juvenile sires in 1990 by current progeny earnings. Statistics, except for Superior Runners, are for racing in North America, England, Ireland, and France. Statistics are as follows: Foals (Fls)—current season; Starters—current season; Winners—current season; Stakes Winners (SWs)—current season; Superior Runners (Sup Rnrs)—current season; Top Earner (Earnings)—current season; Progeny Earnings—current season; Sire Production Index (SPI)—cumulative lifetime. SPI is based on the Standard Starts Indexes (average earnings per start, compiled separately for colts and fillies) for all North American progeny of a sire. These statistics are used to compile a weighted average for a stallion which can be used to compare the sire with other North American sires. A sire must be represented by three or more crops of racing age for the SPI to be included. Any active stallion with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters which has an SPI above 2.15 is in the top 5% of all stallions (with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters). A Superior Runner is any runner in North America with a Standard Starts Index above 3.64 with a minimum of three lifetime starts. Sires represented by their first crop of foals to race in 1990 are preceded by the symbol ♦.

North American statistics are complete through racing of August 23, 1990; England, Ireland, and France through August 18.

BROODMARE SIRE LIST

By Current Earnings

Following is a list of leading broodmare sires in 1990 by current earnings. Statistics, except for Superior Runners, are for racing in North America, England, Ireland, and France. Statistics are for producing daughters by the sire. Statistics for categories are as follows: Mares (M)—lifetime; Stakes Producing Mares (SPM)—lifetime; Foals (F)—lifetime; Starters (Strs)—lifetime; Winners (Wnrs)—lifetime; Stakes Winners (SWs)—lifetime; Superior Runners (SupRnrs)—lifetime; Top Earner (Earnings)—lifetime; Current Earnings—current season; Broodmare Sire Production Index (BSPI)—lifetime; Adjusted Broodmare Sire Production Index (ABSPI)—lifetime. A Superior Runner is any runner in North America with a Standard Starts Index (SSI) of 3.64 or better with a minimum of three lifetime starts. The SSI is based on the average earnings per start, compiled separately for colts and fillies, for all horses which have raced in North America. The BSPI shows the ability of the mare's sire as a broodmare sire. It is an average of the SSI of all foals, which started at least three times in North America, out of the sire's daughters. The ABSPI is derived from dividing the BSPI by the Dam's Expectancy Index. The Dam's Expectancy Index indicates the class of foal the dam is expected to produce if bred to a stallion that produces average foals. It is based on the SSI of the mares and the SSI of the mares' produce.

North American statistics are complete through racing of August 23; England, Ireland and France through August 18, 1990.

BROODMARE SIRE LIST

By Lifetime Progeny Earnings

Following is a list of leading broodmare sires by lifetime progeny earnings. Statistics, except for Superior Runners, are for racing in North America, England, Ireland, and France. Statistics are for producing daughters by the sire. Statistics for categories are as follows: Mares (M)—lifetime; Stakes Producing Mares (SPM)—lifetime; Foals (F)—lifetime; Starters (Strs)—lifetime; Winners (Wnrs)—lifetime; Stakes Winners (SWs)—lifetime; Superior Runners (SupRnrs)—lifetime; Top Earner (Earnings)—lifetime; Lifetime Earnings—lifetime; Broodmare Sire Production Index (BSPI)—lifetime. Adjusted Broodmare Sire Production Index (ABSPI)—lifetime. A Superior Runner is any runner in North America with a Standard Starts Index (SSI) of 3.64 or better with a minimum of three lifetime starts. The SSI is based on the average earnings per start, compiled separately for colts and fillies, for all horses which have raced in North America. The BSPI shows the ability of the mare's sire as a broodmare sire. It is an average of the SSI of all foals, which started at least three times in North America, out of the sire's daughters. The ABSPI is derived from dividing the BSPI by the Dam's Expectancy Index. The Dam's Expectancy Index indicates the class of foal the dam is expected to produce if bred to a stallion that produces average foals. It is based on the SSI of the mares and the SSI of the mares' produce.

North American statistics are complete through racing of August 17; England and Ireland from January 1, 1982, through August 12, 1990; France from January 1, 1980, through August 12, 1990.

LEADING ACTIVE SIRE LIST

By Lifetime Progeny Earnings

Following is a list of leading sires by lifetime progeny earnings. For inclusion on the list a sire must be represented by a minimum of 25 lifetime starters and one current year starter. Statistics, except for Superior Runners, are for racing in North America, England, Ireland, and France. Statistics are as follows: Crops (C)—lifetime; Foals (Fls)—lifetime; Starters (Strs)—lifetime; Winners (Wnrs)—lifetime; Stakes Winners (SWs)—lifetime; Superior Runners (Sup Rnrs)—lifetime; Progeny Earnings—lifetime; Average Earnings per Starter (Avg/Str)—lifetime; Median Earnings per Starter (Median/Str)—lifetime; Sire Production Index (SPI)—cumulative lifetime; 2-Year-Old Starters (2yoStrs)—lifetime; 2-Year-Old Winners (2yoWnrs)—lifetime; 2-Year-Old Stakes Winners (2yoSWs)—lifetime. The SPI is based on the Standard Starts Indexes (average earnings per start, compiled separately for colts and fillies) for all North American progeny of a sire. These statistics are used to compile a weighted average for a stallion which can be used to compare the sire with other North American sires. Any active stallion with a minimum of 25 lifetime starters which has an SPI above 2.15 is in the top 5% of all stallions (with a minimum of 25 starters). A sire must be represented by three or more crops of racing age for the SPI to be included. A Superior Runner is any runner in North America with a Standard Starts Index above 3.64 with a minimum of three lifetime starts.

North American statistics are complete through racing of August 17; England and Ireland from January 1, 1982, through August 12, 1990; France from January 1, 1980, through August 12, 1990.

A Genius for Winning

Beau Genius battled back to win the Iselin by a nose from Tricky Creek

by Steve Haskin

MONMOUTH PARK—Beau Genius was a tired horse as he stood quietly in his stall following his courageous victory in the Philip H. Iselin Handicap (G1) on August 25. Trainer Gerald Bennett's wife, Mary, was feeding carrots to the five-year-old son of Bold Ruckus and lavishing him with kisses.

Outside the barn just about everyone associated with the horse—friends and business associates of owner Dr. Brian Davidson, the van driver, the clocker from Hialeah where he was stabled earlier this year, Davidson's cousin Joseph Shiewitz who owns 10% of the horse, and Monmouth jockey Kevin Hilburn who worked the horse—was rejoicing in the victory. "We're all in love with him," said Bennett. "If you're a genuine horseman you have to have a tear in your eye for this horse because of the heart that he has."

Bennett's comment was incorrect. You don't have to be a horseman at all. Anyone who witnessed Beau Genius's last-gasp victory over Tricky Creek had to be moved by the horse's unbreakable spirit and will to win.

It had been an arduous path that brought Beau Genius and Bennett to their first Grade 1 victory. Bennett remembers the days when he had to work two jobs to support his wife and three children. They included working in a machine shop, driving a tow truck, running a Shell service center, and being a produce selector in a supermarket warehouse. "I'd work from seven at night until three in the morning, then go to train my horses (at Fort Erie). I'd get an hour and a half to two hours of sleep here and there."

Bennett began having success at training, but decided to move his stable to Detroit Race Course because shipping 100 miles from Fort Erie to Woodbine was becoming a chore. It proved a wise move as he has been the leading trainer at Detroit for the past seven years, operating with mostly claimers. Then last August, Davidson, an owner and breeder from Toronto, sent Bennett then-four-year-old Beau Genius to train. The colt had recently undergone his second operation for bone chips in his knees. Due to an arthritic condition, calcium deposits, and cartilage damage, Davidson's trainer, Gerry Belanger, was unable to get him to the races.

Davidson then called Bennett and told him, "If you can keep him together you're going to have one hell of a horse. Take as long as you have to. If you can get him sound we'll have a lot of fun with him."

Bennett used his laser machine and biostimulator that he had "paid a lot of money for," and gave the horse plenty of time. "He was in very poor condition," Bennett recalled. "We had to get that arthritic problem out of his joints, and build up his confidence. We still have to loosen him up quite a bit before a race. Believe me, most horses with his problems just won't run. He's a fighter; he won't give up. No matter what, he keeps coming back."

Another person responsible for Beau Genius's remarkable comeback is his groom and exercise rider Patrick White. As White took care of the horse after the race, Bennett pointed out that he had not been to sleep for some 38 hours, having stayed up with Beau Genius the night before. Perhaps White summed up the horse best: "Bo knows baseball; Bo knows football; Beau knows how to win."

A month and a half after arriving at Bennett's barn, Beau Genius won a six-furlong allowance race at Thistledown in 1:09. In 18 starts for Bennett, he has won 11 races, ten of them stakes, and placed in four others. He has now won six consecutive stakes at distances of 6½ furlongs to 1⅛ miles.

Beau Genius arrived at Monmouth at 1 a.m. the Tuesday before the race following a 14-hour van ride. The following day he worked five furlongs in the mud in 1:00⅘ around the dogs.

All week it seemed that Beau Genius would be the big favorite in the Iselin, facing the likes of De Roche and Tricky Creek from New York and locals Shy Tom and Bill E. Shears. Then, on Thursday morning, Dancing Spree surprisingly showed up in the entries and not only was Beau Genius no longer the favorite, he would have to give a pound to last year's Suburban Handicap (G1) and Breeders' Cup Sprint (G1) winner.

Dancing Spree, a winner of $1,320,116, is certainly one of the most versatile horses seen in quite a while. And to think before he ever ran Shug McGaughey nearly donated the horse to Auburn University because "he couldn't outrun me." He was to be used in teaching students about breeding Thoroughbreds. Then, when Dancing Spree worked a half in :48⅘ one day McGaughey started having second thoughts. When Auburn refused to pay for the van bill, McGaughey decided to keep the horse.

Dancing Spree was the 9-to-5 Iselin favorite in the field of ten, with Beau Genius at 2.20-to-1. The only other horses getting any play were De Roche at 6.10-to-1 and Shy Tom at 6.70-to-1. Dancing Spree, as usual, made a magnificent appearance in the walking ring. The track was listed as sloppy, but was more like muddy, with the times of the earlier sprint races being exceptionally fast. That didn't seem to pose any problems as the field as a whole had made 31 starts on sloppy or muddy tracks, winning 18 and placing in nine others. Every horse in the field had at least one victory on an off track.

BEAU GENIUS, as expected, went for the lead under jockey Ricardo Lopez, but was outrun going into the clubhouse turn by the longshot Scavenger Hunt. Dancing Spree never looked comfortable early in the race and soon dropped far back. After an opening quarter in :23⅘ and a half in :46⅘, Beau Genius went after Scavenger Hunt, and just as he was taking over the lead, 90-to-1 shot Silver Survivor charged up from the middle of the pack to get his head in front between the two leaders. Beau Genius looked him in the eye from the outside and, as he regained the lead for the third time, here came Tricky Creek, who had stalked the leaders most of the way along the rail.

Turning for home following a :24⅘ third quarter, Tricky Creek, in receipt of ten pounds from Beau Genius, got his head in front and looked to be on his way to victory. De Roche had made a bold move around the turn, but the fast quarter quickly took its toll and he could not sustain the move.

Beau Genius, as he does so often, battled back on the inside. After another quarter in :24⅘, the mile in 1:36, the two horses came down to the finish alternating head bobs. One stride before the wire, it was Tricky Creek by a nose, but Beau Genius gave one final thrust.

No one had any idea who had won, although Herb McCauley on Tricky Creek raised his whip in triumph. Finally, Rusty Arnold, trainer of Tricky Creek, came down to the track after seeing the replay in slow motion and told his exercise rider Sharon Wood that he felt Beau Genius just got his head down in time. He was right.

The two horses had come home with a final eighth in :12⅘ to post an excellent clocking of 1:48⅘ for the 1⅛ miles. It was a gap of 5¾ lengths back to De Roche in third. Dancing Spree never threatened and finished a well-beaten seventh. With his winner's share of $150,000, Beau Genius is now a millionaire with earnings of $1,000,600.

"I knew he'd come fighting back," said Lopez. "I'm 6-for-6 with him. I can't explain what the chemistry is, it's something we have between us."

Davidson, who is an orthodox Jew, was unable to attend due to the Sabbath. "I heard he just won by his Jewish nose," he said later that night from his hotel in Miami, where he is vacationing with his family. "I'm really proud of him, he has a heart of gold."

Davidson, a general practitioner in Toronto, is a native of Dublin, Ireland, who came to Canada in 1974 by way of the Bahamas. "My family has always been orthodox and I try and pass that on to my six children. 'Beau' is actually named after my son Beaujon."

In 1978, Davidson claimed Beau Genius's dam, Royal Colleen, for $12,500. Her first foal, Lord Ashdale, by Halo, managed to win $133,748 racing in New York.

Over at the stakes barn, assistant trainer Tony Reinstedler and groom Roger Edwards were getting Dancing Spree ready for his trip home. "He seems to have come out of the race fine," Reinstedler said. "He never got hold of the track at all. It was slippery on top and hard as rock underneath. He didn't seem tired. He cooled out fine, wasn't blowing hard, and drank a bucket of water, which is normal for him."

Edwards added, "His eyes were a bit swollen. There was mud in there and we had to rinse them out with sterile solution the best we could and apply ointment."

For Tricky Creeky, who seemed to come out of the race none the worse for wear, this was the first photo he has ever lost.

Beau Genius, once a confirmed sprinter, has now won the Michigan Mile and One-Eighth Handicap (G2), the 1¼-mile Arlington Invitational Challenge Cup Stakes, and Iselin in succession. Bennett says he will get a long rest. "We'll give him six or seven weeks off, then possibly train him up to the Breeders' Cup Sprint (G1). But the way horses are dropping by the wayside, we will have to wait and see what happens. I feel he has a good chance to beat Criminal Type because of the kind of pressure he puts on a horse."

Although he was tired after the race, Beau Genius still looked grand, a far cry from the unsound, underweight horse who came to Bennett's barn last year. As he cooled out, Bennett looked at him with pride and said, "This horse has made all the difficult times worthwhile."■

Quickly Climbing the Ladder

Former claimer Snipledo won his fifth straight race in the Longacres Mile

by Chuck Manson

LONGACRES—Question: What do you get when you take a rapidly improving former claimer and put him up against Southern California shippers in a graded stakes? Answer: The claimer wires the field and wins in a cakewalk.

Snipledo, claimed by Seattle, Washington, seafood processor Robert Resoff for $60,000 in April, did just exactly that in winning the $300,100 Longacres Mile Handicap (G3) on August 26. The five-year-old gelded son of the little-known Seattle Slew stallion Slewdledo broke fastest of all, saved ground smartly under jockey James R. Corral, and captured his fifth consecutive victory in as many starts, dating back to May 19, for his new owner.

The Longacres Mile is the premier event at this Renton, Washington, oval and for its 55th running Longacres management sweetened the pot by $50,000, making it the richest race on the Pacific Coast north of San Francisco Bay. The race's stature has grown greatly in the past decade, going from primarily a local stakes race to one with graded status that has attracted the likes of champion sprinter Chinook Pass, Breeders' Cup Classic (G1) winner Skywalker, and two-time Mile winner and $1,667,713-earner Simply Majestic.

With the race demoted to Grade 3 status this year, the weakest Southern California contingent since 1985 came north, and it left the door wide open for an upset by a Washington-based runner. The last Washington-based and Washington-bred winner of the Mile was in 1985, when Chum Salmon defeated a relatively weak field.

Red-hot Snipledo carried the local banner, along with longtime Washington campaigner Captain Condo, on the basis of a 1½-length victory over the track's best sprinters in the August 5 Governor's Handicap at 6½ furlongs. On the basis of that performance and three previous victories, Snipledo was sent off at 6.90-to-1 in the betting, behind 3-to-2 favorite Annual Date, third in the July 14 Bel Air Handicap (G2) at Hollywood Park; $811,865-earner Variety Road, 4.30-to-1; and Captain Condo, 6.80-to-1.

Trained by veteran conditioner Marion L. Smith, Snipledo played catch-me-if-you-can with his nine competitors, setting fractions of :22, :45⅗, and 1:10⅘ for the opening six furlongs. Entering the turn, the dark bay gelding turned back a feeble challenge from 33-to-1 outsider Adventuresome Love and drew off in the stretch for a four-length tally. In winning the event in 1:35⅗ under symbolic gesturing from Corral, Snipledo sent a few shockwaves through the Longacres backstretch which may eventually be felt in Southern California this fall.

"Next to breaking cleanly, relaxing was the key," said Corral. "Coming out of the first turn, it sounds funny, but I started talking to him. I said, 'Slow it down, Snip,' and he slowed it down to :45⅗ for the half-mile. I had him in hand and I was looking for shadows of other horses, but I didn't see any the whole way.

"I kept asking myself, 'When are those other horses going to come at us?' but they never did. But this isn't a $15,000 race, so I cocked the stick three times down the lane and coasted home, and said, 'This one's for you, Snip.' "

In the winner's wake were Adventuresome Love, who finished two lengths in front of dead-heat third-place finishers Kent Green and Captain Condo. Annual Date was another three-quarters of a length back in fourth, with Variety Road fifth.

The winner's share of the Longacres Mile purse, $187,600, easily topped Snipledo's earnings from his previous 25 starts. Until coming under the care of trainer Smith, Snipledo's only successes in stakes company had come in the $25,000 Hopeful Handicap at Exhibition Park at three and in last year's Baze Handicap, a $10,000 non-listed stakes race at Yakima Meadows.

"We claimed him off Jimmy Mayer in April and he has won five in a row for us since," said Dan Smith, who assists his father in the operation of a 25-string stable. "His exercise rider, Mary Jester, has done a heck of job with him. He wasn't that easy to train when we got him and he has a tendency to throw his head and go. He's a lot easier to manage now and she's got him to relax."

The younger Smith said that Snipledo still requires a lot of attention. "Everytime he jogs or gallops he does so with a pony, because otherwise he'll take off. He loves to run."

Snipledo's current win skein began in May after he was claimed off Mayer and owner Don Kohls, the latter of whom bred the gelding in partnership with Ed Walsh. After a three-quarter-length victory in allowance company at the Seattle oval, Snipledo won at six furlongs carrying an $80,000 tag, captured an overnight handicap by four lengths, and returned four weeks later to win the Governor's. Including the Mile, Snipledo, out of the winning Canadian Gil mare Northwest Shipper, has won 12-of-26 starts for earnings of $325,555.

Snipledo is the second Longacres Mile victor to be saddled by Marion Smith, who won the race in 1971 with Pitch Out, also a former claimer. At that time the Mile had a $35,000 purse.

Snipledo will most likely start next in the $30,000-added Warren G. Magnuson Handicap at 6½ furlongs on September 16, followed seven days later by a possible engagement in the $40,000-added Washington Championship Handicap at 1 1/16 miles on the closing weekend of the Longacres meeting.

When the Longacres meeting concludes, Smith and his stable will depart for Santa Anita's Oak Tree meeting, where he will be able to get a true assessment of his quickly improving runner's abilities.

"He's a real nice horse and he's sound," Dan Smith said. "We don't know yet how good he really is. I don't know if he'll be able to beat the big boys down in California, but he might be a real good consistent allowance horse."

If Snipledo continues to improve at his current pace, who knows how far the shockwaves will be felt?■
